Finances Topic at TRF Flying Club Meeting Tuesday

Motion Adopted Making Club Memberships Not Transferable in Future

An amendment to by-laws and finances were the subjects of a meeting of the board of directors of the Thief River Falls Flying club, held Tuesday evening at the municipal airport. President Kenneth Wendel presided.

First topic under discussion was memberships and a motion was carried that all flying club memberships be made non-transferable as well as non-refundable.

With the amendment passed unanimously, it became effective immediately, thus no club member can sell his membership to another party as of August 13, according to Wendel. In the future all flying club memberships must be secured directly through club officers and applications must be passed upon by the board of directors before being accepted, Wendel emphasized.

A motion concerning financing to pay off charges involved in recovering and overhaul of the club's Piper Cruiser was passed unanimously by the 5 man board. The plane should be ready for flying by this weekend, according to the club officers.

Allan Larson, club treasurer, urged that members make the most possible use of the club airplanes, saying that the planes produce no revenue sitting in the hangar.

Plane rental, practically at cost, is the club's main source of revenue with the low rental fees making it possible for club members to fly club aircraft for as little, or even less than flying their own planes, Larson said, in urging the members to exercise their club privileges.

The flying club board also reminded club members that those who have not paid their special $10 club assessment by the cut-off date, Sept. 4, will become members not in good standing, and if the assessment is not paid within an additional 120 days such persons in arrears are no longer members of the club.

A notice to this effect will be posted on the airport bulletin board.

New Student Visits With Kiyoshe In Tokyo

When Jahja Sutisna stopped off in Tokyo, Japan enroute to Thief River Falls he had the good fortune of being the guest of Kiyoshe Tanabe, left.

17-year old Sutisna, right, arrived in Thief River Falls last week-end. He will spend the next school year as a senior at Lincoln high school. Sutisna is the third exchange student to stay with the Barzen family.

Teams Organized for Local Legion Membership Drive

Chairmen Map Campaign to Surpass 1956 Record Set by Henry Althoff

These are busy days at the Ecklund-Holmstrom Post No. 117 of this city as membership co-chairmen Verne Thorstad and Ellsworth Jorgenson organize membership teams to sign up new and old Legionnaires for the 1958 dues period. Highlight of the present membership drive is set for September, when all paid up members will receive a free dinner.

In setting a quota of 800 members for this year, Commander Robert Bredeson pointed to the blistering pace set last year by Chairman Henry ('Hammerin' Hank) Althoff. With a goal of 750 members last year, Althoff put the membership committee over the top with a total of 756 members by personally signing up 208 individuals.

As if this were not enough, Althoff also served as the American director of the International War Veterans Alliance, and personally signed up some 400 members of the I.W.V.A. He received official recognition last May 7 when the local post presented him with the official American Legion uniform and at the same time presented stars, cards and gophers to the other 37 members of his committee.

Commander Bredeson, in charging the committee with the goal of 800 reminded them that their job required the help of many post members. All Legionnaires are urged to offer their help to Verne Thorstad and Ellsworth Jorgenson.

Indonesian Youth to See First Snow in TRF

"If I go to the United States I want to know the real American way of life so that I may help in promoting a better mutual understanding between the Idonesian and the American people." This personal statement was made by Jahja (prounced ya-ya) Sutisna in 1956 when he applied for an American Field Service International scholarship.

17 year old Sutisna, a serious, well mannered youth, who enjoys playing chess and playing volleyball in his spare time, received his wish.

He arrived in Thief River Falls last week-end and will live with the Roy Barzen family for one year. He will enter Lincoln high school as a senior this fall.

The first snow fall of season will be quite an experience for the youth. He has never seen a snowfall in his life. Sutisna's native land is in Bandug, Indonesia in the province of West Jave, a warm, tropical country near the equator.

Sutisna, who plans a career in business administration, received his diploma in the public elementary school, then continued his studies at the Junior High School at Madjalaja. When he applied for his scholarship he was a third year student at the Commercial Senior high school in Bandung.

During his second year at the Commercial school he took 16 subjects and found time to participate in school activities. His subjects were: Religion, Arabic, Indonesian, English, economics, business administration, commercial arithmetic, civics, algebra, chemistry, advertising, economical history, geography, German and Science.

Sutisna has three sisters; Maemunah, 32, Djulaeha, 29, Ekon, 22, and one younger brother Sopjan age 5.

His father, is a farmer in the village of Tondjongnagara.

The youth left his native country on August 1st. He traveled the entire distance by plane, stopping enroute five days in Manila and four days in Tokyo. After a short stop in Alaska he flew non-stop to Minneapolis. While in Tokyo, Sutinsa was a guest of Kiyoshe Tanabe, a former exchange student who stayed at Thief River Falls during the 1954-55 school year.

Air Reservists to Resume Sessions Monday, Sept. 9th

Members Required to Appear in Uniform, Says CO V. M. Draper

Word has been received here from squadron headquarters in Fargo that Flight E, 9749th Air Reserve squadron in Thief River Falls is to resume training sessions Monday, Sept. 9.

1st. Lt. V. M. Draper, Flight E CO, reminded all members of the flight that no point credits can be given members who do not attend the meetings in uniform. A list of uniform requirements that can be ordered by local reservists is available and will be mailed to the reservists in the near future, Draper said.

He urged that uniforms should be ordered as soon as the list is received and that they must be worn for the first meeting of the semester. Either summer khakis or winter blues may be worn the first few meetings, he said.

Flight E members are also urged to contact the squadron liaison NCO and apply to be matched under the new match-merge program if they desire to participate in a paid training program. It is hoped a paid specialized training program can be started with at least 10 participating reservists by October, Draper said.

Any former servicemen interested and capable of meeting the requirements stands to gain considerable benefit from the management course offered air reservists. According to officers at the Minneapolis reserves center it is the same management course offered by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. to its employees and is very useful to civilians as well as reservists.

Not only is the very valuable training free to qualified reservists but they get paid for taking it under the AFR specialized reserve training program, Draper stated. Interested ex-servicemen may send inquiries on a postal card addressed to him at 244 Kneale Ave. N., Thief River Falls.

Collision Occurs Near City Friday

Local Driver Collides with Greenbush Truck

Only one fairly serious property damage traffic accident was reported in the Thief River Falls area, this one occurring about 8:30 p.m. last Friday but not reported until today.

Raymond Bradley, Rt. 1, city, hit the rear of a 1½ ton truck driven by Merlin Johnson, Greenbush, causing approximately $200 damage to the front of Bradley's car. Only slight damage was sustained to the truck.

The accident happened about 1½ miles west and 1¾ miles north of the city, according to Sheriff Charles Richards.

Bradley was charged by Richards with driving under the influence and driving after license revocation. In municipal court here Monday he was sentenced to 30-day jail terms on each count with the sentences to run concurrently, starting Sept. 1.

Accident-wise city police reported only two minor damage reports from people whose cars were hit by others while parked in local parking lots.

Other than the two-fatality, car-truck collision at Marcoux Corner Tuesday (story elsewhere in this edition) the highway patrol had no accidents to report for this immediate area.

Cooler Weather Brings High Readings in 70's

Well, the rains came, they've gone, and in their wake is cooler, but very pleasant weather, contrasted to the humid high temperatures of the past two weeks.

Two Stephen Girls and One from Oslo Killed; Man Critically Injured

Three teenage girls from Marshall county were killed Thursday about 1 a.m. when the automobile in which they were traveling was involved in a head-on collision with another vehicle about one-half mile south of Grafton.

Dead are Joan Welker, 19, and Mavis Ione Durand, 17, of Stephen and Mona Rae Osowski, 17, of Oslo.

In critical condition in a Grafton hospital is Iver L. Cleem, 20, of Hallock, a passenger in the car in which the girls were riding. Ronald Meshefski and Donald Greevers, 15, both of Grafton, are listed as in poor condition in a Grafton hospital. Neither had fully regained consciousness Monday.

Greevers has a dislocated hip, severe head injuries including cut eyelids and other cuts and bruises. Meshefski has a broken jaw, head injuries, an injured left leg and an injured collarbone as well as other cuts and bruises. Cleem has a crushed chest and other injuries.

Two of the girls died instantly in the crash and the third a few minutes later in a Grafton hospital. The mishap was decribed as the worst highway accident of the year in North Dakota and resulted in Walsh county's first highway fatalities of the year.

STATE'S FLAX HITS NEW HIGHS

Minnesota grows seven standard varieties of flax in sufficient quantities to warrant statistical studies by the University Institute of Agriculture. Champion yield in current reports was by a variety named for a neighboring-state plant pathologist, Professor Henry L. Bolley, North Dakota State College, recently deceased at more than 90 years of age. At Morris, Bolley flax yielded 24.8 bushels per acre; most consistant yielder at seven stations was Redwood, bowing only to Bolley at Morris, and to B5128 at Southwestern and Crookston, but avto lead in overall yield. Norland variety weighed the heaviest, 6.8 grams per 1,000 seeds, and had the heaviest oil content, 40.6%.

Rains During Week Cause Harvest Delay

Area farmers viewed recent rains with mixed emotions as they stopped short in their harvest operations until dryer weather permits a resumption of activities.

According to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk the 2.40 inches of rain which fell here late Monday and again Wednesday is great for the corn crop but lighter, perhaps slightly discolored, grain will probably be the result as far as the small grain crop is concerned.

By and large, Stelmaschuk said, the rains will do far more good than harm as moisture was badly needed when it came. A repitition of last year's harvest-time weather could have a serious effect on this year's about-average crop, he stated, but otherwise the main effect of rains so far is the delay they caused.

A total of about 20 per cent of the grain crop has been taken to date and another 30 per cent was in the swath when the rains came, Selmaschuk said, contrasted with last year when the severe weather caught practically all the grain standing with heavy lodging resulting therefrom.

Corn prospects in Pennington county range from good to excellent this year, Stelmaschuk said. Small grain crops are running light, both in yield and weight, with wheat the only possible exception noted so far.

Considerable improvement to late hay crops in the area was noted since the rains, giving stockmen a much better outlook in this respect. Alfalfa, especially, had been quite short until the August downpour gave it the needed growth impetus.

Jobs Inc. Studies Means of Bringing In Livestock Men

The shrinking farm population of a large area of northwestern Minnesota was the subject of discussion at a special meeting of Jobs Incorporated Tuesday night.

President William LaFave explained to the directors and several others in attendance that farms actually are factories and suggested that some thought be given to the possibility of bringing young livestock-minded farmers into the area from the congested sections of southern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Following a discussion of the problem, it was agreed that a committee should be named to study the needs and the possible solutions and report back with recommendations at a later date. A committee of five will be appointed by LaFave.

Largely because of their corrosion-resistance, attractive appearance and good castability, nickel silver alloys have become popular materials for machine parts in the food processing industry.

Thieves Withdraw from League Playoff

The Thief River Falls Thieves, after winning their opening round game from Erskine last Sunday night, 8 to 0, have withdrawn from the Northern Minny league playoffs. That was the action of the local team's board of directors following the adverse decision by the league at a meeting held on Tuesday night on the protest filed by Erskine regarding the eligibility of Duane (Babe) Kinard and Dale Perusse.

The meeting of the league representatives, with Fosston, Bagley, Erskine, and Thief River Falls being represented, found the vote deadlocked at two-all, and vice president Ralph Rice cast the vote upholding the decision to bar the former Red Lake Falls Laker players from the league playoffs.

According to latest reports, the league playoffs will proceed on a three team basis, with Bagley, Erskine, and Fosston participating.

Here's a copy of the minutes of the meeting held at Fosston on Tuesday night, as written by the league's secretary-treasurer, Alton (Fritz) Frethem. "Motion by Brustad (Bagley), we vote on eligibility of Red Lake Falls players playing with other teams, seconded by Thief River Falls. On the above motion, all those in favor of voting on eligibility, for, Fosston, Bagley; opposed, Erskine, Thief River Falls. Tie so vice president Rice voted no."

Following a recess, the meeting was re-convened and proceeded as follows, again quoting the minutes: "Motion by Whaley (Fosston), having constituted that the vice president, Rice, had declared at meeting at Erskine that Red Lake Falls players were ineligible, that they could not be used in playoffs, that we uphold vice president Rice's authority on this matter. Seconded by Fosston (Whaley), in favor—Bagley and Fosston. No, Thief River Falls and Erskine. Motion on vote that Red Lake Falls players not be eligible to play in our league playoffs. Second, Fosston (Whaley). In favor, Bagley, Fosston. No, Thief River Falls, Erskine. Tie, so vice president voted, voted no. Motion carried. Copy of minutes at meeting at Fosston, 8/13, Sec. Treas. Alton Frethem."

It's probable that Frethem, in his haste in copying the minutes of the meeting, made several errors, for according to this translation, several contradictions are apparent.

Tuesday Was A Big Day At The Big Top

Children of all ages, some 2,000 of them, turned out Tuesday afternoon for the matinee performance of the Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. circus. After the show people commented on three things: the clowns, the animals, and the "double ticket take."

Elephants On Main Street

When the circus comes to town a lot of strange things happen. And they did. Tuesday afternoon a herd of 12 elephants paraded right down the middle of Main av. One pedestrian who happened to have a bag of peanuts on hand took advantage of the opportunity to make friends with one of the huge animals.

Novel Golf Event Set for Week-end

'Mixed Point' Tourney Scheduled for Sunday

Golf club activities for the weekend will center around a "Mixed point" tournament. It will be mixed in that foursome will include both men and women members, and "point" refers to the fact that the winning foursome will have the most double bogeys, bogeys, pars, birdies, etc.

Double bogeys get one point; bogeys, two; pars, three; birdies, four. Entry must be made before Friday night, in order that pairings can be posted Saturday.

Saturday night, a turkey dinner will be served from 7 until 8:30 at the club house. A Calcutta will follow the dinner.

On Sunday night a pot-luck supper will be held for families. Prizes will be awarded then to the winning foursome in Sunday's tournament and to the winners of the July "four-ball foursome."

The combination of strength, toughness and resistance to corrosion makes nickel and high-nickel alloys especially suitable for chemical presure vessels which operate at high temperatures.

Map Plan to Fight Asiatic Influenza

American Medical Assn. Plans National Campaign

The American Medical Association is launching a nationwide preparedness program immediately to combat a possible outbreak of Asiatic influenza in the United States. A plan has been approved which will alert the nation's doctors to the dangers of a possible flu outbreak.

The A.M.A. has set up a special "committee on influenza" which plans to inform all physicians on how to deal with any Asiatic influenza epidemic, formulate plans at the national level to utilize all medical personnel in time of an influenza emergency and coordinate state and local programs with public health agencies and health departments.

Through cooperative efforts with U. S. newspapers and radio and television stations, the A.M.A. will carry on an educational program to inform the public about the particular virus — type A Far East strain — which causes the disease and how best to treat it when it strikes.

The influenza caused by the new virus has been relatively mild, marked by a three-to-four day period of fever and oher typical influenza symptoms. Several pharmaceutical manufacturers are now producing a vaccine to combat the Far East strain.

It has been estimated that the attack rate would run between 15 and 20 percent of the population of any city where the disease reached epidemic proportions.

Each community in the nation will be urged to make a serious study and have suitable plans to cope with epidemics that might occur.

Ted Listug, the slender shotmaker from Roseau, well-earned the championship flight honors he won in the shortstop tournament played here on Sunday. He defeated the local club's Stan Larson, 2-up, in the finals. Stan evened the match on the 7th hole, when Listug missed a short putt, but the Roseau golfer won the 8th and 9th holes, for his 2-up margin.

Listug was in the lower bracket of the 16-man championship flight, and he faced such golfers as Grand Fork's Terry Anstett, the local club's Jerry Tygeson, and Grand Forks city champion Wes Zeman.

Young Listug has been playing a great deal of golf this season. Last week he participated in the Resorter's tournament at Alexandria, being eliminated by Minneapolis' Neil Croonquist, 4 and 3, in a first round match. This week he will be attempting to qualify for the state amateur tournament, playing his qualifying rounds over the Alexandria golf club course.

On the word of Sunday's tournament starter, Jack Boyer, the sweetest swinger playing in the shortstop was Grafton's Eugene Bennett. Bennett defeated Crookston's Paul Reiersgaard in a first round match, but then met elimination when he lost to Zeman in a second round tilt. Moving into the championship flight consolations, Bennett defeated Tygeson, and then edged out Bob Wurst, 1-up, in the finals. His swing, though, as Boyer remarked, was a thing of beauty.

Oh yes, we must report that Plummer's Wally DuChamp, in a match against Paul Fedje of Hoople in the first round of the flight competition, scored a par 35. And he scored this par 35 in spite of being the "world's worst putter."

He Was The Best

Did you notice the item stating that Jimmy Nordine had won the medalist honors in the Northland invitational golf tournament at Duluth?

In our book, Jimmy rates as being the best golfer to play as a member of the local club. He has a long record of victories in tournament play around here, and it was only a short while ago that he was runner-up to Larry Karkhoff in the state amateur.

While Jimmy learned his golf early while playing on a pasture course near Karlstad, he moved down here for several years when he taught in Lincoln high.

The local club had quite a contingent of "home bred" golfers in those days, in the early 1940's, for in addition to Nordine, there was Tommy Jorde, Vic Jung, a younger Hans Chommie, and a "broth of a lad" Keith Jorde.

In those days the course played mostly on the east side of the river, and we can recall numerous occasions when these long-driving golfers—Nordine, Jung, and Jorde—would reach the three tee-off, and then count off the number of evergreen trees they would slice off on their drives. They had to carry beyond those evergreen trees, which are now bordering number five and seven fairways. With a following wind, Nordine and Jung and Tom Jorde could carry beyond the further-most tree.

Where Nordine had the edge over Jung and Tom Jorde was in his intense competitiveness. Jimmy was ruthless, and had the golf killer instinct. The only golfer that compared to Nordine in being a competitor was Keith Jorde, and he was only in his school days when Jimmy was here. At that we can remember a shortstop golf tournament when Keith scored a 1-up win over Nordine. Jim gave up that one-hole advantage on the 2nd hole, and he was never able to catch up. Keith played just as "tough golf" as Nordine.

Look Alikes

We were chatting with Erskine's Lyle Westrum prior to the Northern Minny league playoff game here on Sunday night, when the talk became channeled in the direction of the New Yankees' Mickey Mantle. Westrum, you will recall, was a catcher with the Joplin Miners of the Western League at the time when Mantle played shortstop on the team. Lyle knows Mickey real well.

Never having seen Mantle in action, except on TV, we questioned Lyle as to Mickey's physical measurements. We had the impression that the Thieves' Bob Helgeland, with his powerful forearms and well-muscled frame, would compare favorably with Mantle. And we mentioned that to Westrum.

Westrum's answer was, "No, Helgeland hasn't a physique that is remindful of Mantle's. But I'll tell you who does remind me of Mickey, and that is your second baseman, Frank Gunderman."

That's what the man said, Frank.

Nature Notes

Have you noticed the concentration of martens these summer evenings along about seven or eight o'clock. Particularly impressive is that gathering along the power lines in the rear of the Northwestern hospital. The martens have been there by the hundreds, in convention assembled and preparing for the flight to the south. It won't be long.

And we can offer advice to the game-bird hunters in Texas, and other southern states, that their mourning dove shoot this season should be of banner proportions. There has been a splendid hatch of doves up here this season, judging the doves you notice along the highways and byways.

Firearms Safety to Be Conference Theme

Governor Orville L. Freeman announced today that the second annuals Governor's firearms safety conference will be held on September 7 at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis. The conference, which is an appreciation day for Minnesota's 5,400 volunteer firearms safety instructors, proved a tremendous success last year. Two thousand instructors attended the first affair wih representation from every county. This was the largest gathering of hunter and shooters the state has ever had and this year's attendance is expected to be larger.

The conference, which is held in cooperation with the Minneapolis Junior Chamber of Commerce, gives the instructors an opportunity to compare notes and serves as a workshop to improve the overall operation of the new youth firearms safety training program. At the conference there will be a complete exhibit of hunting and allied equipment. Last year forty manufacturers displayed over three million dollars worth of equipment, and those too is expected to be larger this year. Firearms experts and special guests from throughout the nation will be in attendance.

The interest in the new program, which was originally set up by the 1955 session of the legislature, is currently reaching a high point because the law becomes effective on September 1. The last session of the legislature made considerable changes in the law. Lee Kulvar, the state coordinator for the program, said, "There has been some confusion on the part of the parents and youngsters and we are trying to clear this up before September."

The program is open to youths from 12-16 years and offers a minimum of seven hours of training in the basic principles of good safe gun usage. After successfully completing the the course the youth receives a state training certificate which serves in lieu of a hunting license from ages 12 to 16 years. This fall, under a new law, youths from 12 to 16 must purchase a $3.00 small game license if they wish to hunt, the trained youth is then exempt from this requirement. The certificate also enables the youth to hunt unsupervised after he reaches his 14th birthday. The untrained youth must buy the license and be supervised until the 16th The training charges never exceed $2.00 for both state and county.

Over 30,000 youngsters have already been trained in the program but it is expected the last minute rush will exceed the current training rate considerably. Youngsters interested in getting into the program, before hunting season, should sign up as soon as possible or inquire at school as soon as it opens this fall. The Twin City metropolitan area residents can obtain further information by calling the Capitol and asking for Firearms Safety. Rural areas can find out who the community instructors are through their local law enforcement officers, county commissioner, or game warden.

Careless Drivers Needless Killers

Drivers' Errors Blamed for Recent Accidents

Careless driving was the basic cause of the unnecessary death of 24 persons in the first eight days of August, the Minnesota highway department reported in its weekly bulletin.

In every fatal accident during that period, driver error was at fault either through reckless driving habits or by violation of one or more traffic regulations.

The bulletin listed examples of violations as reported by officers investigating the fatal accidents as:

"Car ran stop light and was hit in side."

"Vehicle No. 2 was in wrong lane."

Vehicle No. 1 ran red light."

"Rolled end over end after too fast speed in curve."

"Stop signs and traffic signals are placed for the safe, smooth movement of traffic," the department pointed out. "Yet the violation of these safety precautions cause the deaths of innocent persons every day. The older, supposedly more experienced driver is required to obey the warnings and directions of these signs as well as the young, new driver. Yet two multiple death accidents this month were caused by drivers over 78 years of age who failed to stop when the signs so indicated."

The one-car roll over mishap, where the lack of control by the driver allows a vehicle to ride up high around a curve and off the roadway, seems to be the province of the younger driver. Thrill-seeking, carless, irresponsible drivers operating thousands of pounds of heavy vehicle endanger their lives and the lives of others through their recklessness, the department said. Inexperience behind the wheel means lack of control, it was pointed out.

SAVE TREES, SAVE DOLLARS

"Recent inventories show increasing growth in our Minnesota forests as a result of fire protection and improved management," reports Minnesota Forest Industries Information Committee. Even a small percentage increase in a 200 million dollar industry amounts to a lot of money, they point out, and every tree saved, every fire prevented, helps increase the state's growing forest revenue. Keep Minnesota Green, Tree Farms, management demonstrations, are among channels for protecting and improving Minnesota's extensive forest resources.

OATS YIELD TOPS 117 BUSHELS

Fourteen varieties of oats enjoy varying degrees of favor in Minnesota. Crop statistics compiled by University Farm School show Garry the champion yielder, with a high of 117.9 bushels per acre in the northern Minnesota study, 103.5 at Morris, and a grand average of 90.5 bushels at all eight study points. Other varieties clocked at better than 100 were Rodney, 109.3 in northern Minnesota, and Simcoe, 103.1 at Crookston. Ransom at 52.9 bushels per acre was low in the adjusted grand average. Mo. 0-205 proved the heaviest oats variety at 35 pounds per bushel.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives, at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I used my World War II GI home loan when VA's maximum guaranty was $4,000. Since we've outgrown the house, I would like to sell it and buy another, using the $3,500 guarantee that I'm still entitled to. Would I have to apply for this second GI loan before the World War II deadline?

A—Yes. In your case you would have to apply for your second GI loan before July 25, 1958, the deadline for World War II veterans.

Q—I am a Korean veteran and I have just come out of the service. I enrolled in a one-year course in radio-TV repair under the Korean GI BILL. After I finish that course, would I be allowed to take another one? I've built up three years of GI entitlement.

A—The law allows you one change of course, so long as you make it within three years from the date of your discharge. So once you finish your radio-TV course, you would be permitted to take another, provided it is made within that three-years-from-discharge deadline.

Q—I am a young man of 20, married and the father of a small child. I am eligible for school under the War Orphans Education program. If I enroll would I be entitled to a larger monthly allowance because of my dependents?

A—No. If you attend school full-time you would receive VA payments of $110 a month, the same as an unmarried student. Training allowances under the War Orphans program do not increase under the law because of a trainee's dependents.

Q—Since I have been totally disabled for more than six months, I have applied for a waiver of premiums on my GI insurance policy. What will be the effective date of the waiver?

A—Generally, the waiver is made effective from the premium due date following your sixth straight month of total disability. There are exceptions to this rule for those who wait an extraordinary long time before applying.

Mornoy, Washington, D. C., chief of the laws division of the Automotive Safety foundation.

Low Bids Secured on Area Road Jobs

State Highway Dept. Plans Work in Polk and Roseau Co.

Apparent low bids totaling $1,070,425 have been received by the Minnesota highway department for improvement of more than 13 miles of trunk highways in 11 counties, State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman reported today. Contracts will be awarded after a check of the bids.

The projects in this area include:

Roseau County, T.H. 89—Grading and gravel surfacing of six miles between the U. S. Canadian boundary, near Pine Creek, and a point 1½ miles north of Ross, Kraus-Anderson of St. Paul Co., St. Paul, $93,002. Work to be started by September 3 and to be completed within 70 working days.

FARM LOANS HELPED INCREASE ASSETS

Farmers Home Administration loans in Minnesota June 30, 1955, totaled $5,527,455, advanced to 2,790 borrowers, ranging from none in Ramsey county, one each in Cook and Lake counties, to 87 in Swift county. By age 47% of the borrowers were between 25 and 28 years, 70% between 25 and 36; 20% were under 25, only 1% older than 52. Average size of borrowing farms was 199 acres, ranging from 132 northern dairy section to 343 northwest crop area. 12% of the loans were from $3,500 to $4,000, 10% $5,500 to $6,000, 18% for the maximum $7,000. Only 10% were for the maximum 7-year term. Financial statements taken at the beginning and the end of a number of loans showed a substantial increase in total assets per farm from $10,339 to $15,328.

Thieves Withdraw from League Playoff

The Thief River Falls Thieves, after winning their opening round game from Erskine last Sunday night, 8 to 0, have withdrawn from the Northern Minny league playoffs. That was the action of the local team's board of directors following the adverse decision by the league at a meeting held on Tuesday night on the protest filed by Erskine regarding the eligibility of Duane (Boo) Emard and Dale Perusse.

The meeting of the league representatives, with Fosston, Bagley, Erskine, and Thief River Falls being represented, found the vote deadlocked at two-all, and vice president Ralph Rice cast the vote upholding the decision to bar the former Red Lake Falls Laker players from the league playoffs.

According to latest reports, the league playoffs will proceed on a three team basis, with Bagley, Erskine, and Fosston participating.

Here's a copy of the minutes of the meeting held at Fosston on Tuesday night, as written by the league's secretary-treasurer, Alton (Fritz) Frethem. "Motion by Brustad (Bagley), we vote on eligibility of Red Lake Falls players playing with other teams, seconded by Thief River Falls. On the above motion, all those in favor of voting on eligibility for, Fosston, Bagley; opposed, Erskine, Thief River Falls. Tie so vice president Rice voted no."

Following a recess, the meeting was re-convened, and proceeded as follows, again quoting the minutes. "Motion by Whaley (Fosston), having constituted that the vice president, Rice, had declared at meeting at Erskine that Red Lake Falls players were ineligible, that they could not be used in playoffs, that we uphold vice president Rice's authority on this matter. Seconded by Fosston (Whaley). In favor—Bagley and Fosston. No, Thief River Falls and Erskine. Motion was vote that Red Lake Falls players not be eligible to play in our league playoffs. Second, Fosston (Whaley). In favor, Bagley, Fosston. No, Thief River Falls, Erskine. Tie, so vice president voted, voted no. Motion carried. Copy of minutes at meeting at Fosston, 8/13, Sec. Treas. Alton Frethem."

It's probable that Frethem, in his haste in copying the minutes of the meeting, made several errors, for according to this translation, several contradictions are apparent.

Children of all ages, some 2,000 of them, turned out Tuesday afternoon for the matinee performance of the Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. circus. After the show people commented on three things: the clowns, the animals, and the "double ticket take."

Elephants On Main Street

When the circus comes to town a lot of strange things happen. And they did. Tuesday afternoon a herd of 12 elephants paraded right down the middle of Main av. One pedestrian who happened to have a bag of peanuts on hand took advantage of the opportunity to make friends with one of the huge animals.

Novel Golf Event Set for Week-end

'Mixed Point' Tourney Scheduled for Sunday

Golf club activities for the weekend will center around a "Mixed point" tournament. It will be mixed in that foursome will include both men and women members, and "point" refers to the fact that the winning foursome will have the most double bogeys, bogeys, pars, birdies, etc.

Double bogeys get one point; bogeys, two; pars, three; birdies, four. Entry must be made before Friday night, in order that pairings can be posted Saturday.

Saturday night, a turkey dinner will be served from 7 until 8:30 at the club house. A Calcutta will follow the dinner.

On Sunday night a pot-luck supper will be held for families. Prizes will be awarded then to the winning foursome in Sunday's tournament and to the winners of the July "four-ball foursome."

Map Plan to Fight Asiatic Influenza

American Medical Assn. Plans National Campaign

The American Medical Association is launching a nationwide preparedness program immediately to combat a possible outbreak of Asiatic influenza in the United States. A plan has been approved which will alert the nation's doctors to the dangers of a possible flu outbreak.

The A.M.A. has set up a special "committee on influenza" which plans to inform all physicians on how to deal with any Asiatic influenza epidemic, formulate plans at the national level to utilize all medical personnel in time of an influenza emergency and coordinate state and local programs with public health agencies and health departments.

Through cooperative efforts with U. S. newspapers and radio and television stations, the A. M.A. will carry on an educational program to inform the public about the particular virus — type A Far East strain — which causes the disease and how best to treat it when it strikes.

The influenza caused by the new virus has been relatively mild, marked by a three-to-four day period of fever and other typical influenza symptoms. Several pharmaceutical manufacturers are now producing a vaccine to combat the Far East strain.

It has been estimated that the attack rate would run between 15 and 20 percent of the population of any city where the disease reached epidemic proportions.

Each community in the nation will be urged to make a serious study and have suitable plans to cope with epidemics that might occur.

Ted Listug, the slender shotmaker from Roseau, well-earned the championship flight honors he won in the shortstop tournament played here on Sunday. He defeated the local club's Stan Larson, 2-up, in the finals. Stan evened the match on the 7th hole, when Listug missed a short putt, but the Roseau golfer won the 8th and 9th holes, for his 2-up margin.

Listug was in the lower bracket of the 16-man championship flight, and he faced such golfers as Grand Fork's Terry Anstett, the local club's Jerry Tygeson, and Grand Forks city champion Wes Zeman.

Young Listug has been playing a great deal of golf this season. Last week he participated in the Resorter's tournament at Alexandria, being eliminated by Minneapolis' Neil Croonquist, 4 and 3, in a first round match. This week he will be attempting to qualify for the state amateur tournament, playing his qualifying rounds over the Alexandria golf club course.

On the word of Sunday's tournament starter, Jack Boyer, the sweetest swinger playing in the shortstop was Grafton's Eugene Bennett. Bennett defeated Crookston's Paul Reiersgaard in a first round match, but then met elimination when he lost to Zeman in a second round tilt. Moving into the championship flight consolations, Bennett defeated Tygeson, and then edged out Bob Wurst, 1-up, in the finals. His swing, though, as Boyer remarked, was a thing of beauty.

Oh yes, we must report that Plummer's Wally DuChamp, in a match against Paul Fedje of Hoople in the first round of the flight competition, scored a par 35. And he scored this par 35 in spite of being the "world's worst putter."

He Was The Best

Did you notice the item stating that Jimmy Nordine had won the medalist honors in the Northland Invitational golf tournament at Duluth?

In our book, Jimmy rates as being the best golfer to play as a member of the local club. He has a long record of victories in tournament play around here, and it was only a short while ago that he was runner-up to Larry Karkhoff in the state amateur.

While Jimmy learned his golf early while playing on a pasture course near Karlstad, he moved down here for several years when he taught in Lincoln high.

The local club had quite a contingent of "home bred" golfers in those days, in the early 1940's, for in addition to Nordine, there was Tommy Jorde, Vic Jung, a younger Hans Chommie, and a "broth of a lad" Keith Jorde.

In those days the course played mostly on the east side of the river, and we can recall numerous occasions when these long-driving golfers—Nordine, Jung, and Jorde—would reach the three tee-off, and then count off the number of evergreen trees they would slice off on their drives. They had to carry beyond those evergreen trees, which are now bordering number five and seven fairways. With a following wind, Nordine and Jung and Tom Jorde could carry beyond the further-most tree.

Where Nordine had the edge over Jung and Tom Jorde was in his intense competitiveness. Jimmy was ruthless, and had the golf killer instinct. The only golfer that compared to Nordine in being a competitor was Keith Jorde, and he was only in his school days when Jimmy was here. At that we can remember a shortstop golf tournament when Keith scored a 1-up win over Nordine. Jim gave up that one-hole advantage on the 2nd hole, and he was never able to catch up. Keith played just as "tough golf" as Nordine.

Look Alikes

We were chatting with Erskine's Lyle Westrum prior to the Northern Minny league playoff game here on Sunday night, when the talk became channeled in the direction of the New Yankees' Mickey Mantle. Westrum, you will recall, was a catcher with the Joplin Miners of the Western League at the time when Mantle played shortstop on the team. Lyle knows Mickey real well.

Never having seen Mantle in action, except on TV, we questioned Lyle as to Mickey's physical measurements. We had the impression that the Thieves' Bob Helgeland, with his powerful forearms and well-muscled frame, would compare favorably with Mantle. And we mentioned that to Westrum.

Westrum's answer was, "No, Helgeland hasn't a physique that is remindful of Mantle's. But I'll tell you who does remind me of Mickey, and that is your second baseman, Frank Gunderman."

That's what the man said, Frank.

Nature Notes

Have you noticed the concentration of martens these summer evenings along about seven or eight o'clock. Particularly impressive is that gathering along the power lines to the rear of the Northwestern hospital. The martens have been there by the hundreds, in convention assembled and preparing for the flight to the south. It won't be long.

And we can offer advice to the game-bird hunters in Texas, and other southern states, that their mourning dove shoot this season should be of banner proportions. There has been a splendid hatch of doves up here this season, judging the doves you notice along the highways and byways.

Firearms Safety to Be Conference Theme

Governor Orville L. Freeman announced today that the second annuals Governor's firearms safety conference will be held on September 7 at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis. The conference, which is an appreciation day for Minnesota's 5,400 volunteer firearms safety instructors, proved a tremendous success last year. Two thousand instructors attended the first affair wih representation from every county. This was the largest gathering of hunter and shooters the state has ever had and this year's attendance is expected to be larger.

The conference, which is held in cooperation with the Minneapolis Junior Chamber of Commerce, gives the instructors an opportunity to compare notes and serves as a workshop to improve the overall operation of the new youth firearms safety training program. At the conference there will be a complete exhibit of hunting and allied equipment. Last year forty manufacturers displayed over three million dollars worth of equipment, and those too is expected to be larger this year. Firearms experts and special guests from throughout the nation will be in attendance.

The interest in the new program, which was originally set up by the 1955 session of the legislature, is currently reaching a high point because the law becomes effective on September 1. The last session of the legislature made considerable changes in the law. Lee Kulvar, the state coordinator for the program, said, "There has been some confusion on the part of the parents and youngsters and we are trying to clear this up before September."

The program is open to youths from 12-16 years and offers a minimum of seven hours of training in the basic principles of good safe gun usage. After successfully completing the the course the youth receives a state training certificate which serves in lieu of a hunting license from ages 12 to 16 years. This fall, under a new law, youths from 12 to 16 must purchase a $2.00 small game license if they wish to hunt, the trained youth is then exempt from this requirement. The certificate also enables the youth to hunt unsupervised after he reaches his 14th birthday. The untrained youth must buy the license and be supervised until the 16th. The training charges never exceed $2.00 for both state and county.

Over 30,000 youngsters have already been trained in the program but it is expected the last minute rush will exceed the current training rate considerably. Youngsters interested in getting into the program, before hunting season, should sign up as soon as possible or inquire at school as soon as it opens this fall. The Twin City metropolitan area residents can obtain further information by calling the Capitol and asking for Firearms Safety. Rural areas can find out who the community instructors are through their local law enforcement officers, county commissioner, or game warden.

Careless Drivers Needless Killers

Drivers' Errors Blamed for Recent Accidents

Careless driving was the basic cause of the unnecessary death of 24 persons in the first eight days of August, the Minnesota highway department reported in its weekly bulletin.

In every fatal accident during that period, driver error was at fault either through reckless driving habits or by violation of one or more traffic regulations.

The bulletin listed examples of violations as reported by officers investigating the fatal accidents as:

"Car ran stop light and was hit in side."

"Vehicle No. 2 was in wrong lane."

Vehicle No. 1 ran red light."

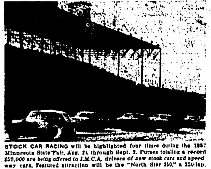
"Stop signs and traffic signals are placed for the safe, smooth movement of traffic," the department pointed out. "Yet the violation of these safety precautions cause the deaths of innocent persons every day. The older, supposedly more experienced driver is required to obey the warnings and directions of these signs as well as the young, new driver. Yet two multiple death accidents this month were caused by drivers over 78 years of age who failed to stop when the signs so indicated."

The one-car roll over mishap, where the lack of control by the driver allows a vehicle to ride up high around a curve and off the roadway, seems to be the province of the younger driver. Thrill-seeking, carless, irresponsible drivers operating thousands of pounds of heavy vehicle endanger their lives and the lives of others through their recklessness, the department said. Inexperience behind the wheel means lack of control, it was pointed out.

STATE FAIR CROWDS WATCH STOCK CARS RACE



STOCK CAR RACING will be highlighted four times during the 1957 Minnesota State Fair, Aug. 24 through Sept. 2. Purses totaling a record $50,000 are being offered to I.M.C.A. drivers of new stock cars and speed way cars. Featured attraction will be the "North Star 350," a 350-lap, split feature race on Labor Day, Sept. 2. A 50-mile (100 laps) race is set for Saturday, Aug. 24; a 90-minute Marathon will be held Monday (Children's Day), Aug. 26; and the eighth annual 100-mile (200-laps) race will take place Thursday, Aug. 29. Speedway car sprint races will be presented five other afternoons in the world series of dirt track racing.

SAVE TREES, SAVE DOLLARS

"Recent inventories show increasing growth in our Minnesota forests as a result of fire protection and improved management," reports Minnesota Forest Industries Information Committee. Even a small percentage increase in a 200 million dollar industry amounts to a lot of money, they point out, and every tree saved, every fire prevented, helps increase the state's growing forest revenue. Keep Minnesota Green, Tree Farms, management demonstrations, are among channels for protecting and improving Minnesota's extensive forest resources.

OATS YIELD TOPS 117 BUSHELS

Fourteen varieties of oats enjoy varying degrees of favor in Minnesota. Crop statistics compiled by University Farm School show Garry the champion yielder, with a high of 117.9 bushels per acre in the northern Minnesota study, 103.5 at Morris, and a grand average of 90.5 bushels at all eight study points. Other varieties clocked at better than 100 were Rodney, 109.3 in northern Minnesota, and Simcoe, 103.1 at Crookston. Ransom at 52.9 bushels per acre was low in the adjusted grand average. Mo. 0-205 proved the heaviest oats variety, at 35 pounds per bushel.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I used my World War II GI home loan when VA's maximum guaranty was $4,000. Since we've outgrown the house, I would like to sell it and buy another, using the $3,500 guarantee that I'm still entitled to. Would I have to apply for this second GI loan before the World War II deadline?

A—Yes. In your case you would have to apply for your second GI loan before July 25, 1958, the deadline for World War II veterans.

Q—I am a Korean veteran and I have just come out of the service. I enrolled in a one-year course in radio-TV repair under the Korean GI Bill. After I finish that course, would I be allowed to take another one? I've built up three years of GI entitlement.

A—The law allows you one change of course, so long as you make it within three years from the date of your discharge. So once you finish your radio-TV course, you would be permitted to take another, provided it is made within that three-years-from-discharge deadline.

Q—I am a young man of 20, married and the father of a small child. I am eligible for school under the War Orphans Education program. If I enroll would I be entitled to a larger monthly allowance because of my dependents?

A—No. If you attend school full-time you would receive VA payments of $110 a month, the same as an unmarried student. Training allowances under the War Orphans program do not increase under the law because of a trainee's dependents.

Q—Since I have been totally disabled for more than six months, I have applied for a waiver of premiums on my GI insurance policy. What will be the effective date of the waiver?

A—Generally, the waiver is made effective from the premium due date following your sixth straight month of total disability. There are exceptions to this rule for those who wait an extraordinary long time before applying.

The 23rd annual summer meeting of the Minnesota Safety council will be held in Duluth August 23, it was announced today by A. V. Rohweder, Duluth president.

The meeting will be in Hotel Duluth with morning and afternoon sessions of various sections of the council, culminating in an awards dinner.

National "Awards of Achievement" for outstanding safety performance will be presented to the state of Minnesota for its 1956 traffic safety program in the fields of accident records, school safety education and safety organization. The presentation will be made by Ned H. Dearborn, Chicago, president of the National Safety council, to Governor Orville L. Freeman at the awards dinner at which the governor will be the speaker.

Highlighting the sessions will be a meeting of the Governor's traffic law and uniform traffic code study committee headed by George W. Lawson, St. Paul, vice-president of the state safety council. Appointed in August 1956 to study the differences between Minnesota's traffic laws and the uniform traffic code of nationally-recommended standards, the committee will hear Louis R. Mornoy, Washington, D. C., chief of the laws division of the Automotive Safety foundation.

Low Bids Secured on Area Road Jobs

State Highway Dept. Plans Work in Polk and Roseau Co.

Apparent low bids totaling $1,070,425 have been received by the Minnesota highway department for improvement of more than 13 miles of trunk highways in 11 counties, State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman reported today. Contracts will be awarded after a check of the bids.

The projects in this area include:

Polk County, T.H. 2—Fixed-time traffic control signal system in Fosston at intersection of First St. (T.H. 2) and Johnson Ave., Dalager Electric Co., Morris, $1,875. Work to be completed by Nov. 1.

Roseau County, T.H. 89—Grading and gravel surfacing of six miles between the U. S. Canadian boundary, near Pine Creek, and a point 1½ miles north of Ross, Kraus-Anderson of St. Paul Co., St. Paul, $93,002. Work to be started by September 3 and to be completed within 70 working days.

FARM LOANS HELPED INCREASE ASSETS

Farmers Home Administration loans in Minnesota June 30, 1955, totaled $5,527,455, advanced to 2,790 borrowers, ranging from none in Ramsey county, one each in Cook and Lake counties, to 87 in Swift county. By age 47% of the borrowers were between 25 and 28 years, 70% between 25 and 36; 20% were under 25, only 1% older than 52. Average size of borrowing farms was 199 acres, ranging from 132 northern dairy section to 343 northwest crop area. 12% of the loans were from $3,500 to $4,000, 10% $5,500 to $6,000, 18% for the maximum $7,000. Only 16% were for the maximum 7-year term. Financial statements taken at the beginning and the end of a number of loans showed a substantial increase in total assets per farm from $10,339 to $15,328.

Editorials . . .

"A government cannot have too much of the kind of activity which does not impede, but aids and stimulates individual exertion and development. The mischief begins when, instead of calling forth the activity and powers of individuals and bodies, it substitutes its own activity for theirs; when instead of informing, advising, and upon occasion denouncing, it makes them work in fetters or bids them stand aside and does their work instead of them. The worth of a State, in the long run, is the worth of the individuals composing it; and the State which postpones the interests of their mental expansion and elevation, to a little more of administrative skill; a State which dwarfs its men, in order that they may be more docile instruments in its hands, even for beneficial purposes, will find that with small men no great thing can really be accomplished."

—John Stuart Mill

The 100 Biggest

Of the 100 largest manufacturing corporations in the country 30 years ago, only 59 are included in the list of the 100 largest in the country today, according to a recent survey by a New York bank. That means that 41 companies that were "biggest" in 1927 cannot now claim that distinction. This figure justifies the prediction that many of the companies that are biggest today will not be biggest in 1987.

We get some comfort out of knowing that the big fellows have a sink-or-swim problem too.

Still Family Size

From 1944 to 1949 the number of farms that were producing milk or cream for the market dropped from a total of 2,340,000 to 1,960,000, a decrease of nearly 400,000. By 1954 the number had decreased another 425,000, and assuming that this rate of decline has continued there are now a million fewer farmers selling milk and cream on the market than there were in 1944.

But during this period there has been a substantial increase in the production of dairy products. Fewer but larger herds of better cows are responsible for the increase.

Whether we like the trend or not, it is likely to continue for some time before it levels off and the number of dairy farms remains constant. Most observers agree that the small operation will gradually pass entirely out of the picture, and that is a discouraging prospect for the small operator.

On the encouraging side however is the fact that most of the larger units are still family-size operations. That is true for the development in our area at any rate, and while there are some super-size operations serving the large metropolitan areas, high labor costs are a limiting factor and the family-size unit seems to be holding its own generally.

Governor Scolds Thye

Governor Orville Freeman is quoted as being opposed to a resolution introduced by Senator Edward J. Thye asking the federal government to reimburse the state of Minnesota for the estimated one million dollars it will cost the state to buy land for a military airport base at Bethel. The Governor thinks the air force may resent this attempt to shift the cost of the land to the federal government and decide not to build the base. He wants it to be known that if that happens it will be Thye's fault.

It is a little difficult for us to follow Freeman's reasoning in this matter. We cannot imagine any governor ever being opposed to a gift to our state from the federal government.

And, as we understand it, Senator Thye's resolution proposed an act by Congress. The authority of Congress, if we are not mistaken, is greater than the authority of the air force, and if Congress wishes to give a million dollars to Minnesota we think the air force will go along whether it likes the idea or not.

This would not be the first million dollars that Congress, or the air force had spent unwisely.

One Worry Less

Starting this week automobile service stations on the west coast are filling car tanks with a gasoline that is a by-product of rock and not of oil as we think of it. Up to now oil has been a liquid, brought to the earth's surface by a pumping process. From now on we will hear more about the mining of oil.

A process for removing oil from oil-bearing shale has been perfected and developed on a commercial scale by one of the large western oil companies. Oil bearing shales in three states alone are estimated to contain more than a trillion barrels of oil, which is said to be more than 30 times the known U. S. crude petroleum reserves and nearly five times the known petroleum reserves of the entire world.

We were glad to get this information. Now we will quit worrying about what we will do when we run out of oil.

Public Administration

It is reasonable to assume that men who are successful in the administration of private business should also be well qualified for the administration of public business. It does not necessarily follow that this is true, however. While the problems of private and public business administration may be smilar they are not necessarily the same.

The head of a private business operation lives a comparatively sheltered life. He may express himself freely on public matters, as any private citizen has a right to do. His life, within reasonable limitations, is his to live as he wishes to live it.

Once he becomes a public figure however much of his freedom is gone. And as he loses his sense of freedom his capacity as an administrator is likely to diminsh.

In commenting on the difficulty in getting capable men to serve in positions of public responsibility, Business Week points out:

> Consider what happens to the successful business executive who yields to those telephone calls from Washington and agrees to take a top job in, say, the Defense Dept. He thinks of himself as a man who is making considerable sacrifices and who has something to contribute. But when he comes up before the appropriate Senate committee for confirmation, he finds himself more in the position of a prep school boy who has been caught with six cans of beer stashed under his mattress.
>
> At a minimum, the senators will require that he sell at once any substantial stockholdings in companies with which the Defense Dept. might do business. This can mean almost any stock you want to name.
>
> The Senate probably will also insist on canceling various long-standing arrangements with his old employer such as participation in a pension fund. But let's assume that our man is game. He emerges, then, peeled to his shorts but confident that no one can doubt his motives. He is wrong.
>
> From the day that he moves into his new office, he will find that he is fair game for any congressman who wants to stir up a rumpus.
>
> Meanwhile he will notice a change in the attitude of his old friends, the businessmen. If he shows any real grasp of the way government works and begins to count for something, they will tell him that he has "Potomac Fever." If he faces the problems of his time with realism, they may accuse him of "selling out to the New Deal."
>
> It is small wonder under the circumstances that businessmen have become disillusioned with government service and take to the hills when the call from Washington comes. Small wonder, but a real misfortune. For if top businessmen disqualify themselves en masse, the field is dangerously narrowed.
>
> A certain amount of criticism of government officials is always healthy. But the same rules should apply to political criticism that apply to big game hunting: You don't hunt so hard and shoot so murderously that you wipe out the breed. In this country, the evidence shows that a very valuable breed of potential public servants is in real danger of becoming extinct. It's time that we took some elementary conservation measures.

May we add that what is said about the problem of securing capable men to administer public business at the national level applies also to our problem of administration at the local level. Even in a small city such as ours it is difficult to get capable men to accept public responsibility.

We have a city election ahead of us and in this election we will select the citizens who will direct the biggest businesses in our community. It is not unlikely that some of the present capable directors will decline to seek reelection. It is a matter about which all responsible citizens should be concerned.

Why Talk to Ourselves

(Hoard's Dairyman)

Two national farm conventions were held recently in the same city. The contrast in the programs was revealing.

At one convention the program consisted of speakers of widely varying backgrounds and opinions on current farm issues. The other convention program was a solid front of public officials and farm policy leaders all of one basic philosophy.

It is not difficult to predict which organization benefited the more in their convention program. The first group was stimulated in its thinking, challenged to debate and support its position.

At the second convention farmers who had traveled thousands of miles learned little or nothing. They may as well have gone fishing.

We accomplish little by talking to ourselves except possibly to further inflate our already well-developed egos. Intelligence and wisdom are not improved through perpetuating the dormancy of our mental process. Our convictions and beliefs are strengthened only by the continuing challenge of logic.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service In cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Sudan Grass Good Pasture

Twelve acres of Piper sudan grass filled in well in hot weather this summer on the Rudy Mohr farm near Pine Island. Mohr, a long-time cooperator with Goodhue County Agent G. J. Kunau, seeded the sudan grass in June, turned the dairy herd into it July 13. It provides good eating, and he says the cows produce well on this pasture.

Legumes Improve Drainage

Deep-rooted legumes have improved internal drainage and workability of heavy soils on Art Bicker's farm in Roseau county. Bicker, a cooperator with the Roseau county conservation district, says "Sweet clover in our crop rotation is important in keeping heavy soils in good condition. Fields on which sweet clover was turned under dry out sooner in the spring". Now Bicker is replacing sweet clover with alalfa because of the need for more hay and pasture.

Soil Saving Benefits

The heavy rains and flood waters that hit Minnesota in late June showed several benefits for farmers who practiced better soil conservation and soil use techniques. Where land was planted to corn without disking or dragging, for example, the soil took in more rain-water. That resulted in less runoff or soil lose than with conventional corn planting methods, say Curtis Overdahl and George Balke, soil specialist and soil researcher, respectively at the University of Minnesota.

Randox Controls Weeds In Soybeans

Pre-emergence band spraying with Randox is giving good weed control in soybeans in Rice county demonstration plots. Warren Liebenstein, Rice county agent, said the control was so effective in certain weeds that the first 1 or 2 cultivations could have been eliminated. "That would have been particularly helpful," Liebenstein explains, "because the first cultivation in beans is a slow, tedious process."

Sen. Humphrey's Newsletter

Food For Defense

For a long time we have been convinced that our abundance of food and fiber was a valuable asset if it were properly used. Our recent hearings regarding Public Law 480 have definitely established what a vital role food and fiber could play in international relations, and how it could strengthen the forces of freedom. Now the hearings have developed additional information proving the food abundance about which so many have complained is urgently needed to fill a dangerous gap in our entire defense planning.

• • •

Relying on Allies

Our entire western defense plans in Europe are built on use of allied fighting forces — of relying heavily on armies of NATO countries, while we provide planes, guns, tanks, and munitions. We have spent billions helping equip the armies of Turkey, Greece, Italy, Spain, France, etc. Yet none of these armies could fight long against an all-out attack from Russia, for example, if they haven't enough food. Because we have heard so much about surpluses, nobody in our country seems to have given much attention to the role of food in mobilizing our defenses. As part of the hearings we have been conducting, however, we posed some specific questions for the Department of Defense. The answers are significant.

• • •

Defense Opinion

The Defense Department says military capabilities of our allies depend upon their resources. They say an important and fundamental resource is food. They add that in their own studies, they have found that in Western Europe the degree of self-sufficiency in food is less than two-thirds. Yet the Department of Defense further told us that it does not currently plan for the maintenance of food pipelines through submarine hazards for the support of allies abroad who are food deficit countries. In other words, the allied fighting forces in which we are investing billions would be left without an assured food supply.

Need Stockpiles

The only logical answer is building stockpiles of food reserves in these areas just as we are stocking munitions. We have the food to provide. What is the use giving them guns if we do not give them food to survive? The Defense Department says it has been urging such NATO food stockpiles since 1950, and it feels the United States should assist foreign countries in stockpiling food by making some of its agricultural surpluses available to them. The Defense Department says it urged such action in classified letters to the Office of Defense Mobiliaztion, Secretary of Agriculture, and Secretary of State in 1953, and repeated its recommendation in 1955. In other words, the Defense Department wants to use the surplus to bolster our defenses. But so far, neither the Department of Agriculture nor the Department of State have done anything about it. I intend to push the action on the Defense Department's needs for such food reserves abroad without further delay.

The most powerful radar electronic tube—which can transmit 4,000,000 watts of energy—has more than 20 parts made of nickel or nickel alloys because of their strength and resistance to oxidation at elevated temperatures.

The ability of nickel to contract and return to its original length in an alternating magnetic field makes it a useful metal in ultra-sonic equipment, such as magnetostriction phonograph pickups, oscillators and tools.

Rhodium, one of the platinum group metals, has a faculty for remaining bright and is completely resistant to a variety of corrosives.

Large Crowds Attend Circus Here Tuesday

Children of all ages, some 2,000 of them, were on hand Tuesday afternoon to view the matinee performance of the Kelly and Miller Bros. circus at the Thief River Falls fair grounds.

The 65-truck caravan arrived early Tuesday morning with a cargo of more than 200 animals including a herd of 21 elephants.

Muddy grounds and an occasional shower delayed setting-up operations, but by noon the big top started to take shape.

A large number of parents, children and older youths were at the fair grounds at 9 a.m. to greet the colorful caravan. Parents and their children roamed the muddy grounds watching the unloading and setting up procedures.

A large number of older boys went home with free passes they had earned by helping raise the big top and hauling water for the animals.

The three-ring performance got under way at 3 p.m. one hour behind schedule.

After the two hour show was over the people commented on three things: the large number of circus animals, the laugh provoking antics of the clowns, and what many referred to as the "double ticket take." Passing through the main entrance circus goers purchased a ninety-cent general adult admission ticket or a fifty-cent ticket for children under 12 years old.

However, upon entering the main tent, two fast talking ticket hawkers hit them up for another seventy-five or fifty-cent handout. This, so they were told gave them the privilege of sitting in the two reserved sections.

What the ticket sellers, both working on a commission basis, didn't tell them was that they didn't have to buy an additional ticket. They could, for the price of general admission, sit at either of the far ends of the tent. Most of the people didn't object to the additional price; what they did object to was the way in which they seemingly were taken in.

Man Recaptured after Escape at Beltrami Co. Jail

One of two men who sawed their way out of the Beltrami County jail in Bemidji early Saturday and a 19-year old girl who admitted furnishing the hacksaw blades were brought into municipal court in Bemidji Monday.

Leon Boser, 21, of Pierz, who was recaptured Saturday night in Northome, waived preliminary hearing on escape charges and was returned to jail to await opening of the September term of court.

Boser, who had joined a carnival, was arrested after a woman who had heard a broadcast about the jail break became suspicious and called police.

Renee Lue Becker, 19, of Bemidji, was arraigned on charges of aiding the escape and released on her own recognizance to appear at the September term of district court.

In a signed statement she related how she went to the jail Friday night and sent hacksaw blades up to Boser and Robert E. Johnson, 21, of Northfield with a rope. The two used the blades to saw bars on their second floor cell and escape. Johnson is still missing.

The girl, who said she was a friend of Johnson, had gone to the jail Friday to ask for his clothes. She was arrested Sunday.

At the time they broke out of jail, Boser was serving 90 days on a car theft charge and Johnson was awaiting trial on charges of stealing a hay rake.

Away from it all

Would you like to be able to go to a retreat like this when you are worried—a place where you could be alone with your thoughts—a place where you could untangle your problems?

If you would, then you are like most people. Everyone needs a retreat, at moments. And everyone has one! It isn't a mountain cabin or a seaside cottage—but it is a place far better suited to prayer and contemplation, a place to sort out old errors and make new resolutions. It is your church.

Let your church be your sanctuary. Go to it when you are troubled. You will find within its walls your moment of peace, and you will walk out into the street again far better able to make the most of your life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PERFECT LANDING FOR JIM

By Don Wood

JIM BAGSBY, ace court reporter for the Evening Sentinel, felt his notebook crumble in his clenched fist.

Aiming his remarks at the stolid court officer who blocked the exit of the news room, he blurted, "Just how long do you think you can keep us here."

The blue-clad officer shrugged off Jim's tone as he had the other remarks hurled his way in the past hour. "You heard what the judge said, Jim. No news releases on this story until after the jury comes back."

A fine thing, Jim fumed. Locked in the court house while his own story went sour. In less than an hour the Sentinel would be past its deadline, and the Morning Globe would have a scoop.

"Now don't get your blood pressure up. You heard what the man said." Ellen Smith uncrossed two of the neatest ankles in the news business and turned away from the open window. Jim watched her smooth a wrinkle from her skirt and tried to be mad at her. It was hard to do, but he was in a mood to try.

"I don't have to remind you that I have a deadline to meet. You have no doubt figured that out long ago," he gritted at his pert blond companion. He jerked the top button off his shirt, and slumped into his chair until the seat cut his back.

Lots of newsmen in this town would have gladly given their next news scoop for the privilege of being locked in a room with Ellen Smith. But this story was Jim Bagsby's own private beat. From the time that the Sutherland jewels had disappeared he had led the pack in covering the progress of the case. Now, with the out-of-town culprit awaiting the jury verdict, he couldn't cover the case for the Sentinel's readers.

Ellen Smith, he saw, was back at her favorite game. She industriously folded another sheet of copy paper into an airplane and aimed for a perfect landing in the waste basket near the window.

"Games!", snorted Jim. "Is that all you learned at Holly College?"

"Holly College," he was told by the prim voice at the window, "is one of the finest schools for girls in the state. I was voted the most likely to make a perfect landing."

The clock ticked. Jim saw his deadline near. Ellen had run out of copy paper and reached for his stack. With dour sarcasm he pushed all of his stack to her side of the old desk. Might as well have this story land in this waste basket as the editor's tomorrow, he glumly told himself.

It was an hour past deadline when the judge sent word that his two news prisoners could be released. The judge, too, knew when his deadline hour was, Jim told himself in a surge of self pity.

At the door of the court house he flipped a dime to the newsboy and opened the Sentinel's pages. Page one, in bold type, was his story . . . "Jury Still out in Sutherland case." Beneath his by-line the editor had written a facetious note. "Unique airmail delivery from locked court house news room gives Sentinel man exclusive story."

Jim blinked. A whiff of delicious perfume caused him to turn. Ellen Smith was on tiptoes reading over his shoulder. He lowered the paper and she moved close to read the story.

"Care for a cup of coffee?"

"Love it," smiled Ellen.

Two cups later Jim asked the question that had troubled him since he first opened the paper. "Tell me. Did you fly my story out of the window on purpose, or did you do it by mistake?"

If he was right, the future of bachelor Jim Bagsby was going to be excitingly changed. Her words in the court house came back to him, "I was voted the most likely to make a perfect landing."

VARIOUS MEANS OF GETTING ATTENTION

A rhubarb leaf with an astounding 46-inch "wingspread" gained a lot of Little Falls attention. . . . Mrs. Harry Pearson's collection of salt - and - pepper shakers attracts a lot of attention in West St. Paul—nearly 500 of them in every conceivable size and shape, from every part of the globe. . . . At Fairmont John Croissant's fishing gear gets considerable attention; he was told not to negotiate the 50-foot climb between the lakeshore and his home, so he rigged from a boat cradle and track a funicular railway, powered with a ¾-hp electric motor, and makes each fishing trip in quick and easy comfort—with what success wasn't reported. . . . An anonymous man in an anonymous town attracted a great deal of attention while up a ladder working on the side of his house; a vigorous sneeze broke his belt, let his trousers down, and trapped him before hilarious neighbors and passers-by.—

Horticultural Sessions Here Drew over 200

Society Is Told of Progress in Field at TRF Convention

What's going on in the horticultural world?

With this as his topic professor emeritus W. H. Alderman former head of the department of horticulture, "U" of Minnesota, State Horticultural society annual garden forum held Thursday and Friday.

More than 200 members of the society representing garden clubs in 30 cities throughout the state were on hand for the two day convention held at Lincoln high school auditorium.

The place of horticulture through all history as an industry and way of life; the place of organizations in the development of horticulture, and the present strides in commercial and home gardening were the main topics of the Thursday morning session.

The truth of the statement made by one of the speakers in the morning session that in the last 15 years the scientists have given the science of horticulture back to the people was certainly visible in the large number of floral arrangements and exhibits on display in the corridors and rooms on the first floor of the school.

The theme "Gardening In the Northland" came alive in all it's floral splendor in a beautiful garden gate setting on the stage of the auditorium. Looking upon the stage from the

Rev. Seltz Named Missouri Synod Vice President

St. John's Church Pastor Elected to High Office at Convention in St. Paul

Five hundred delegates from the 51st convention of the Minnesota district of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod returned home after the five day convention at Concordia College in St. Paul closed on Friday, August 16.

St. John's Lutheran church of Thief River Falls was represented by its pastor, The Rev. A. C. Seltz and by Mr. Chris Anton, the lay representative.

New president of the Minnesota District is the Rev. Ernest Stahlke of Minneapolis, succeeding the Rev. H. A. Gamber of St. Paul who declined re-election. First vice president is the Rev. Seltz of Thief River Falls; second vice president is the Rev. O. F. Krause of Fairmont; and the Rev. W. Buege of Minneapolis is third vice president. Newly elected circuit visitor of the Thief River Falls circuit is the Rev. W. Sprengeler of Warren.

The Rev. O. R. Harms of Houston, Texas, Vice President of the Missouri Synod, represented President John W. Behnken of the Synod. In addition to preaching for the opening service he gave daily reports on the progress of the synod in its many foreign mission fields.

One of the highlights of the convention came on Tuesday when the cornerstone of the new Centennial Hall, the first of five new dormitories to be built on the campus of Concordia College in St. Paul, was laid in the impressive ceremony in which Dr. W. A. Poehler, president of the college and the Rev. H. Gamber, chairman of the college board, took part.

A budget of $1,635,000.00 was adopted, representing an increase of almost $200,000.00 over the previous year.

Social Security Man Here Aug. 27

Representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium Tuesday, August 27, at 10 a.m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security may contact him on that date.

Sept 8 Start of Dial Service Reminds of Early Phone History

The start of dial telephone service Sunday, September 8, is an important milestone in the history of Thief River Falls telephone service, A. K. Bacon, Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager, reports.

Checking back through the records, Bacon said that telephone service here dates back to 1901 when Mr. H. Fant, who operated a confectionary store, opened up the community's first telephone exchange after obtaining a franchise from the city council.

The number of customers grew rapidly during the first year of operation and Fant was compelled to order a "new 200 switchboard" to accommodate his growing business "less than a year later," according to a story in the Thief River Falls News.

Apparently, the first customers had access to long distance service from the start. The May 23, 1901, News reported: "H. Fant has had the local telephone connected with the long distant, which makes it very convenient for local subscribers." Reports indicate the first long distance telephone line was to Crookston. In later newspaper articles, reference was made that Fant planned to build long distance lines to Roseau and Warroad but no mention was made of whether these lines were placed.

Fant hadn't been in business too long before he found out that bad weather can be a big headache in the telephone industry. According to the August 15, 1901 News, a wind and rain storm hit the Thief River Falls area and, among other things, "H. Fant's telephone exchange was damaged considerably. Many of the wires were blown down and telephone poles were broken. His damage is estimated at about $200."

No mention is made in early news stories as to who were the very first telephone customers in the community. However, among the very first were the following advertisers in the News, who by late 1901 and early 1902 were including their telephone numbers in their advertisements: "Drs. Tupper & Strand, phone 27," "Central Mercantile Co., phone 19," "Law Office of Todd W. Mabey, phone [illegible]."

Fant operated the exchange until 1907 when he sold the property to J. M. Bishop. Bishop held it only a short while, selling on September 1, 1908 to the Tri-State Telephone & Telegraph Co., which provided service until Northwestern Telephone Exchange company, predecessor of today's Northwestern Bell Telephone company, purchased the exchange in 1918.

Although no mention is made of where Fant located the first switchboard, pioneer residents of the community recall it was in the space now occupied by the Ben Franklin Store coffee bar. The switchboard remained there until about 1910 when it was moved to the second floor of the Caldis Building, then to the northeast corner of the Union State Bank Building, next to the

Fast Time End Set Sept. 29 by Gov. Freeman

Advances Date from Original Closing Time of October 26

Gov. Freeman Thursday issued a proclamation ending daylight saving time in Minnesota at 2 a.m. Sunday, Sept 29.

The new decree followed a ruling by Atty. Gen. Lord that the governor has the authority to modify his original order designating Oct. 26 as the termination date.

"Primarily because of the effect daylight saving time has on our children going to school," Freeman explained, "I am ending daylight time on Sept. 29."

Fast time went into effect in Minnesota April 28 after an overwhelming vote in the Legislature in favor of it.

Freeman said he has given careful consideration to seven factors outlined in a legal opinion by Lord which must be taken into consideration in setting a date.

The law provides that daylight time must be "in practicable conformance with time other than standard time in use elsewhere in the nation."

Freeman said he considered these factors, as listed in Lord's ruling:

1. Nature of the state's population, both rural and urban.
2. Effect on people making a living — farmers, workers and employers.
3. Practical problems resulting from need to conform with time systems elsewhere in the country in the field of business activity and transportation.
4. Minnesota's northern location and the effect of the time change on the hours of sunrise and sunset.
5. Observance period selected by states in geographical proximity to Minnesota.
6 Effect on school children particularly those who must drive long distances on school buses.
7. Ample time allowance for adjustment in personal and business scheduling if termination is advanced.

Freeman said that at a recent statewide meeting of school superintendents, two-thirds of those in attendance urged that daylight saving time be ended before Oct. 26.

Annual Meeting of Polio Chapter Set for Tuesday, 3:30

The Pennington county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will hold its annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday afternoon, August 20, at 3:30 in the Terrace room of the Rex Cafe, it was announced today by C. W. Bodekuhr, county chairman. He invited all interested persons to attend the meeting.

Prediction Is for Fair Skies, Moderately Cool

Area weather watchers could not ask for nicer weather than that predicted for this area by the weatherman.

The five-day forecast for this state calls for near normal temperatures and little, if any, rainfall, which will be a welcome note to farmers who want to bring the harvest to the quickest possible finish.

Much the same weather as that predicted has prevailed since last Thursday with highs in the 70's and the lows ranging from 49 to 52. No rain of consequence fell during the period.

The KTRF forecast is very short and sweet—fair and mild today, tonight and Tuesday with highs today to range from 75-82 and lows in the 50-60 bracket.

225 Persons Attend Horticulture Group Convention Banquet

TRF Bank Debits Rise above State 7-months Average

Bank debits, indicating the volume of check transactions in Thief River Falls were up seven percent in the month of July compared to the previous year, increasing from $6,147,000 to $6,583,000.

For the first seven months of the year bank debits in this city showed a ten percent gain over the preceding year, increasing from $38,373,000 to $42,560,000. The average increase for the state during this seven-month period was four percent.

Approximately 225 persons enjoyed the banquet held at Zion Lutheran church Thursday evening as a feature of the annual convention of the Minnesota Horticultural society, the tables being attractively decorated for the occasion.

The guest speaker, Dr. C. C. Swain of Grand Forks, was presented by Judge Paul A. Lundgren, toastmaster, and he gave an eloquent address on the topic, "What Man Lives for", injecting a good deal of humor into his remarks.

Dr. Swain praised the horticulturists for their contribution to society thru the promotion of beautiful surroundings, and stated that the character of a people is reflected in the home, lawns and gardens.

He deplored the tendency of many to try to get along by doing as little work as possible, and added that, while we should have fun, it should be constructive, rather than destructive. He closed by saying that everyone should try to make a contribution to society and to the glory of God.

The program opened with the invocation by the Rev. Walter M. Pedersen, followed by group singing led by Dr. J. L. Norquist, with accompaniment by Mrs. Reuben Jackrem; and the introduction of the toastmaster by Mrs. I. R. Geving, chairman of the convention arrangements committee.

The Lions quartet supplied two groups of selections and responded to the hearty applause with several encores. Music also was provided by members of the Lincoln high school orchestra, directed by James Solsten.

Curtis S. Rice of Hopkins, president of the state horticultural society announced numerous awards to members for a variety of achievements during the past year.

The following awards were made at the dinner.

Bronze Medal: E. C. Lehman, Faribault, and H. J. Rahmlow, Madison, Wisconsin.

Distinguished service award: E. J. Durand, Minneapolis; Mrs. A. S. Gowen, Excelsior; Mrs. A. W. Telroff, Mountain Lake; Joseph S. Witmer, Hopkins.

Announcement for later presentation were the following award of merit certificates: Mrs. Fred Anderson, Brainerd; Mrs. P. C. Mr. and Mrs. George Dunn of St. Paul arrived Wednesday to spend a week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hallan.

Seven 1957 graduates of the area vocational school practical nurses course were honored at an impressive capping ceremony at the Lincoln high school auditorium Thursday evening before a large crowd of relatives, friends and well-wishers.

The short but impressive program was opened with invocation by the Rev. E. C. Mead, after which Miss Helen Waaler, a student nurse from Minneapolis General Hospital sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," with accompaniment by Miss Ruth Hensin of Minneapolis' Fairview Hospital.

Olson spoke to the graduates of the responsibilities and obligations they have to their employers, the public and the nursing profession as they go into the profession as practical nurses. Leaving a good impression on the public is one of their prime obligations, Olson said.

Following Olson's address the student professional nurses acted as big sisters to the practical nursing graduates during the capping and candlelighting ceremonies. Pins and diplomas were presented by Nelson and Miss Mary McLaughlin, nursing instructor.

School superintendent Irwin Mickelson spoke briefly, telling the graduates they were joining one of the many professions whose motto is "service." He reminded them that if they are ever discouraged, they can always find solace in the Bible presented to them by the Gide-

E. G. Forks Woman Dies in Car Crash Sunday Afternoon

Mrs. Ruth Lindquist, 46, Dies Instantly in Mishap at Rural Intersection

A rural East Grand Forks woman was killed and two others were hospitalized in a two-car smashup at the intersection of two Polk county rural roads about 2 p. m. Sunday, according to Polk County Sheriff Carl Knutson, Crookston.

Knutson said a car driven south on a Sullivan twp. road in northern Polk county by Mrs. Ruth E. Lindquist, 46, was struck broadside by another car driven west on county aid road 21 by Lawrence Marek, 38, rural Warren.

A cottonwood grove at the intersection is believed to have prevented the two drivers from seeing each other, Knutson stated. He said there were no skid marks whatever leading to the point of collision at the middle of the intersection. Neither car was believed to have been travelling at great speed.

Marek hit the Lindquist vehicle slightly to the rear of center. After the impact, Knutson said, the struck car went to the left and finally ended up in a field about 60-ft. from the intersection. The Marek car continued west sideways, on the county road and finally came to rest in a ditch 140 ft. away.

Mrs. Lindquist was dead on arrival at Deaconess hospital in Grand Forks, N. D., and is believed to have died instantly of a broken neck, leg, and multiple bruises. She was thrown from the car and was found 16 ft. away from where it stopped.

Her husband, Ed L. Lindquist, 64, was taken to Deaconess hospital where he is confined with head injuries and shock.

Marek was uninjured, although shaken up, but his wife, Elsie, was hospitalized with a broken ankle and bruises. The four Marek children, Patty, 15, Harley, 13, Wayne, 9, and Lynn, 7, miraculously escaped injury, Sheriff Knutson said. All were taken to the hospital but released after examination, however.

Dr. A. G. Nelson, Polk county coroner has said there will be no inquest into the accident. Knutson recommended that an appropriate sign be installed at the blind intersection to prevent recurrences.

Both cars were totally demolished in the collision.

Supreme Court Denies Claim of Oklee Resident

The Minnesota supreme court Friday rejected the appeal of Thorval Krossen Oklee, who claimed he was injured while working in a mine at Chisholm.

The state industrial commission found that he did not suffer injuries in the course of his employment with the Oliver Iron Mining Co. March 28, 1952, and that consequently he was not entitled to compensation under the workmen's compensation law.

Krossen said he hurt his back in the mine and was disabled for about five days. He did not file his petition for compensation until more than two years after the filing of the mining company's written report of the alleged injury with the commission.

WHAT Gives YOU a HEADACHE?

Perhaps an occasional headache isn't cause for concern — but frequently recurring headaches are a different matter. Frequent headaches are often Nature's warning signals and should be brought to the attention of your physician. He alone is qualified to determine which of the many different causes of headache is responsible for your frequent discomfort. If it is nothing serious, you are better off for having that peace of mind. If there is cause for concern, you have the advantage of earlier treatment that means faster recovery.

Arboretum Is Topic of Horticulturists

What can a landscape arboretum do for Minnesota? This was one of the main topics discussed last Friday at the morning session of the State Horticultural Society convention at Lincoln high school.

Some 200 enthusiastic people representing garden clubs in more than 30 cities throughout the state gathered in the school auditorium to hear two University of Minnesota professors, C. G. Hard, extension horticulturist, and R. J. Stadtherr, dept. of horticulture, discuss the purpose and review the progress of the proposed 100 acre arboretum located one-half mile from the University fruit breeding farm near Excelsior, Minn.

Minnesota's wood ornamentals have been neglected. To horticulturists primarily interested in the ornamental field—trees, shrubs, vines, etc.—this is not news. For some years they have recognized the truth of this statement; have discussed it; explored it . . . and wondered what to do about it. Two years ago the an investigating group from the State Horticultural Society came up with the solution to the problem. They decided what the state needed was a landscape arboretum. And they, the 10,000 members of the society would sponsor the project.

What is an arboretum?

It is said Hard, an area set aside for the growing and display of worthy trees, shrubs and woody vines that can be grown in the State. These are labelled and arranged in such a way as to demonstrate their best landscape use. The arboretum said Hard, will provide the opportunity for the public to see ornamental plants growing and will stimulate the use of a wider variety of plants in the landscape. In addition the arboretum serves as a laboratory for scientific study and as a reservoir of plants from which new varieties can be developed.

Stadtherr, who referred to the project as one of his favorite topics, thought work on the arboretum would possibly start this fall. In 1954 the gathering of plants and trees had begun. Stadtherr, showed a series of colored slides of the present site and explained the work that had already been accomplished.

Curtis Rice, Jr., president of the horticultural society, speaking for O. V. Lowrie, finance chairman of the arboretum committee, gave a financial report. He said the $80,000 goal could be reached if each of the 10,000 members in the society contributed $2 each and if each club gave $10.

The committee is approaching its goal, said Rice. Individual contributions by societies and clubs have reached the $12,000 mark. $35,000 was pledged by the Minnetonka garden club, Minneapolis. This, said Rice has been used to purchase the property. There are 100 woman members in the club.

Another public spirited group in St. Paul contributed $12,000.

The society said Rice has not asked for donations outside of the organization because they felt the money should come from within the organization. The support so far, he said, has come primarily from the Twin Cities and surrounding area.

Rice encouraged all the 450 garden clubs affiliated with the society to support the project, because the arboretum is going to do the same amount of good to the people in the entire State as the fruit breeding farm.

2 Cars Collide on T. H. 32 Near City

Lake Crystal and Rural TRF Women Were Drivers

About $250-300 damages was sustained to two cars involved in a collision 1.3 miles north of the city on hwy. 32 Sunday afternoon. The crash happened when the driver of one of the cars attempted to make a left turn as the other was passing.

Mrs. Peter Mikkelson, Lake Crystal, Minn., was passing Mrs. Lulusa Czeh, Rt. 2, city, when Mrs. Czeh started to turn off No. 32 to west. In the ensuing collision one person (not named by investigating highway patrolmen) in the Mikkelson car was hospitalized for bruises and the others escaped injury.

The Czeh car landed on its top in the ditch after the collision, while the other vehicle stayed on the roadway. No charges have been filed, according to the highway patrol.

Bakery Truck in Accident Today

Jung's Truck Rolls over on Side on Highway 59

Hans Aakre, 21, Jung's Bakery truck driver received moderate bruises but no obvious injuries in an accident about four miles south of the city on U. S. 59 early this morning.

According to the highway patrolman investigating, a teenage farm youth driving an old model car caused Aakre to head for the roadside ditch and his truck finally came to rest on its side in a field.

Very little damage was caused to the truck, the patrolman investigating said, and his statement was corroborated by Walter Jung, who said it would be out of action only a few days.

Aakre will probably be released shortly from Northwestern hospital, where he was taken after the accident, according to the attending physician.

No charges have been filed as yet, the patrolman said.

Stewart Halldin Is Still Missing

Local police report today no progress in the search for a local youth missing since August 6.

Stewart Halldin, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Halldin has not been seen or heard of since August 6. Latest information is that he may have headed for Montana and authorities have been alerted to watch U. S. Highway 2 for the missing youth.

The number of telephones here has increased steadily over the years. In 1930, there were 1200 phones. Ten years later, that figure increased to 1850 and by 1950 the total was more than 3000. Today, there are more than 3500 telephones.

N. C. Airlines Is Seeking to Set Record in August

North Central Airlines is conducting a "maximum effort" sales drive throughout its nine-state system to establish a new passenger traffic record for the nation's local service airline industry.

The target is 70,000 passengers carried in August.

At mid-month, the company's system boardings totaled 32,265.

"Daily passenger boardings are increasing steadily as a result of all-out sales effort by station and reservations personnel," reports Frank N. Buttomer, vice-president, traffic and sales. "With continued maximum effort, we are confident our station agents and reservationists can conclude the month with a record 70,000 passengers," Buttomer said.

The present local airline industry record was set in June when 63,451 passengers flew North Central. So far this year 39[illegible],576 have flown North Central.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Strange, isn't it, the way rainfall amounts can vary from one short distance to another? In our weather reports here we use information provided by KTRF, including their precipitation measurements, which we accept as the official city measurement.

Never-the-less, there's often a wide spread between their reading and the one from our own backyard rain gauge. For instance, last Monday our gauge registered 2.40 inches of rainfall—which matched KTRF's figure for Monday AND Wednesday. At other times the variation has been far greater.

Nor do we think either gauge is inaccurate to any great extent. What makes the variation so strange to us is the short distance involved between the two guages.

If you're reading this to see what ol' Draper's griping about by any chance, we're happy to disappoint you today. We're tired of crusading and won't do any more even if the town slips backwards 100 years or so. We do doubt anything this drastic will happen, regardless. Columnists, we are told, should be optimistic and happy.

—[]—

Norm Holen sez half the people who drive fancy new cars are trying to keep up with the neighbors and the other half are trying to keep up the payments.

Either way, our sole comment is "Ouch!"

Yours?

We'll never do it again—that is, hex our favorite ball team by mentioning it in this column. Seven games behind . . . gracious!

—[]—

From the information we gather, a lot of us are missing some good fishing by not trying our luck below the dam, here.

(By the way—is it legal?)

We've heard of some pretty fair catches of walleyes and northern pike down there recently, which is better than some lake fishermen are doing.

Of course, we always hear about nice ones—we never catch 'em, altho we have scads of fun trying.

Speaking of gripes . . . the one newspaperman, or we should say, cartoonist, who capitalizes on 'em and really makes good at it is Jimmy Hatlo with his "They'll Do It Every Time."

We especially appreciated his "Hatlo's Inferno" a Sunday or so ago, concerning the disc jockeys who play the same records so repeatedly.

Also appropriate was the jibe at the baseball fan who hadn't attended a game since 1949 screaming bloody murder because the home team was leaving for more profitable diggings.

He always hits the nail on the head, doesn't he?

Just think—if it weren't for disc jockeys we wouldn't have Elvis Presley and rock 'n' roll.

Hold it, now—lynching is illegal!

audience it looked like a vista of northern landscape had been transplanted complete with evergreens and wild flowers.

The remaining sessions of the convention carried the theme of the convention into the backyards of the gardeners with talks on trees, shrubs and flowers for the northland. A lot of professional advice on the art of growing roses, fuchsias and other shade plants was given. In addition a well attended fruit and vegetable symposium was conducted.

The main topic discussed in the Friday morning session was the proposed development of a state landscape arboretum.

A closing feature of the afternoon session was a demonstration by the Badger and Roseau garden clubs on the arranging of flowers and driftwood.

Some Firm Bureau Power Available

Bureau of Reclamation Offers City 2,050 Kwh

The bureau of reclamation of the U. S. department of the interior, in charge of the Missouri river power development project, late last week notified city officials that, effective August 15, 2050 kilowatts of firm power, half the amount to be supplied eventually is available to this city.

The allotment was made effective at a date considerably earlier than was originally scheduled, due in large measure to the water supplies being larger at this time than had been anticipated.

However, the city's tie-in with Minnkota Power Co-op lines, which will bring bureau power to Thief River Falls, will not be completed until about December 1, so that the power cannot be utilized until that date.

The city's contract with the bureau of reclamation provides that the bureau is to supply 4,100 kilowatts of firm power effective January 1, 1959.

TRF Bums Defeat Grygla in Finals of North Six Loop

Lynn Sluke Strikes out 16 Opposing Batters as Locals Win Sunday 16-4

The Thief River Falls Bums, with pitcher Lynn Sluke striking out sixteen batsmen and hitting a home run with a man on base, defeated Grygla, 16 to 4, in the finals of the North Six baseball league playoffs played at Grygla on Sunday afternoon. In a tournament first round game, the Bums received a forfeit win from Trail. Grygla, in their first round game, defeated the Gonvick team, 12 to 6.

Aiding Sluke in giving the Bums their well-earned triumph over the Grygla Red Sox was Jack Erickson, who connected for a "grand slam" home run.

As a result of their playoff victory, the Bums gained a berth in the regional Class B tournament which will be played at Warroad next Sunday. According to present plans and pairings, the Bums will meet the winner of the Border league playoffs.

Water Problem Is Acute at Warren

$500,000 Project Is Proposed as Solution

Preliminary estimates on the proposed new water supply for the city of Warren from a well approximately 8 miles northeast of Warren indicate that final costs could run close to $600,000.

This startling information was given to the city council by Burdick and Forney, Grand Forks consulting engineers at a regular council meeting Tuesday night, according to H. R. Drews, city engineer and superintendent of the Warren water, light and power department.

The engineers propose laying an eight inch main from the well to the vicinity of the golf course from which point a 12 inch main would be laid to connect with the city mains. Eventually a million gallon storage tank would be erected at the point where the pipe size changes from 8 to 12 inch size.

The cost of the storage tank alone is estimated at $100,000, said Mr. Drews. Cost of the pipe is estimated at $193,000. The estimate for pumping equipment and bringing the water into the city without the storage tank would run well over $500,000, Mr. Drews pointed out. Construction of the storage tank could be delayed until some future date, he indicated.

Remind Small Game Hunters of Need to Purchase $1 Stamp

Game and Fish Division States Wetlands Stamp Must Be Added to License

Small game hunters were reminded again this week by Minnesota game and fish authorities that a $1.00 stamp must be affixed to the small game licenses as a result of a law passed by the 1957 legislature.

The legislature passed a law in which they imposed a surcharge of $1.00 on all small game hunting licenses. The revenue, derived from this surcharge will be used for the purchase of wildlife lands.

Licenses were printed and distributed prior to the enactment of this law and for this reason, a special wildlife acquisition surcharge stamp must be affixed to the license, bringing total cost of the license to $3.00 instead of $2.00.

Hunters who purchased their small game hunting license early in the year, must bring the license to the county auditor or his agents who will affix the stamp to the license.

Game officials warned that these stamps must be affixed to every small game hunting license or the holder will be in violation of the law.

Farmers spend as much for petroleum products as for farm machinery — almost two billion dollars a year.

Only 38 years ago, it took twice as much crude oil to produce a gallon of gasoline as it does today.

Bagley & Fosston in North Minny Finals

The Northern Minny league's double elimination playoffs have reached the championship round, with the Bagley Merchants and Fosston being the finalists. The winner of the playoffs will represent the league in the Region 2B baseball tournament which will be held at Ada on Aug. 29-30-31 and Sept. 1-2. In the regional pairings, the Northern Minny representative will meet the Norman-Polk playoff winner in a first round game at 8:00 P. M. on Thursday, Aug. 29th.

A muffed fly ball by Erskine's Al Carlson in the last half of the 9th inning, with two men out, allowed Fosston to score two runs and edge out the Erskine Merchants, 8 to 7, in a playoff game played at Fosston on Sunday night. The win moved Fritz Frethem's Fosston team into the finals against Bagley, and the loss eliminated the Erskine Merchants from the playoffs. The two teams, Fosston and Erskine, entered Sunday's game with a loss apiece.

In a playoff game played at Erskine on Thursday night, the Bagley Merchants, getting steady pitching from knuckle-balling righthander Dave Severud, defeated Erskine, 6 to 3. The win was the second straight in playoff competition for Bagley, and left the league champions in a very favorable position for the finals.

The next game in the playoffs will be played at Fosston on Wednesday night, with game time at 8:00 P. M. Fosston must win the game on Wednesday night in order to prolong the series; and if another game is required, that game will be played at Bagley on Sunday afternoon.

All-star D-ballers Whip Bridgeman's Thursday 15 to 0

Gordon Kaushagen and Milton Relerson Allow Only 2 Hits in Shutout

Getting two-hit shutout pitching from their righthanders, Gordy Kaushagen and Milt Relerson, and clubbing the assortment of stuff tossed up by Bob Carlson for fourteen hits, the city's All-Star softballers trounced the city league champion Bridgeman's, 15 to 0, in an exhibition game played on the East Side field on Thursday evening.

The trend of the game was established in the 1st inning when the All-Stars, on three singles, by Joey Poole, Sid Vran, and Don Engelstad, plus a pair of walks, and two errors, scored four runs.

The All-Stars added two runs in the 2nd inning, a single run in the 3rd inning, and then "broke up" the game with an eight-run cluster in the 5th inning.

Meanwhile the Bridgeman batters were having their difficulties in solving the slants of Kaushagen of Relerson. In fact the Bridgeman's were held hitless until the 6th inning when Gayle Anderson, leading off, beat out a ground ball to third baseman Pinky Adolphson. And in the 7th inning, Nicky Carlson bounced a clean ground single into left field.

Poole and Ross Sloan led the attack of the All-Stars, with Joey getting a single and two doubles in three trips, and Ross rapping out a pair of singles.

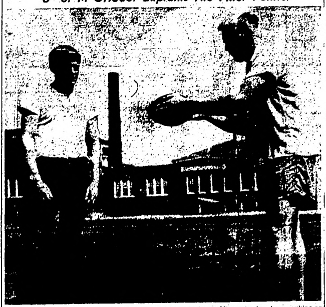
'U' of M Gridder Explains The Finer Points



Calvin Kleber, University of Minnesota drop-kicking ace took time out last Saturday afternoon to demonstrate his winning kicking form to Larry Gausen, Lincoln high school senior. Kleber, a senior at Minnesota, has been working on Great Northern steel relaying gang for the past two weeks. He left Thief River Sunday on his way to the University where he will begin training with the squad.

League Schedule to Wind up Thursday, August 29

Trap Shoot League

Northern Chevrolet	7	1	0	14
Wilson Bros.	5	3	0	10
Oen's Appliance	4	4	0	8
The Times	3	5	0	6
The Pharmacy	3	5	0	6
Johnson Bros.	2	6	0	4

Results of the Aug. 8th shoot:
Wilson Bros., 124, vs. The Pharmacy, 121.
Oen's Appliance, 122, vs. The Times, 118.
Northern Chevrolet, 121, vs. Johnson Bros., 93.

The schedule, Thursday, Aug. 22nd:
Wilson Bros. vs. The Times.
Oen's Appliance vs. Johnson Bros.
Northern Chevrolet vs. The Pharmacy.

With but two weeks of scheduled shooting remaining—the league schedule will conclude with the "under the lights" shoot on Thursday, August 29th—the Northern Chevrolet squad have clinched at least a tie for the league championship. When Roy Jorgenson's Chevies defeated a four-man Johnson Bros. team, 121 to 93, a week ago, they clinched a first place tie.

In defeating the Johnsons, the Northern Chevrolet posted three "25's", with Frank Rinkel having a 23-6, Erling Torgerson a 23-3, and George Mackenroth an 18-8. The Johnson Bros. handicapped by a lack of substitute shooters, had a pair of "25" shooters in Ray Johnson, who had a 25-2, and Walt Fisher with a 22-5. Ray's straight was one of two posted that evening, for Wilson Bros. Stan Wilson also had a perfect 25.

The Wilson Bros. team kept in contention for the league title by outshooting the Pharmacy, 124 to 121. In addition to Stan's 25, other "25's" for Wilson's were Roy Peterson, 23-3, Al Tonder, 22-1, and Fred Mittelstadt, 20-6. Ole Ekeren, with a 22-5, and Russ Embury, with a 22-4, had "25's" for the losers.

Oen's Appliance, with Roy Oen having a 17-8, Orvis Olen a 21-5, and Dr. Paul Wendt a 20-5, defeated the Times, 122 to 118. The only Timesman to reach "25" was George Mostue with a 22-4.

More than 65 per cent of the $150 million spent by refiners last year for new refining capacity went to improve the quality of gasolines, home heating oils, and other petroleum products.

What For?

At a meeting held in Fosston last Tuesday night, the Northern Minny league, by a minority vote of the league members, and with an assist from the vice president, Ralph Rice of Bagley, voted to declare Duane (Bozo) Emard and Dale Perusse ineligible to participate in the league playoffs as members of the Thief River Falls Thieves baseball team. It is debatable whether or not the vice president had the authority to cast the tie-breaking vote on a matter pertaining to player eligibility. His action was perhaps subject to a point of order.

It was agreed, at an earlier meeting, that in the absence of specific regulations set up by the league to establish the eligibility of players, that the league was to follow the stipulations of the Minnesota State Amateur Baseball association. Emard and Perusse, who fulfill the residence requirements by living within the 25-mile radius, secured their releases from the Red Lake Falls Lakers, signed player contracts with the Thieves, and played in three league games as members of the local club.

These matters are on the records.

At the meeting held on Tuesday night, cause for ineligibility was not introduced, and the vote was made on a vague declaration upholding a directive of the vice president. In a pronouncement of a week or so ago, vice president Rice stated that the former members of the Red Lake Falls Lakers were prohibited from joining other teams in the league.

In fairness to Emard and Perusse, and the Thief River Falls Thieves organization, a bill of particulars should be introduced stating the reasons why these players are ineligible, and wherein they violated the rules and regulations of the state association.

As for the charge that the Thieves were "loading" their player roster in preparation for the playoffs, well, that's not so. Emard and Perusse were signed as replacements for player-coach Gene Sack and Bob Helgeland. That, too, is a matter of record. Sack left the Thieves on August 1st to assume his new duties in St. Louis Park, and Helgeland left the previous week to be employed in Rochester.

And there was nothing secretive about the Thieves signing of Emard and Perusse, for when it was learned that the Lakers were on the verge of disbanding, manager Sack notified various clubs of the Thieves' intentions of signing the two players as replacements. At that time, no objections were voiced.

A Long Winter

"I don't mind getting beaten, but when the score is 15 to 0, well, it's going to be a long and cold winter." Those were the words of Bridgeman's Bob Carlson following the city champions' loss to the All-Stars in an exhibition game played on the East Side diamond last week. Bob added, "I don't like to say this, but it seemed that someone had succeeded in feeding tranquilizing pills to the umpires."

The Bridgeman's were fairly beaten, but that 15 to 0 score gives a wrong indication of the game. The All-Stars received exceptional pitching from righthanders Gordy Kaushagen and Milt Relerson, with Bridgeman's getting but two hits, and one of these hits was of the tainted variety. On the other hand, the solidly-hit balls that the Bridgemans did hit were uncannily directed into the hands of the All-Stars fielders.

The exhibition schedule will continue on the East Side diamond this week. On Tuesday evening the Len's Tire Service team, with Milt Relerson on the mound, will play the Keggars of Grand Forks. On Thursday evening, and it's a tentative date, the Bjorkman's team, under the direction of manager Lowell Collins, will play the Bridgeman's team. It's somewhat of a "grudge" game, but we don't know against whom they hold the "grudge."

Hockey Bird Dog

Owen Korsmo, the Rochester Mustangs hockey team's advance agent and chief scout, was in town over the week-end. Korsmo, a one-time resident and a member of the Thieves baseball team, now resides in Rochester. He expressed himself as being highly pleased with the play of such former Prowlers hockey greats as Bob Baker, Bud Brossolt, Swede Lund, Rob Amundson, and Jack Poole, all of whom are playing with the Mustangs. The latest addition to the Mustangs' roster is Bob Helgeland, the former Prowlers and North Dakota defenseman.

Korsmo stated that there was a possibility that Roseau's Dickie Johnson would join Rochester this season. Dickie is remembered as being a hard-shooting and fast-skating forward on Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams, and last season he was a standout on the Gopher freshman squad. Owen added that he intended to forward an offer to Warroad's Roger Christian, but it's doubtful if Roger would accept the bid as he is under contract to the Detroit Red Wings.

And speaking of Korsmo. One of our most vivid recollections is of Owen hitting a game-winning triple off Harold (Pinky) Kraft in a Thieves vs. Red Lake Falls game played several years ago. That was the blow that ended Pinky's pitching career.

We saw Pinky Kraft at the golf club here on Sunday, and we relayed a cheerful greeting to him from Korsmo. Said Pinky "I'm sorry to hear that Korsmo is looking good and feeling well."

With but two weeks of the league schedule remaining, the league championship continues to be "up for grabs". Five teams—Hardware Mutual, Brooks Cheese, Soo Line, Piggly Wiggly, and First Federal—are in contention for the league title. Only five points separate the top three teams.

In Wednesday evening's play, Russ Embury's Hardware Mutual squad, with a 140 net score, moved ahead of the Brooks Cheese team. The Hardware Mutual scoring was as follows: Russ Embury, 43-35; Bill Watzke, 40-35; Arne Lee, 41-31; Dr. A. E. Jacobson, 42-36.

The evening's low net team total, though, was carded by the Starekow Clinic quartet, with a 138. The team total was compiled as follows: Milt Relerson, 41-32; Gordy Relerson, 47-35; Larry Perkins, 38-32; and Burt Wangenstein, 51-39.

The Bridgeman's squad, who are continuing their upward climb in the league standings, had a fine 139 total, and advanced into a tie for seventh place.

In the individual scoring, John Moum, with a 37, had the evening's low gross, and with a handicap of 5, Moum carded a net 32. The low net score was posted by Don Olson with a 31.

Fewer Ducks Are Reported in State

Number of Home-raised Birds Is Down Sharply

The population of Minnesota home-grown waterfowl is down drastically this year, largely because of spring floods.

The Game and Fish Division said that surveys have shown blue-winged teal are down 40 per cent from 1956 with mallards showing a 30 per cent decrease. The overall drop is 20 per cent under last year for all species, and about 6 per cent under production average of the past five years.

Forrest B. Lee, waterfowl biologist, said aerial and ground surveys showed that flooding and high water had made nesting conditions very poor in the southwest corner of the state.

A July 4 count showed very few broods in Meeker, McLeod, Kandiyohi, Chippewa, Lac qui Parle, Yellow Medicine and Redwood counties. Lee said this indicated many nests had been washed out.

He said there was a chance that renesting by the ducks with a subsequent late hatching could possibly help to remedy the situation.

The division carried out 3,100 miles of aerial survey between the Iowa border and Canadian border, bolstered with 1,000 miles of transects on the ground.

Lee said there was a good hatch of diving ducks in late June in Becker and Mahnomen counties, where weather conditions were favorable.

Asserts Federal Aid Is an Expensive Gift

Norman A. Borgen, executive secretary of Minnesota Taxpayers Association, today endorsed President Eisenhower's suggestion, made at the recent Governors' Conference, that a federal-state study group be created to determine what functions now being performed by the federal government could be taken over by the states. Mr. Borgen quoted United States Senator Goldwater of Arizona as stating, "the grant-in-aid theory is undoubtedly one of the greatest contributions to our swollen bureaucracy and we need only to examine how these bureaus grow through such grants to see that there will be no stopping the trend to a Washington-controlled government if many of these programs are not handed to the states."

Borgen pointed to recent programs on water pollution control, assistance to local library services and drainage of anthracite coal mines where federal appropriations increased 50 per cent the second year.

"According to recent figures compiled by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association," Borgen stated, "the federal 'aid' dollar is 77 cents 'bogus' and only 23 cents actual aid. The Association asserts that out of $3.3 billion distributed in federal 'aid' among the states, only $0.8 billion was actually transferred from one state to another. The other $2.5 billion was returned to the states where the federal taxes to pay the aid originated."

"In other words," Borgen went on to state, "only 23 per cent of the total federal 'aid' expenditures represents money transferred from so-called 'rich' to 'poor' states. The other 77 per cent isn't aid at all but just round trip money collected in federal taxes and returned to the states—after expenses of collecting and processing the money through various federal bureaus have been deducted, and usually with strings attached."

Figures released by Tax Foundation, Inc., this year show that the taxpayers of such comparatively 'rich' states as Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Connecticut and New Jersey pay $1.23, $1.59, $1.64, $2.21, and $2.40 respectively, of federal taxes for every dollar returned in the form of federal 'aid', and that even in the relatively 'poorer' states of Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Alabama and Louisiana the taxpayers pay 29, 31, 35, 36 and 36 cents, respectively, of federal taxes for every dollar of federal aid which their states receive.

"According to this study," Mr. Borgen stated, "the figures show that Minnesota gets back $1.00 in federal 'aid' for each 89 cents paid in federal taxes.

"The point," Mr. Borgen concluded, "is that Uncle Sam has no hidden treasure chest from which he can extract an inexhaustible supply of folding money, and that ultimately the taxpayer of our own state must foot most of the bill, even though the original hand-out may seem to be gratuitous."

State Fair Auto Races Open Friday

Record Purse of $53,655 Is Offered to Drivers

Auto racing begins its 51st year of action this week-end at the Minnesota State Fair with 11 days of speed and thrills scheduled for the fans on the nation's fastest half-mile dirt track.

A record size purse of $53,655 has been established for the nation's finest field of cars and drivers to share. A total of 46 big speedway-type cars and 38 late model stock cars have entered competition.

Opening action is scheduled for Friday when the speedway-type cars hold time trials to qualify for the five days of racing. The big cars race on Sunday, Tuesday, Friday Aug. 30, Saturday Aug. 31 and Sunday Sept. 1. Heading the field of big car drivers who will be seeking $29,000 in prize money are Buzz Marton of Tampa, Fla., Marvin Pifer of Adrian, Mich., Cotton Farmer of Fort Worth, Texas, Johnnie Pouelsen of Gardena, Calif., and Red Amick of Muncie, Ind.

Stock cars take over the track for four days, starting Saturday with a 100-lap race climaxing the action. Monday the popular 90-minute marathon will be run, Thursday the ninth annual 200-lap, 100-mile classic will be held and on Monday Sept. 2 the inaugural running of the North Star 350-lap race is scheduled. In all there will be $20,955 in prize money on the line for the stock car drivers.

Pre-race favorites include Johnnie Beauchamp of Harlan, Iowa, Bob Burdick of Omaha, Neb., Don White of Keokuk, Iowa, Leonard Funk of Otis, Kan., and Darrell Dake of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

On Saturday, Aug. 31, motorcycle races will share the speed bill with the big cars and on Wednesday, Aug. 28, Art Swenson's Thrillcade will perform before the grandstand.

Minnesota Crops Show Big Change During 37 Years

Acreage of Soybeans and Corn Increases Sharply; Wheat and Potatoes Down

Minnesota farmers have made some big changes in their cropping systems during the past 37 years.

S. A. Engene, agricultural economist and F. T. Hady, U. S. Department of Agriculture economist at the University of Minnesota, point out that corn acreage has increased by almost one-third since 1920. And most of this increase has been in corn belt counties.

Eugene and Hady report on these changes in the current issue of Minnesota Farm Business Notes, a University agricultural extension publication.

One of the most spectacular changes, they point out, has been the increase in soybeans. There were only 47,000 acres of this crop from 1935-39. By last year, soybean acreage had jumped to more than 2.5 million acres in Minnesota.

Potato acreage, on the other hand, has fallen sharply, from 314,000 acres in 1921 to about 85,000 acres a year ago. While potatoes were grown in most parts of the state 30 years ago almost two-thirds of the potato crop is in the Red River Valley now.

Farmers in all parts of the state except the southwest corner have increased oats acreage, but the change hasn't been a big one.

Wheat acreage has gone down sharply, to about a fourth of what it was in the late '30s and early '40s. It's now important only in the Red River Valley.

The trend in flax production has been upward, particularly in the western half of the state. Rye has almost disappeared after a steady decline ever since 1921, when there were nearly a million acres being grown.

Hay acreage rose slowly until 1940 and has fallen a little since then.

EXCITEMENT FOR ALL ON STATE FAIR MIDWAY

DIZZY WHIRLS around the Midway provide entertainment for thousands of visitors to the Minnesota State Fair, scheduled Aug. 24 through Sept. 2 this year. One of the perennial favorites is the Octopus, shown here surrounded by smiling youngsters awaiting their turn to ride. Royal American Shows, world's largest traveling carnival, has more than 20 large riding devices and a complete "kiddy-land" for small fry.

Minnesota Fair Will Have Vision Screening Clinic

More than fifty optometrists—members of the Minnesota Optometric Association—will spend many hours each next week so that state motorists will have a better indication of their own visual capacities.

With the idea in mind that it is important for every driver to know his own visual capacities before getting behind the wheel of his car, the optometrists will set up a booth at the State Fair so that any holder of a drivers license can get a free visual screening. The special booth will be set up in the Upper Grandstand of the Fair near the ramp leading to the seats. The booth will be open beginning August 24, and will be in operation throughout the duration of the Fair. It will be staffed by optometrists from all over Minnesota on a rotating basis.

"Our reason for this project," points out Dr. A. E. Tillisch, Sr., Minneapolis, president of MOA," is that countless drivers and riders are being killed on our highways again this summer. We know that faulty vision is directly responsible for many of these deaths, and we hope that our State Fair program will point out these facts in some small way, help to dramatize them."

Dr. Tillisch said it is important for a driver to know his visual capacities so he can correct them or compensate for them. "For example, if he is weak in depth perception he will be especially cautious where space and speed judgement is required. If his field of vision is below par on one or both sides he can often avoid accidents by taking special pains to look frequently to the side. Important thing to remember, he stressed, is to know your visual capacities, then drive carefully, always trying to "slow down and live."

An average of eight wells has been drilled for each million dollars of petroleum production income during the past year.

The United States Air Force is badly in need of qualified veterans and is now offering a new incentive program according to Sgt. Pat Williams, local air force representative. Among the many new benefits offered to Veterans of all branches is the base of choice policy. This policy allows a qualified veteran to pick his station of assignment. Other benefits are choice of overseas theater, choice service career fields, and retention of grade for those veterans that are qualified. Further information can be obtained from Sgt. "One fine day it occurred to the Members of the Body that they were doing all the work and the Belly was having all the food. So they held a meeting, and after a long discussion, decided to strike work till the Belly consented to take its proper share of the work. So for a day or two the Hands refused to take the food, the Mouth refused to receive it and the Teeth had no work to do. But after a few days the Members began to find that they themselves were not in very active condition: The Hands could hardly move, and the Mouth was all parched and dry, while the Legs were unable to support the rest. So thus they found that even the Belly in its dull quiet way was doing necessary work for the body, and that all must work together or the Body will go to pieces."

Civil War Smoulders?

According to a new North Dakota law citizens of that state may start shooting native ducks on September 27, five days earlier than the federal season opens officially.

Folks who live there assure us that we need have no fear about another civil war getting started over this question of state's rights. They tell us that the forces of secession are being vigorously opposed by the postmasters and the folks drawing social security checks.

It is the considered opinion of competent observers that this argument is going to be won by "our autocratic bureaucrats in Washington."

Ask The Experts

Congress is now being asked to adopt a program of scholarships for deserving students unable to pay the cost of a college education. There is much merit in the idea of a helping hand for those who need help in this field but we are sure that help should not be provided by the federal government.

This problem of providing assistance for the deserving few who cannot help themselves is a local problem and should be met at the local level. There are exceptions to every rule of course, but we are satisfied that, as a rule, a college education is available to every normal young American who deserves it and sincerely seeks it.

Maybe we are wrong, but we would suggest that the committees of Congress that will be considering this problem confer with a few of our underprivileged citizens before coming to a conclusion. We suggest that they invite in Abe Lincoln and Ben Franklin and Thomas Edison, among many others, to talk over the factors that are involved in the process of securing an education.

Straws in The Wind

The United Auto Workers have asked the Big Three auto manufacturers to cut car prices next year, indicating that if such action were taken the Union would reduce its contemplated 1958 contract demands. This proposal was suggested as a means of curbing inflation.

A western railroad has announced that it will not increase freight rates on many commodities for which increases were recently authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This action was taken because of, "competition from barge lines and truckers."

These items of news are only remotely related. They do deal generally with a common problem of rising costs.

It is interesting to note, for instance, that the leaders of a big labor organization admit that labor costs are a factor in price determination. And it is encouraging to have a railroad official admit that rate raises could result in decreased rather than increased revenue.

The UAW proposal and the action of the Frisco Line officials are not in themselves going to reverse the trend of inflation. They are important only as straws in the wind, indicating a reversal in the trend of thinking among top union and business officials; a recognition of the fact that continuing wage and price increases offer merely temporary gains for the few at the expense of the many, and, if not checked, will lead to serious consequences ultimately for all.

It is most encouraging to learn that some of the simple, but nevertheless fundamental, economic rules, after having long been ignored, are again receiving some recognition.

Air Base Squabble

(Ed Morrison in Morris Tribune)

It appears that quite a squabble is taking place between Senator Thye and Governor Freeman concerning the Bethel air base. The Minnesota legislature originally provided the funds to buy the necessary land and the bill provided that negotiations should be undertaken to recover the expenditure from the federal government.

Thye has introduced a bill to get the money back for the state. The Governor objects. As a matter of fact he flaunts the directive of the legislature by not pressing for reimbursement himself and roundly criticizes Thye for his efforts.

Thye replies that he did not go to Washington to give away any part of Minnesota. That's an admirable point of view.

Memo To Litterbugs

(Wes Meyer in Detroit Lakes Tribune)

Highway litterbugs in Minnesota—and they are plenty numerous—are getting sharp warnings from new signs being placed along our roadways.

The signs read: "Unlawful to throw rubbish on highway." And that means along the highway as well.

Litterbugs are warned that offenses are punishable as a misdemeanor. It seems to us a few arrests and a few heavy fines will cut down considerably the amount of litter.

Now that the state has put up the signs how about a war on litterbugs?

Destroys Honesty

(Walter Mickelson in New Ulm Journal)

There is, in Norway, a magazine called the Norwegian Weekly. It is edited by Trygve Hoff, whose editorials frequently have been quoted in newspapers and magazines of many nations.

Recently, Hoff took a serious and long appraisal of what has been happening in Norway and to the Norwegian people. What he says about them and conditions there may well apply to any people, to any nation on earth. His opening paragraph is a shocker:

"The Norwegians were once considered the most honest people on earth—before the war, honesty was taken for granted—the locking of doors seemed unnecessary."

But things have changed, writes Hoff. Some time ago, he reports, a foreign business man of Norwegian descent decided to take a sort of a "Gallup Poll" of his own, based on the question: "Have you the impression that Norwegians are honest."

The answer was: "No, not since the war."

After reviewing war conditions and the drift away from Christianity, Hoff turned to the "Welfare state." Once, it is accepted, he wrote "that everyone shall share in the good things of life, irrespective of whether or not anything has been done to deserve them, it is but a short step to the attitude that one is entitled to help himself to what one hasn't got."

This view, Hoff asserts, "has been strengthened by the confiscatory taxation policy. When it is clear that the rich are the ones to be fleeced, there seems comparatively little wrong in helping the process on its way. When official 'robbery' in the form of crippling taxes is legalized, private robbery appears a less serious offense.

The impact of this change, Hoff declares, is not only the moral one. It is also economic, because when there is neither morality nor reward to stimulate an honest day's work, the full fruits of the economy will never be realized.

QUESTIONS
VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I am a disabled veteran taking vocational rehabilitation training on-the-job. If I get an injury during training—one not related to my service-connected disability—would I be allowed to receive VA outpatient care?

A—Yes. You would be entitled to outpatient care if you needed it to prevent an interruption to your training—even though it would be for an injury not connected with your military service.

Q—If I change the beneficiaries on my GI Insurance, do I have to notify the present beneficiaries that I am taking them off the list?

A—No. They need not be notified. Selection of beneficiaries is entirely up to you.

Q—Is there any deadline date for starting school under the War Orphans Education program?

A—There is no single deadline date. Sons and daughters of deceased war veterans may begin at any time, so long as they are between 18 and 23 years of age, and under certain circumstances it's possible to begin before 18 and continue after 23.

Q—May I go to school overseas under the Korean GI Bill?

A—Yes, provided you attend an accredited institution of higher learning and take a course approved by VA.

SENATOR THYE
Reports TO YOU

from the
UNITED STATES SENATE

Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson and a delegation of sixteen Minneapolis businessmen and civic leaders met in the Senate Office Building on August 13 with representatives of the Urban Renewal Administration to discuss the rehabilitation of the Minneapolis Lower Loop. I called the conference for the purpose of resolving any technical problems standing in the way of Federal approval of the project. Senator Humphrey and Congressmen Judd and Wier joined me in support of the proposal. Mr. Robert Jorvig, Executive Director of the Housing and Re-development Authority, made an excellent presentation in justification of each phase of the project. A blighted area such as this should not be permitted to mar one of the most beautiful cities in the Nation.

Facts in The Bethel Controversy

Much has been said concerning my bill to reimburse the State of Minnesota for the cost of the land for the Bethel Military Base. Here are the facts: (1) The Defense Department signed an agreement to construct the Bethel Base before I introduced my bill. — (2) I introduced my bill in accord with the request of the Minnesota State Legislature. In the bill signed by the Governor, the Legislature specified that an effort should be made to negotiate with Congress for a reimbursement of the cost of the land for the base.—(3) My bill cannot possibly delay construction of the base inasmuch as the agreement has already been signed and my bill is simply a matter for the Congress to decide.—(4) An appropriation of $550,000 has already been made for planning and engineering. I received approval for this in the Senate Appropriations Committee. So all that remains to be done is for the State Administration to purchase the land and transfer title to the Department of Defense. Once that key step is completed, the construction of the base will begin.—The Federal government is ready to move just as soon as the State completes its action.—I appreciate the many letters I have already received from many Minnesota taxpayers in support of my bill to reimburse the State of Minnesota for the purchase of the land.

The Session In Review

This has been an unusually long session of Congress. At times, the months of Committee hearings and sessions have seemed endless, but much has been accomplished. In the opening weeks of the session, we debated and adopted the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East. Although this important decision in foreign policy occurred only a few months ago, we can say "so far — so good." We have made friends and have decisively reduced Communist effectiveness in that part of the world.

* * *

From the very first Committee session, I, as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, predicted and worked for a reduction of from $3 billion to $3½ billion in the proposed budget. It now appears that by the time we recess, we will have effected about a $3,300,000,000 reduction. This I believe we can do without weakening our defense or our foreign policy.

* * *

Civil Rights has been the most widely publicized issue of the session. At this writing, the House has not taken action on the Senate version of the bill. However, for the first time since the Civil War era, the Senate has passed a Civil Rights bill. I endeavored to obtain a strong and effective bill and opposed all crippling amendments.

Winter Wheat Not Reliable

None of the winter wheat varieties are reliably winter-hardy in southwestern Minnesota, according to R. G. Robinson, University of Minnesota agronomist. Trail plots on the Norman Thompson farm farm near Rushmore this year showed severe damage from winter-killing on winter wheat. In general, winter wheat can be expected to severely winter-kill about a third of the time in that section of the state, Robinson says.

Floods Show Need

On sloping land, terraces, along with grass waterways or diversion ditches helped prevent soil erosion in Minnesota areas hard hit by floods and heavy rains early this summer. George Black and Curtis Overdahl, soils scientist and extension soils specialist, respectively at the University of Minnesota, add that contour plowing and planting alone, were effective on short slopes. But these measures alone didn't keep heavy runoff from doing some damage under such extreme conditions.

Fertilizer Helps

Norman Week, Evansville, supervisor of the Douglas soil conservation district, reports good results with fertilizing reed canary grass. He fertilized 10 acres with 300 pounds of 6-24-12 per acre and pastured the field in 1956. Cattle pastured the fertilized reed canary grass well, he says—and like it much better than non-fertilized grass.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

I suppose there is no subject which has been of more interest to the people of Minnesota, country and city alike, than that of daylight saving time. Many hundreds of letters have come to the Governor's office, and everywhere I've gone around the state people have commented about it. The comments range from those of businessmen, who are pleased at being better able to maintain contact with other areas of the country, to those of citizens who enjoy golf and fishing and family recreation in the extra hour of daylight, to those of mothers . . . including Mrs. Freeman . . . who have the problem of getting children to bed while it's still light, to those of farmers who find it difficult to adjust to the changed schedule.

Points on Both Sides

In the main, it seems to me that the give and take on daylight saving time has been in good humor and good taste. Everyone seems to understand that there is something to be said on both sides of the question.

Now that we approach the start of school, a problem concerning rural children presents itself. If, as many seem to fear, daylight saving time will mean children leaving home while it is still dark and waiting for buses on darkened roads, then this is indeed a serious matter and one that the legislature considered only incidentally in passing the law setting up daylight saving time.

What the Governor Thinks

Because I have received so much mail about this, I think that a review of the legislature's and the governor's actions are in order. You will recall, I'm sure, that for almost a week the legislature devoted almost exclusive attention to a consideration of daylight saving time.

While this debate went on, I took no position. Frankly, I have had mixed emotions about daylight saving time. I can sympathize with the businessman, seriously handicaped by conflicting times in dealing with other parts of the country and with those in the transportation and communication industries who must do the same. On the other hand, having spent most of my summers working on a farm while growing up, I realize the inconvenience of our farm people. Then, too, the problem of getting children to bed so they will have adequate rest is one I've had in my own home.

I followed what was virtually unanimous legislative opinion in signing the day-light saving bill.

Early Return to Standard Times

However, my review of the effect of this law on school children led me to believe that it would be beneficial if the closing date for daylight saving time was advanced to September 29. The attorney general studied the law and handed down a decision saying that the Governor had the power to issue an Eexcutive Order changing the closing date for daylight saving time.

Again I wish to say that our people have been open-minded, reasonable and tolerant of one another even though differing in opinion. This spirit of cooperation is a good example of the reason why we have generally good government in Minnesota.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare University of Minnesota

Speech is a part of the total personality, just as good-nature, patience or irritability. If you watch a person closely as he speaks, first to one and then another, the responses seem similar, because the manner of speaking gives clues to what he really feels about himself and how he expects others to respond.

Confident speech budgets confidence; discouraged speech discourages; whining irritates; and buoyancy perks up others instantly. These powers of speech hold even for adults, who have learned their styles of speech over a long period of time and have learned, at least in part, to "dress up" or to conceal their true feelings, to make their speech sound objective, or even at times deceptive, according to their motives.

Children, lacking the sophistication to be subtle, and lacking the maturity to be abstract, use a directness and a concreteness in speaking which puts them in a particularly defenseless position. They blurt out exactly what they think and feel when older persons would either keep still or say things differently.

Thus, children are constantly giving "leads" as how to criticize them where it hurts most. Or they try to overcome feelings of rejection by loud, emphatic speech, or to avoid being conspicuous by low, halting, monotonous speech. To complicate matters still further, the worse they feel, the more apt they are to draw quick critical responses from what they have said badly. Frequently stuttering or other nervous habits appear, and these in turn call for more critical responses.

Much importance must be attached to the way early talking is received and to the models of speech which the young child has around him. For he will be judged by his speech as much as by any single characteristic he possesses.

Time is well spent which gives any child a clear, pleasant way of expressing himself. Overlooking his early stuttering, really listening to what he says, avoiding touchiness toward his directness, failing to invade the privacies he inadvertently "spills," laughing with him when he seeks laughs, and feeding back to him cleverly devised "tips" are family aids toward giving the child's personality the gift which effective speech provides.

Council Acts on Heavy Grist of Business

Tentative [illegible] for Public [illegible] in Chris [illegible]

In a lengthy [illegible] session that continued [illegible] a.m., the city council Tuesday night disposed of a large amount of matters brought up for consideration.

A report was read from the three-member fact-finding panel recently named to investigate the circumstances surrounding the dismissal of Chris Kierk as manager of the local airport. The panel members reported that they had been unable to reach a unanimous agreement, and they recommended that a public hearing be held, probably on September 9, if a court reporter will be available at that time. The council agreed to the proposal. The hearing will be conducted by the panel.

Appearing in behalf of the Pennington county statehood centennial committee, Bill LaFave and Robert J. Lund asked that the city take steps to acquire a seven-acre tract east of the Eighth st. bridge and south of Highway 1, which would be developed by the state highway department as a roadside parking area with a monument to be erected by the state commemorating the historic Squaw Point area. Half of the tract is owned by the Myrin family, and the other half by the Longren family.

While approving the plan in general, the council suggested the advisability of the county board taking the initiative in the matter, and expressed willingness to confer with the board.

Given its first reading was a proposed ordinance incorporating into the city code that part of the state law prohibiting the obtaining of non-intoxicating malt liquor by minors. A final reading was given to an amendment to the theatre ordinance, reducing the annual license fee to $10, followed by adoption.

Approved by the council were

Rotary District Governor Praises Work of Local Club

C. C. Smith Commends Club's Participation in Student Exchange Plan

"Rotary clubs in 102 countries of the free world are united in an endeavor to foster international understanding, good will, and peace." That was the message of C. Collier Smith, Hibbing, governor of the 558th district of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary club of Thief River Falls Monday. His address followed a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen.

Governor Smith commended the local club on its record of participation in the student exchange program. The state of Minnesota alone has supported 30 per cent of the national total of this worthwhile activity in recent years, he said, and Rotary clubs in the state are responsible for nearly half of the state's total.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 9,500 clubs within their own communities, Governor Smith explained, Rotary International has spent more than $2,500,000 in recent years through its program of student fellowships. These fellowships enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as Rotary ambassadors of good will.

In recent years 975 Rotary fellowships have been awarded to students in 61 countries for study in 32 countries, with grants averaging about $2,500. In this area fellowships have been awarded to four students. Another fellowship is to be awarded in this district this year.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 448,000 business and professional executives in 102 countries of the free world, regardless of differing nationalities or political or religious beliefs," the Rotary District governor emphasized.

Teachers, Business People to Join in B-E Day, Thursday, Aug. 29

A total of 114 teachers representing public and parochial schools in Thief River Falls and 34 local businessmen will get together next Thursday, August 29, for the second annual Business-Educational Day (B-E day.)

The program will begin at 9 a.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium with a welcome address by by the members of the Chamber of Commerce B-E day committee of which Rudy Mehlhoff is chairman. Other members of the committee are R. S. Eidevik, Les Ihle, Irwin Mickelson and Don L. Olson.

The primary objective of the program is to enhance appreciation and expansion of the American economic system and the American system of education by:

1) Giving teachers first-hand experience in the productive, distributive and service agencies of the community.

2) Helping teachers and businessmen to understand each others' contribution to the community's progress.

3) Equipping teachers to give students counsel and guidance based on actual needs and opportunities in their community.

After the group has assembled at the high school each of the 24 businessmen will escort a group of teachers to his place of business. The owner or manager will then give an introduction of employers and a short account of the company's history and growth. A tour of the departments will include an explanation of merchandise operations; buying and selling; construction, stock control etc.

The owner of each establishment will take his guests to lunch, after which the groups will re-assemble at the same points for an afternoon session of questions and talks with the businessmen.

Four aspects of free enterprise and the American economy will be discussed: "Employment and Training Procedures," "How We Sell," "The Problems of Business" and "What Business and Industry Contribute to This Community."

After the afternoon session a teachers reception will be held in the Northrop school cafeteria at 3 o'clock.

Schools Here Open Tuesday, September 3d

All-time High Mark in Enrollment for Fall Term Expected

With the opening of the Thief River Falls public schools scheduled for Tuesday, September 3, an all-time high enrollment is anticipated, Supt. Irwin Mickelson stated today.

He added that, with the spacious new Washington grade school ready for occupancy and the area vocational school addition nearing completion, the local school district will be better able than for a number of years to cope with the increased enrollment.

Completion of the new grade school facilities has made it possible to move the junior high school from the Lincoln building to the old Washington structure, thus making additional space available for senior high school classes. The industrial arts department will be moved from the old portion of the Lincoln building to the vocational school, making a room available for junior high science, while the former woodworking room will be utilized for a vocal music room.

Paul E. Anderson, high school director, reminded students that they should be prepared to pay their $3 activities fee on the first day of school, and he stated that any students who may wish to change courses for which they have previously registered should confer with either the senior or junior high school principal before the end of next week.

Kermit Eastman, director of elementary education, said that grade school pupils who are new in this city should register with him at the Knox school before Sept. 3. His office is at the left of the main entrance on Knight av.

Eastman also reminded parents that kindergarten pupils new to this city, and first graders who did not attend kindergarten here must present valid birth certificates at the opening of the term.

Kindergarten pupils from the rural areas, it was announced, will attend afternoon sessions, being picked up by buses at noon and returning home on the bus after school.

Art courses are being offered this year in junior and senior high school, while French will be taught for the first time in senior high school and business relations is a new junior high school subject.

Lincoln high school will be the scene of a three-day faculty workshop starting next Wednesday, August 28. Thursday, the 29th, the teachers will be guests of local businessmen at the second annual Business-Education Day, details of which will appear in Monday's edition of the Times.

C. W. Rodekuhr Again to Head Polio Chapter

Mabey Reappointed to Direct 1958 Fund Campaign in County

Members of the Pennington county chapter of the National Federation for Infantile Paralysis met Tuesday afternoon in the Terrace room of the Rex Cafe to elect officers for 1958 and to outline future activities of the chapter.

Re-elected for the coming year were C. W. Rodekur, president, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, vice president; and Oscar A. Nelson, treasurer. Several people were nominated for the position of secretary but no definite appointment was made. This position will be filled in the near future.

Richard Mabey, announced that $3,050.36 had been turned in to national headquarters of the foundation, representing Pennington county's contribution to the 1957 March of Dimes campaign. Mabey accepted appointment as chairman of the 1958 fund drive.

One of the main topics of discussion was the problem of distributing and financing polio shots in the country.

To prevent the accumulation of surplus vaccine it was suggested that a program be set up whereby people interested in starting, or completing the Sauk vaccine series would register at a clinic or other designated points.

It was agreed that this method would insure the correct balance between the suply and the demand.

According to a box score report on the Salk vaccine series made by the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, out of an estimated 109 million Americans age 39 and under 70 million had started the inoculation series. Of the 70 million who had started the series 17 million had one shot; 31 million had two shots and 22 million had taken all three. This means that 64 percent of the population under 40 years have started the Salk series: 20 percent have completed the series; 29 percent had two shots and 16 percent had one.

A committee was appointed to take a polio census in the county. Members named on the committee are Mrs. Margaret Race, Mrs. Harold Rasmussen and Mrs. Sagmoen. The committee working with the state will make a complete list of former polio victims in the country—old and new residents—to be sent to the National Foundation.

The purpose of the survey is to find out what has been done for these pre-vaccine victims and to find out what can be done for them in the future.

The cases will be reviewed in the light of recent medical and scientific innovations to determine if there is any future aid possible for the victims.

'Murdock' to Be Name Used with Dial Phones for Local Exchange

Why was the name, 'Murdock" selected by Northwestern Bell Telephone Company to designate the central office in Thief River Falls effective with the change to dial telephone service Sunday, September 8?

For the benefit of anyone who may be wondering, A. K. Bacon, Thief River Falls manager, offers this explanation:

The new telephone numbering system at Thief River Falls is part of a nationwide numbering plan, which has been established for the United States and Canada. This community will have the same kind of telephone numbers now being adopted or already in use in more than 2,000 other cities and towns.

The uniform numbering system is necessary for operators distance dialing, a faster method of handling long distance calls whereby operators are able to dial numbers in distant cities straight through to their destination without the help of other operators along the way.

This system designates central offices by names, and customers get numbers of two letters and five figures incorporating the central office name. Thief River Falls customers' new numbers will consist of MU (for MUrdock) 1, plus four other figures, the MU 1, representing the central office designation, and the last four figures identifying the individual customers.

A list of central office names suitable for operator distance dialing has been made up as part of the uniform numbering plan. Factors taken into consideration in selecting these names include: The name be reasonably short (not more than

School Board Buys Winter Supply of Coal and Fuel Oil

Miss Bessie Sedlacek, Veteran Teacher Here, Has Resigned Position

The Thief River Falls board of education, at its August session Monday evening, accepted low bids for the winter's supply of coal and fuel oil, and confirmed the appointment of four new teachers.

The board accepted the bid of Osborne-McMillan Elevator Co. to supply washed screenings at a price of $17.55 per ton, and also accepted the bid of the Consumers Co-op association to furnish No. 5 fuel oil for the new Washington school at 11.21 cents per gallon.

Supt. Others to be replaced are Gene Sack, social studies teacher and coach, and Miss Mary McLaughlin, instructor in the practical nursing course in the area vocational school, both of whom have resigned.

New teachers whose appointments were confirmed Monday include Louise Anderson of Bemidji, graduate of Bemidji state college, who will teach cosmetology in the vocational school; Dorothy Halvorson of Thief River Falls, graduate of Bemidji state college, an elementary teacher; Frank Kne of Aitkin, who will teach American history; and Olaf Dahlen of this city, who will instruct in auto mechanics at the vocational school.

Library Art Display Shown until Sept. 1st

Lovely, interesting and colorful—these were some of the descriptive remarks registered at the Carnegie public library concerning the current art exhibit.

The exhibit, valued at over $400, is on loan from the collection of the University of Minnesota art gallery and will be on display until September 1st.

The theme of the art show, "The Flower In Art," 19 large oil reproductions by 17 19th century masters, represents the major art schools of the period—modern, post-impressionist and classic. Included in the exhibit are the works of Cezanne, the father of modern art; Braque, Monet, Renoir and Van Gogh.

Speaking for the historical society, the organization sponsoring the exhibit, Judge Herman Kjos said the show will be a preview of other fine art exhibits the society hopes to arrange in the future.

The show was arranged early in the summer by a member of the Times staff as an experiment to find out what percentage of the population in the city of Thief River would take the time to view an art exhibit, and what their reaction would be. According to statistics there are in every city a certain percentage of the population that appreciate the fine arts. This percentage is not large—about 8 to 14 percent—when compared to the total population.

The question is: What is the percentage in Thief River Falls? People who attend the exhibit are asked to sign the register to make this information available.

To aid the historical society in arranging exhibits in the future people are also asked to list in the remark column their reaction to the show and what type of exhibits they would like to see in the future.

Bride Is Baudette Shooting Victim

Mrs. James Garrity, 21, Dies of Revolver Shot

A bride of less than one year died in a Baudette hospital Monday night, one hour after a small caliber revolver held by her husband discharged accidentally.

She was Mrs. James Garrity, 21, who was felled by a single bullet as she sat, sewing, in her living room. She was to have become a mother in six months.

Her distraught husband, also 21, said he was fitting shells into a newly-purchased .22 calibre weapon when it fired unexpectedly. He rushed his wife to the community hospital where she died from loss of blood from the wound in her neck.

The Garritys came to Baudette recently from Chicago. He is employed as a mechanic on a radar installation being made there.

Otto Hubachek, Baudette police chief, said an inquest would be held. He said the husband was under such shock he could not be questioned Monday night. Garrity was not held.

Young Critics View Exhibit

Van Gogh's "White Roses" or Braque's "Peonies" — that is the question. Is Van Gogh too violent or is Braque too modern? And look at Van Gogh, does he rely entirely on color and surface texture to achieve unity? Ah, I wonder what ever happen to the classic painters? Well, this isn't exactly how the conversation went between Margaret Wurst, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wurst, city, and Deborah Dryden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dryden, when they reviewed the current art exhibit at the Carnegie public library last Tuesday.

Actually they were both eating a popsicle at the time and were probably both wondering what to do with the wrapper. But they did stop in at the library and they did take time out to look at the exhibit. And what's wrong with being modern: popsicles and art go together nicely.

Schedule of Winter Wheat Payments for Soil Bank Announced

An average payment rate of $21.96 per acre has been set for Pennington county under the Soil Bank's 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program, according to Oscar J. Houske, chairman, county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee.

Per-acre rates for individual farms will be based on the county average rate, but will vary among farms primarily according to the relative productivity of land "reserved" under the program, the chairman explained.

"Individual farm per-acre rates will be available before Acreage Reserve agreements are signed," Mr. Houske stated. "These rates and the Soil Bank base for the farm both will be made known to the farmer before he signs an agreement to take part in the program. The farm's Soil Bank base will be determined primarily on the basis of the average acreage of land devoted to Soil Bank base crops (generally, all crops produced for harvest on a farm, except hay crops) during 1956 and 1957.

"Farmers who sign agreements to participate in the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program will agree to reduce their acreage of wheat below the allotment and also not to exceed a "permitted acreage" for total harvested crops on their farms. In general, the "permitted acreage" is the farm's Soil Bank base less the land put in the Soil Bank.

"The primary objective of the Soil Bank program", Houske declared, "is to help cut down accumulated surpluses. The 'permitted acreage' establishes a limit on harvested crops on the farm, and is intended to prevent shifts from a surplus crop to another crop, which only contributes to overall surpluses." The signup period for winter wheat will close Oct. 4.

David Thorstad Given Audition

David Thorstad recently accompanied Mrs. Max Jensen to Minneapolis and was auditioned in the Mac Phail School of Music Auditorium by Florence Reinmuth of the faculty of Mac Phail School. David is preparing a concert program to be given at a later date.

Voices Thanks for Convention Aid

Mrs. I. R. Geving, Chairman, Expreses Appreciation

In behalf of the local committee on arrangements for the annual convention of the Minnesota State Horticultural society in this city last weekend, Mrs. I. R. Geving, chairman, thanked all who contributed to making the convention a success. She said: "The Thief River Falls and Wabeganisen Garden clubs thank all neighboring towns for their fine support in every way possible and Badger Garden club and Roseau club, that took part in the program. To the Minn. Forestry Dept. of Warroad for interesting display of trees; Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Belch, merchants, Floral shops of this city, the Times and other newspapers and radio stations in the 9th district that helped make this convention a great success. 296 persons were registered and the displays from 20 different clubs of 36 in this dist. helped make it a beautiful setting."

"To James Solsten and his string orchestra, Lions Four and Zion Ladies Aid that made the banquet so delightful. The state officers were very much pleased with the program and our city and many admired our clean and nice yards."

Conservation Payments to Be Made Next Year

The Pennington county ASC office has just received notice from the Soil Bank division of Commodity Stabilization Service in Washington, D. C., concerning the issuance of sight drafts by county offices for annual payments due under Conservation Reserve contracts. They feel it is not possible to fully determine compliance with all contract provisions until late in the year, therefore annual payments for complying with contract provisions in 1957 will be made after December 31, 1957.

Working Children Tax Status Given

May Earn $600 and Still Be Claimed as Dependent

Parents of youngsters who are working during the summer vacation were reminded today by A. R. Knox, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, that under certain circumstances their children may still be claimed as full exemptions for federal income tax purposes. And the children themselves may be entitled to refunds in whole or part of income taxes withheld from their wages during their employment.

The special exemption rule, Mr. Knox explained, applies to children who will still be under 19 years of age at the end of the year and to children who are full-time students, regardless of their age.

Exemption may be claimed by the parents if they contribute more than half the child's support, regardless of the amount earned by the child. This new law was passed by Congress in 1954, Mr. Knox explained. Prior to 1954, no person earning $600 or more could be claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer. Inquiries received, however, indicate that many who are entitled to this benefit are not aware of it. Some parents continue to have their dependent children stop work before earning $600.

Children 19 and over must be engaged in full-time study at a recognized educational institution for at least five months of the year or must be pursuing a full-time accredited on-farm training program.

Mr. Knox said that any questions regarding individual cases should be referred to the District Office at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Speedway Opens Sunday

Next Sunday at 2 p. m. Bud Mercier, flagman for the Northwestern Racing association will wave the green flag and 10 local drivers will match skill and speed with a field of 17 drivers from the Northwest and Canada. The above picture was taken at a trial run held last Tuesday at the Thief River Speedway. The speedway is located 3 miles west of the city on Highway No. 1.

G. Forks to End Fast Time Sept. 2

The return of Grand Forks to standard time on Labor Day, Sept. 2, was assured Monday night by action of the city council. Originally the city was to remain on daylight time until Oct. 26.

Comments by councilmen during a brief debate made it appear doubtful that the city will try daylight time again next spring, although an ordinance calls for fast time annually for the summer months.

Four Cattle in Area Are Rabies Victims

While in Thief River Falls early this week, Dr. Mark Field of the Minnesota state livestock sanitary board stated that several cases of rabies in cattle have been reported to the state office from this city during the past few weeks.

Latest cases to be reported, said Dr. Field, broke out in the herd of Henry Gronvold of the Holt community, where three calves died of the disease, the last one August 14.

Previously a bull on the Morris Moen farm at Newfolden had been a victim of rabies, and Moen, who had been exposed to the disease, is receiving anti-rabies treatment at a Thief River Falls clinic. There have been no human fatalities from rabies in Minnesota since 1917.

Three cases of rabies in animals were reported last week in the vicinity of Ulen.

Dr. Field offered the following suggestions in dealing with rabies:

Do not kill an animal, suspected of rabies, by shooting or mutilating the head. An uninjured brain is necessary for diagnosis.

Do not let suspected animals go unreported. A veterinarian should be contacted to investigate.

Report to a physician immediately when there is any human involvement for treatment of wounds inflicted, and so that the animal, if domestic, may be confined and watched closely for a period of 14 days.

Have animal pets immunized against rabies even if existing ordinances do not require such by law.

Do not break any of the terms of a state quarantine when imposed upon a township or area.

ten building permits, calling for a stated expenditure of $42,800, and including new dwellings to be erected by Herman Loberg, 1305 Arnold av. N.; Bernhard Ranum, 1309 Arnold av. N.; and Mrs. Inga Berg, 106 Spruce av N.; and also providing for a $7,500 addition to the Kiewel Products Co. plant on West First st.

It was voted to advertise for bids on the winter's supply of stoker coal for municipal buildings, the bids to be opened September 17. On that same date, bids will be opened on a new police car to replace the present car, which has traveled 56,000 miles.

The fire department advised the council of the resignation of Olaf Dahlen as a regular fireman, and the civil service commission recommended Richard O'Hara as a replacement, effective August 31. Approval was given the appointment.

The council also acted favorably on the recommendation of the police civil service commission that Richard Nelson be appointed a patrolman, effective September 1. Nelson, 29, is married and the father of three children. He served in the Navy in World War II.

Douglas Stewart, city engineer, reported he had been notified by the state highway department that it will be necessary for the city to set up a system of priorities for work to be done on city streets included in the new state aid system. Stewart said that the local system includes 12 streets made up of about 60 segments. The matter was referred to Stewart and the street advisory committee.

Murdock Name to Be Used with TRF Dial Telephones

three syllables), easy to spell, in common every day usage, familiar everywhere, and not subject to misunderstanding due to variations in pronunciations or accent in different parts of the countdy. To avoid confusion, the name must not be the same as the name of the community or of a state, and the name must not have doubtful merit from a phonetic standpoint. Also, the name must be different than that of nearby central offices.

For a number of technical reasons, telephone engineers found it necessary to have the Thief River Falls central office name start with "M", "N", or "O" for the first letter and "T", "U", or "V" for he second letter—which is the same as "6" and "8" on the dial. The list of approved central office names starting with these letters include the following: MUrdock, MUrray, MUseum, MUtual, OVerbrook or OVerland. Taking all factors into consideration, it was decided that "MUrdock" suited the community best.

70 Prospects Report for First Football Practice at Lincoln

Thirteen lettermen—Larry Gaulen, Jimmy Nelson, Ken DeLap, Jimmy Jennes, Ken Jones, Dave Rasmussen, Don Edstrom, Bob Jorstad, Ken Sauve, Phil Hanson, Harold Froehle, Lynn Nicholson, Mike Poole and Bernard Borgie—were in the squad of more than seventy PROWLER hopefuls who reported to coaches Joe Mrkonich, Ralph Skay, and Dick Edlund as the 1957 football practice session began this week.

The first game on the attractive eight-game schedule, and which will find the Prowlers five of these games on the "home" field, will open on Friday night, Sept. 6th, when Norm Galloway's Fergus Falls Otters meets the locals on the new athletic field.

The most pressing problem facing the Prowler coaches as they send the squad through strenuous two-a-day practice sessions, will be to develop a strong backfield. From last season's backfield, which had Jim Iksla at quarterback, Ross Sloan and Rasmussen at the halves, and Bob Rosengren at fullback, only Rasmussen is returning for this season's campaign, the other three boys being graduated.

In preliminary drills to date, the Prowlers have lined up with a first string backfield consisting of Phil Hanson at quarterback, Rasmussen and Lynn Nicholson at the halves, and Borgie at fullback.

The 1957 Prowler football schedule, for the A and B squads:

Cities Service Girls Win Playoff Title Wednesday

City League Champions Overcome Medics' Lead to Win by 16-15 Score

The Cities Service girls' softball team added the playoff title to their City league championship when, on Wednesday evening on the East Side diamond, they defeated the Medics, 16 to 15.

In a hectic game played on the Lincoln high school field on Tuesday evening, the Cities Service, in a game that went into eight innings, edged out the Medics, 22 to 20. The game was the first of the best-of-three finals, and when the Cities Service scored a win on Wednesday evening they closed out the series by a margin of two games to zero.

In Wednesday evening's final, the Medics gained a commanding lead in the early innings, but the heavier hitting Cities Service with Mary Jo Froehle, Mary Kay Looker, and Liz Poole, wielding power-packed bats, overcame the Medics lead in the last half of the 7th inning. Looker's line smash into left field scored the game-winning run.

Bagley Wins North Minny Playoffs

Defeat Fosston 11 to 2 in Last Game Wednesday

The Bagley Merchants, champions of the Northern Minnesota baseball league, closed out the league playoffs on Wednesday night when they trounced Fosston, 11 to 2, in a game on the Fosston diamond. In the league playoffs, Bagley posted a three wins and no losses record.

As a result of their playoff triumph, Bagley will represent the Northern Minny league in the Region 2B Class B tournament which will be played at Ada starting on Thursday night, August 29th. In a first round game, and a tournament opener, Bagley will meet the representative of the Norman-Polk league on Thursday night, August 29th. Game time at 8.00 p.m.

Except for the 1st inning, when Fosston bunched four of the nine hits they secured during the game, Bagley's righthanded Dave Severud was in control of the game. Fosston, on those four safeties, scored two runs in the top half of the 1st inning, but Bagley evened the tally in their half of the 1st frame, and then moved away from the jittery Fosston nine.

56 Prowlers Turn Out For First Practice

Last Monday 56 Prowlers were on the field for the first practice session of the 57-58 football season. Coach Joe Mrkonich expects the squad to total about 90 by the time the first game comes up on Sept. 6th, with Fergus Falls. The above picture was taken near the end of Monday's practice session when Mrkonich, center, began to line up his men according to the position they will try out for. The squad will practice twice each day until school opens.

"Come On Men . . . Drive, Dig, Push

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Skay's the Name

The Lincoln high school athletic director's name is pronounced as Ralph Skay. And since last week it is to be spelled as Ralph Skay, too. That's right, SKAY.

Ralph, with a young son growing up, decided that this youngster of his wasn't going to have the pronunciation troubles that Ralph has experienced through the years, so he petitioned the court, and paid a fee, to change the spelling of his surname, Skjod to Skay. The request was granted.

So make a note of the fact that if you have occasion to write to Ralph, or to use his name in a written communication, that it's Ralph Skay.

Incidentally, the Prowlers' head football coach will continue to spell his name as Joe Mrkonich; and he'll pronounce it as Joe Mrkonich.

Entitled to the Courtesy

It isn't customary for us to make a plea to local golfers to attend an out-of-town tournament, but we do hope that a sizable delegation of local divot diggers will make the short trip to Roseau on Sunday for the shortstop tourney being held there.

The Roseau golfers have been very faithful in attending the tournaments that have been held here, and they are entitled to the courtesy of a return visit by our golfers. It's true that the local club doesn't have very many tournament golfers, but special consideration is due to the Roseau club, and it is hoped that a dozen or so of the local club's members will make the trip.

According to present plans, the championship flight will have a couple of local entries in Stan Larson and Phil LeGault.

It's Official

The New York Giants baseball club, by an 8 to 1 vote of its board of directors, voted to accept the offer of the city of San Francisco, and will move their National League franchise to the coast city next season.

This action by the Giants was, apparently, like a stab in the back to the Minneapolis "big league" promoters. In their resentment at the Giants action, they act as if Horace Stoneham double-crossed the Minneapolis delegation. Stoneham, who is president of the New York Giants, undoubtedly made the decision to move to San Francisco, but we don't believe that he's guilty of double-crossing the Minneapolis fans.

According to our opinion, and there are a number of fans who think as we do, the Twin Cities forfeited their right to a major league club when the stubborn Irishmen of St. Paul and the hard-headed Swedes and Norwegians in Minneapolis couldn't get together and build one stadium. Like two pettish school boys, the two groups went into a pout and built two stadiums. They didn't behave like prospective "big leaguers." They apparently do not realize that a major league team for the Twin Cities will be dependent upon the out-state fans for its success or failure at the turnstiles.

And don't be surprised if some smart operator, acting in behalf of some big league club, will begin buying up the Metropolitan stadium bonds, five or ten cents on the dollar. When controlling interest has been accumulated, the big league club will move into Minneapolis on its own terms.

That reminds us, we have several small wagers to collect, having taken bets that the Giants wouldn't move to Minneapolis. We're not so smart, though, for we have to pay off on the wagers we lost on the Giants never leaving New York.

Big league baseball nowadays is big business. And dont' forget it.

Pea Soup

Our operative in charge of making reports on the walleye pike fishing in Lake of the Woods, left a note on our desk to the effect that the fishing was slow to dead. And the reason for this falling off in the pike fishing was that the lake was "working" or, as is more commonly called, "blooming."

The guides up there expect that the first frost will clear off this "bloom" and bring the walleyes back into action. Let's hope so.

Stock Car Races Sunday Afternoon on Track Near City

Ten Local Drivers to Race with Speedsters from Other N.W. Cities

The fast, exciting spectator sport of stock car racing will make its first showing in this city next Sunday afternoon when a field of 17 drivers from the Northwest and Canada will match speed and driving skill at the grand opening of the Thief River Falls Speedway.

Speaking for the Northwestern Racing association, Bud Mercier, official flagman, announced that by race time Sunday bleachers to accommodate 600 or more spectators will be constructed on the track, located three miles West of the city on Highway 1.

There are two good reasons why Sunday's races should provide plenty of excitement for racing fans; first, the ten local drivers will be competing with veteran drivers from Crookston, Bemidji, Grand Forks, Park River and Canada; secondly, the banked construction of the quarter-mile track will make speeds up to 55 or 60 miles an hour possible.

Although the local drivers are a little short on experience they have the enthusiasm that should get them their share of the checkered flags.

The ten drivers representing the Northwestern Racing association will be Spud Manning, Red Monroe, Duane Manning, Larry Shetler, Donnie Joppru, LeRoy Whitson, Eric Hoard, Warren Stone, Bob Pahlen and Alan Torkelson.

The races wil get under way at 2 p.m. with time trials.

Potato Growers Will Vote on U. S. Market Agreement Shortly

A referendum to determine whether potato producers in the Red River Valley favor the issuance of a proposed marketing agreement and order will be held August 29, through midnight September 5. The program authorizes grade, size, quality, maturity, pack and container regulations on the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the Red River Valley.

Ballots and voting instructions will be mailed to all potato growers of record. Any grower who fails to receive a ballot by mail may secure one from his County Agricultural Agent. Voting will be by mail. To be eligible for counting, ballots must be received by the referendum agent not later than midnight, September 5, 1957.

Any producer who harvested and marked potatoes in the 1956 crop year (July 1, 1956 to July 1, 1957) may participate in the referendum. Owner-operators, renters, and landlords who received potatoes as rent for their land on which the potatoes were grown are defined as producers for the referendum. Business units such as partnerships, father-son partnerships, corporations, estates, firms, etc., may cast but one vote; but each separate business entity is entitled to a ballot.

All potato growers in the Counties of Pembina, Walsh, Cavalier, Towner, Grand Forks, Nelson, Steele, Traill, Cass, Richland, and Ramsey in North Dakota and of Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Pennington, Polk, Norman, Mahnomen, Wilkin, Otter Tail, Becker, and Clay in Minnesota are urged to cast their ballots. Under the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Act, the Secretary of Agriculture may issue the order only of two-thirds of the growers, either by number or volume of their production, voting in the referendum favor the program. The act is the basic authority under which Federal marketing agreements and orders are issued by the Secretary.

"The order sets up the framework within which the marketing committee of local growers may recommend and the Secretary may issue specific grade, size, quality, or maturity regulations and administer other provisions of the program. It is anticipated that the present State programs and the Federal program will work closely in cooperation. For instance, the Control Board under the State Federal marketing agreement committee will be made up of the same persons.

VA Explains Law on Payments to Veteran's Widow

A widow's income does not affect her eligibility for death compensation payments if her veteran husband died of a service-connected condition, W. B. Carroll manager of the Veterans Administration office in Fargo, said today.

Some misunderstanding may exist on this point, he explained.

"Death compensation," he added, "may be paid the widow of a veteran whose death was the result of his service. Her other income has no bearing on its payment."

"However," Mr. Carroll emphasized "income limitations do apply to VA death pension, which may be paid the widow of a wartime veteran who died of a non-service-connected condition."

$923,000 from U. S. to Aid with State Sewage Plants

State Commission Says Applications Are Due Before October 15th

About $923,000 will be allocated to Minnesota in the next 12 months to aid in building municipal sewage treatment plants, according to Dr. Robert N. Barr, secretary of the Minnesota water pollution control commission and executive officer of the Minnesota department of health. The funds, to be granted by the U. S. Public Health Service, are part of the second year's appropriations by Congress under the federal water pollution control act passed in 1956.

October 15, 1957 has been set by the pollution control commission as the last day for receiving applications to be considered for participation in the grants-in-aid program this fiscal year. The same criteria used by the commission in determining priorities for applications last year will be used this year. Both the financial need and present and potential water pollution hazards are taken into consideration by the commission in establishing these priorities.

Last year 45 municipalities in Minnesota applied for federal aid. These grant requests totaled over $2,850,000. However, only ten of the applications could be approved before the allotment of $929,000 was exhausted. Projects approved included Two Harbors, $121,527; Cambridge, $119,252; Grand Marais, $30,000; Northfield, $246,750; Park Rapids, $64,931; Bovey-Coleraine, $91,431; Clinton, $36,300; Wykoff, $38,277; Waterville, $103,661; and Mora, $77,300.

Ten of the municipalities which applied for grants last year, but had too low a priority to receive federal aid, went ahead without aid and now have sewage treatment projects under construction. These include Byron Elgin, Fairmont, Hampton, Kasson, Lake Wilson, Mountain Lake, Slayton, Truman, and Winthrop.

Requests for information on the grant program and application forms should be addressed to the Minnesota Department of Health, Section of Water Pollution Control, University Campus, Minneapolis 14.

Huge Minnesota Fair Set to Open Saturday

The biggest Minnesota State Fair in history is all set for its annual 10-day run, beginning Saturday and continuing through Labor Day, September 2.

Thousands of workers have been busy this past week completing preparations for the unveiling at 6 a.m. Saturday. A preview of sorts will be provided Friday, when I.M.C.A. speedway car qualifying trials are held on the half-mile race track in the afternoon and Royal American Shows presents a "shake-down cruise" of its new rides and side-shows from 6 p.m. to midnight.

This year's state fair will be a record-setter in many ways. Entries of open class and Future Farmers of America livestock are the greatest ever. Sale of exhibit space has been so brisk that a complete sell-out was recorded early this month. Premium offerings of more than $224,000 surpass the previous high by nearly 10 per cent. Twenty acres of additional parking space has been secured to handle peak weekend crowds.

The entertainment program is more elaborate than ever. Highlighting the list of "things to see' at the fair is the new night Grandstand show, West-O-Rama, a musical spectacular in a frontier setting which will be held the last nine nights of the exposition.

The richest purse in 51 years of state fair auto racing—$53,665—has attracted entries of more than 90 speedway car and stock car drivers for nine afternoon speed programs in front of the Grandstand. More than 7,500 new permanent seats have been installed in the center section of the Grandstand as part of a $150,000 "face-lifting" operation conductd since the last fair.

Approximately 1,400 horses have been entered by 400 exhibitors from 16 states and two provinces of Canada for the English and western Horse Shows in the Hippodrome. Ten shows will be on view, beginning Sunday night.

The first boxing show in the fair's 103-year history will be an opening Saturday night attraction. Del Flanagan of St. Paul will battle Ralph (Tiger) Jones in the 10-round main event in the Hippodrome.

Editorials . . .

"You don't have to preach honesty to men with a creative purpose. Let a human throw the energies of his soul into the making of something, and the instinct of workmanship will take care of his honesty. The writers who have nothing to say are the ones you can buy; the others have too high a price. A genuine craftsman will not adulterate his product. The reason isn't because duty says he shouldn't, but because passion says he couldn't."

Fast Tax Write-Offs End

Congress has agreed to curtail the fast tax write-off program for defense industries and discontinue it entirely by 1960. This action probably should have been taken several years ago.

The fast tax write-off is not in itself a vicious thing and probably was justified as a means of speeding up production in the war years. It enabled the favored industries to cut their immediate tax costs by the fast depreciation formula, and this reduced the government's tax revenue during those years.

But for tax purposes property can be depreciated to the extent of its full value only once, and whether a plant is written-off in five years or 25 makes little difference in the total amount of taxes actually paid.

A double standard of this kind cannot be justified except as an emergency measure however, and it is well that it now is on its way out. For whatever consolation we may get out of it, it is a fact that the companies that benefited during the war years by paying less taxes are now confronted with a proportionately higher tax burden.

Only As We Deserve Them

Canada's new Prime Minister has set up as one of his objectives the adoption of a Bill of Rights for Canadian citizens. This information comes as a surprise to us, having taken for granted that our neighbors already had such a charter of civil rights.

We are sure they already have the "rights" if not the charter, and that, after all, is the important thing. The rights are established in their traditions and customs and legal procedures. Putting the code into written form would mean no innovation.

Our country has a written Constitution, and we prize it highly as the basic law of the land and the safeguard of our liberties. But we know too that a written Constitution alone will not protect us from the dangers of either corruption or force.

The rise and fall of nations thruout the centuries of recorded history teach us that we will retain our liberties only as long as we deserve them.

Cuts Are Justified

Maybe there would be justification for calling a special session of Congress if ample funds to finance the administration's foreign aid policy are not appropriated by the present session. The administration, for instance, may have information which it should not divulge at this time, that would justify its demands. But from what limited information we have about world conditions we are not impressed by the urgency of the need and we think the curtailed expenditures now recommended in Congress should be ample.

This program of foreign aid should not be accepted as a permanent responsibility of our country. We are satisfied that the aid program has accomplished much good—that much of the cost can be justified by such selfish considerations as our own safety and security. We will agree that some foreign aid will be justified for many years to come. But surely, in looking back upon the progress that has been made in restoring order and production in the world, we should be encouraged to believe that as stability is being restored the need for aid will diminish.

The law of self-preservation is universal thruout nature, and it is axiomatic that the first consideration of all government agencies is to perpetuate and expand their own services. We suspect therefore that the prime concern of that mighty organization we have created to administer our foreign aid program is not to solve the problems, and bring an end to the need for their services, but rather to continually find new fields for ever expanding activities.

We think it would be well therefore if these agencies were kept constantly hard up and pressed for ready cash, as the rest of us generally are. When we have to scratch a little harder to make both ends meet then we are all a little more watchful over our spending.

The records are full of examples of foolish spending of our foreign aid dollars. This program has accomplished much good, but it has also done harm. A gradual slowing down of the program probably would be in the best interests of the rest of the world as well as our own country.

Natural Gas Costs

Natural gas is about to be made available to the city of Winnipeg, but there seems to be some doubt among the good citizens of that city as to whether or not natural gas is going to be beneficial. Evidently it is not going to be the low-cost fuel they had anticipated, and to this extent, of course, it's coming is a disappointment.

Commenting on the facts that had been brought out at a hearing on rates the Winnipeg Tribune observes:

> "Winnipeg looked forward for years to the coming of natural gas to this area because natural gas seemed to be an alternative economic fuel which would enable this city to compete more effectively with other centres. If the rates suggested by the company were approved, the advent of natural gas would probably harm rather than benefit this city.
>
> "Figures were produced at the hearings that indicated that the rates suggested by the company offered no inducement to householders to turn to gas as a more economical fuel. But perhaps more disturbing was the comparison in the rates for industrial purposes.
>
> "Early in the hearings, the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce urged that four principles be followed in setting rates for gas—the cost of natural gas should be competitive with other fuels in this area; the rates for gas for industrial purposes should be competitive with those in communities competing with Winnipeg; the rate schedules should provide for differentials for greater and continuous consumption; the utility should not expect to recoup losses in inaugurating service over any but a long term.
> "A rate schedule that did not meet these standards would almost certainly turn the advent of natural gas in this area into a profound disappointment."

It appears from the Tribune editorial that natural gas will be made available in some of the smaller cities of Manitoba at a lower cost than in the city of Winnipeg, so the problem may be largely at the local level. But the evidence indicates quite clearly that natural gas is no longer the bargain fuel that it was a few years ago.

Walter Reuther, head man of the auto workers union, last week called on the automobile industry to cut prices on its 1958 cars as a means of curbing inflation. For the same purpose, Reuther no doubt will be willing to forego his demand for another substantial wage increase.

Top Soil Saved

A "nightmare" of torrential rains on June 16 proved the value of terracing, contouring and strip cropping for Allen Anderson, farmer near Lake Benton, Minn. in the Lincoln county soil conservation district. "If I hadn't contoured and strip cropped, my topsoil would have eroded and more of my bottom land would have been flooded," Anderson relates. "Of course, after 9 inches of rain, you'd expect to get some flooding on lowland regardless of practices on higher fields," he adds.

Aids Small Farm

Good conservation practices are making an 80-acre farm pay off for Merton McKay Young, farmer in the East Fillmore Soil Conservation District. He has established terraces on 31 acres of cropland, developed a 1½ acre wildlife area and is following a 4-year rotation of corn-grain-sod-sod and uses a strip-grazing pasture scheme for 16 milk cows. He has filled gullies, established waterways, and installed diversion dikes above the farmstead, aided by Arnold Aakre, U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Does Well

Dollard clover is doing as well as or better than any other variety in trails this summer at the University of Minnesota's Southern School and Experiment Station, Waseca. That variety has good resistance to anthracnose, black stem and to some virus diseases. Dollard is a Canadian-developed variety, was available in limited amounts in Minnesota for the first time this year.

Hay Crusher

Rice County Agent Warren Liebenstein reports that several local farmers have cut field drying time in half by using a hay crusher. The result: hay has less chance to be rained on, it dries more evenly and less leaves are lost. John Olson, farmer near Faribault, left center swaths uncrushed in several fields this summer, found that without crushing the hay didn't dry half as fast. Crushed hay could be cut one day, put in the barn the next.

Vision must bring this young lady 83% of her knowledge—imagine the handicap if it is faulty! All too often, it is faulty. There is a strain hidden from her and you. Springs which must operate at elevated temperatures are often made of Inconel nickel-chromium alloy as this material retains its spring strength at temperatures up to 650 degrees Fahrenheit.

Boat fittings are made of Monel nickel-copper alloy because of its good resistance to salt water corrosion.

Gun Safety Parley Is Set for September 7

Guns, guns, and more guns will be on exhibit at the 2nd annual Governor's firearms safety conference at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis on September 7th. The largest display of hunting equipment in the Northwest will greet Minnesota's 5,400 volunteer firearms safety instructors who will be coming to the conference from every community in the state.

Out of the Old West there will be exhibited the original Colt Buntline used by Wyatt Earp, the Colt Navy with ivory grips used by "Wild Bill" Hickock, the first revolver used by the army in the Mexican war, and many more of America's history making firearms. The latest in army firearms will be shown as will be the top collectors items in the Northwest. All of the modern sport shooting and hunting guns will be on display by manufacturers throughout the nation. The exhibit wall will be open to the general public Friday evening, September 6th starting at 6:30 p.m.

Louis F. Lucas, deputy executive director of the National Rifle Association will be a special guest from Washington along with the N.R.A. training officer, Stan Mate. Commissioner of Conservation George A. Selk will start the main business sessions with an address. He will be followed by an array of special guests and timely discussions by the group on such subjects as "Should the Firearms Safety Program be Directed into the Schools." Commissioner of Education Dean Schweickhard will lead this discussion.

The days events will be concluded with an instructors appreciation banquet which was attended by 1,800 instructors last year. At the banquet there will be a presentation of the Governor's firearms safety awards that go annually to firms and civic organizations who have made outstanding contributions to the program in the past year. The coveted "Outstanding County" awards that were won last year by Clay and Lake counties will also be presented. Governor Orville Freeman will conclude the event with his address to the instructors.

To Honor Safety Leaders at Duluth

Annual Summer Meeting of State Safety Council Set Friday, August 23

A Duluth steelman, a Fergus Falls electrical worker and an Askov publisher will be honored for their work in the safety field when the Minnesota Safety Council conducts its 23rd annual meeting August 23 in Hotel Duluth, Duluth, Minn.

Presentation of "Service Recognition Awards" will be made by Governor Orville L. Freeman as part of an award presentation dinner which ends the day-long meeting.

The men to receive the awards are:

Harold Cope, Duluth, Manager of Operations of American Steel and Wire division, U. S. Steel Corporation. Executive Safety Chairman of the Duluth Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee for the Duluth Police and Fire Departments, promoter of the Duluth Industrial Safety Schools which have won national recognition.

Duane R. Poole, Fergus Falls, Safety Director of the Otter Tail Power company. Past president of the North Dakota Society of Safety Engineers and at present a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers. President of the Fergus Falls-Otter Tail county safety council.

Hjalmar Petersen, Askov founder and still publisher of the Askov American and an active member of the Minnesota Editorial Association. Former Governor of Minnesota and presently a member of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

The certificates are awarded by the Minnesota Safety Council in recognition of the personal sacrifices, the cooperative activities and the leadership of these men in various fields of accident prevention.

Three national awards of achievement for outstanding safety performance will be presented the state of Minnesota by Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, to Gov. Freeman who will make the principal safety address at the dinner.

Paralytic Cases of Polio Decline in U. S. Recently

The Public Health Service in Washington said Friday there were only 70 paralytic cases of polio among the 356 cases reported last week.

This compared with 360 paralytic cases alone in the comparative 1956 week, in which 876 cases of all kinds of polio were listed.

The service said the proportion of paralytic cases is running lower than it was earlier in the year and this is the time of year the disease is usually steadily increasing.

During the four weeks ended August 10 there were 243 paralytic cases among 1,173 cases of all kinds, or 21 per cent paralytic.

The report for the week ended July 13 had shown 37 per cent paralytic cases.

Between January 1 and August 10 there had been 973 paralytic cases among the 2,897 polio cases reported, compared with 2,993 paralytic among the 6,179 listed in the comparable span a year ago.

Newfolden School to Start Sept. 3

High Schol Students to Register August 30-31

The Newfolden community school will open on Tuesday, September 3, 1957 to commence the 1957-58 school term. High school registration will take place all day Friday, August 30, and on Saturday morning, August 31.

The first morning will be only a half day session with school opening at the regular time of 8:50 for the high school and 9:00 a.m. for the grades. The busses will run their usual schedule in the morning, and leave to take the children home at 11:00 a.m. the first day.

The first full day of school will begin Wednesday, September 4, with the hot lunch room operating for the first time this new school year. Hot lunches will be 15 cents per meal or $3 for a meal ticket of 20 meals. Tickets also will be on sale during the high school registration period, if the high school students wish to purchase their tickets at that time to avoid the rush for tickets on the first or second morning of school.

More complete details on the new school year, faculty, and bus routes will be announced later.

Pennington to Get $39,000 Road Money

Minnesota's 87 counties were informed last week that a total of $6,000,000 in federal aid secondary funds was being made available to them for use on their F. A. S. routes. These may be matched with counties road funds on a 50-50 basis for $12,000,000 in road improvements.

John H. Swanberg, chief engineer for the Minnesota highway department, informed the counties that distribution was being made in accordance with established formulas, with each county being credited with its proportionate amount.

Pennington county will receive $39,000 for use in programming construction projects on its F. A. S. routes. Marshall county will get $101,400; Red Lake $31,800; and Roseau $84,600.

Although these funds cannot be expended before July 1, 1958, the allocation is being made at this time, according to Mr. Swanberg, in order that counties may undertake advanced planning and thereby assure an uninterrupted improvement program.

Under the August 1 allotment of federal aid funds, a total of $7,126,583 was apportionated to Minnesota for use on F. A. S. roads. With the state turning over $6,000,000 to the counties, most of the balance will be available for use on secondary trunk highways in the highway department's construction program for next year.

During 1956, International Nickel spent more than $8,000,000 on exploration activities in search for new nickel ore deposits.

Forecasts are for a 25 per cent jump in the amount of petroleum used in this country over the next five years.

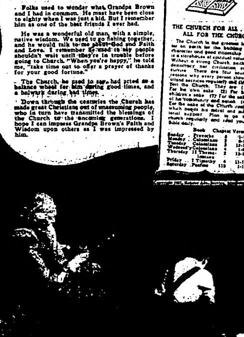
MY FRIEND



Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he used to say people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks for your good fortune."

The Church, he used to say, had acted as a balance wheel for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people, who in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to the oncoming generations. I hope I can impress Grandpa Brown's Faith and Wisdom upon others as I was impressed by him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Personal values color the language one speaks; for indeed it is just as hard to know what another person means if he speaks a different "value language" as if he speaks swahili. In some ways it is even harder because another's "value language" may contain the same words we use ourselves, but meant not at all as we mean them, and we are deceived by the familiar sounds into believing that we understand.

Value languages differ from child to child, and the values themselves are different, too. Then when adults try to "get through" to children with their own value language, what a gibberish of meaning emerges!

Four year old Louise: "Mother, I just saw a big owl in the backyard, and he'll bite me hard if you don't come out here while I swing."

Six-year-old Bill: "Mother, please don't walk to school with me every day. There is a law against it, and the kids will tell on me."

Ten year old Dick: "Dad, I made nine home runs today against the best team in town. Can I get a new glove, Dad? Can I?"

Thirteen year old Carol: "Mom, Mr. Gardner simply hates me. I'll never get through this math course."

Mrs. Reuther: "Wouldn't you just know I'd get a parking ticket today, the very first time I parked over-time?"

The values which Louise, Bill, Carol, and Mrs. Reuther hold—the they see and feel—made these comments, which they believe only partially themselves. They qualify them mentally in terms of their own personal values which none can share. Add to this Louise's fear, Bill's pride, Dick's need to boast and to get a new glove, Carol's adolescent extremism, and Mrs. Reuther's defense reaction, and also know that the importance or value of each of these motivating characteristics changes with age and experience, and there is small wonder that misunderstandings occur.

Regardless of age, to know better what a person values, is to be better able to catch the true meaning of what is said.

Deliveries of nickel in all forms by International Nickel in 1956 totaled 286,000,000 pounds, second only to the record high of 290,000,000 pounds delivered in 1955.

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, left, in his first official act as Secretary of the Treasury sold a $100 United States series E Savings Bond to outgoing Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, right, who was prohibited by law from acquiring Government securities as long as he was in office. Secretary Anderson is shown accepting a $75.00 check from Mr. Humphrey in exchange for the $100 Savings Bond. Mr. Humphrey said that he was "just delighted as my first act as a private citizen again to buy a Savings Bond and join the forty million other citizens who own these Bonds and prize them highly." The sale was made immediately after the two returned to the Treasury following Secretary Anderson's swearing-in in the presence of President Eisenhower and other top officials at the White House.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I am an older World War II veteran, and before long I expect to retire from my job. I plan to sell my GI house and move to the South. Would it be possible to have my GI loan rights restored so I could buy another home?

A—Yes. Retirement is considered in the same category as transfer of employment, and would warrant restoration of GI loan entitlement. However, the VA would have to be relieved of liability on the old guaranty.

Q—I have made arrangements to be admitted to a VA Hospital for treatment of a service-connected injury. I have no way of getting to the hospital, which is almost 100 miles from my home. Could the VA help me?

A—Yes. Government transportation to the hospital may be authorized. Also, when you are ready for discharge, you may obtain Government transportation home again.

Q—I am a Korea Veteran just out of service. I have service-connected dental condition that isn't severe enough to warrant compensation payments. Would I be eligible for VA outpatient dental care?

A—Yes, provided you apply within one year after your discharge. If your condition did not result from combat wounds or service injuries, you may be entitled to treatment only on a one time completion basis.

Q—I am a disabled Korea veteran. If I take vocational rehabilitation training, will I receive one VA check each month, the same as Korean GI Bill trainees, out of which I'm supposed to take care of all my training costs?

A—No. Under the vocational rehabilitation program, VA will pay all training costs directly to your school, and also pay you a monthly subsistence allowance, based on the type of training and the number of your dependents.

Although Canada has less than one per cent of the world's population, it leads the world in the production of newsprint, nickel and asbestos, and ranks as the sixth leading industrial nation of the world.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the Minnesota Historical Society

NEA In Minnesota

The National Education Association, founded at Philadelphia a hundred years ago in August 1857, had its first permanent home in Minnesota. Irwin Shepard, president of the Winona Normal School, became the association's secretary in 1893 and, since it had no national office, the records and files were transferred to his home at Winona. The organization grew so rapidly that by 1898 it needed a fulltime, permanent secretary. Shepard resigned his position as president of the Winona Normal School to become the first executive secretary of the National Education Association. He added a wing to his house to provide space for the association's file and carried on its work from his home until his retirement in 1912. The Shepard home still stands in Winona.

"Dixie" In St. Paul

Daniel Decatur Emmett, the famous minstrel and composer of many popular songs including "Dixie," was once a resident of St. Paul. Often during the 1850s and 1860s, he went there to visit his parents, who lived with his younger brother Lafayette C. Emmett, a prominent lawyer and chief justice of the Minnesota supreme court from 1858 to 1865. Dan Emmett was already famous when he arrived at St. Paul in 1857. He spent the summer there, playing in the "Old Gents' Band," which furnished music for "Sallie St. Clair's Varieties," a repertory group performing at Market Hall.

In April, 1858, Emmett and Frank Lumbard formed a minstrel or vaudville troupe which played regularly at Melodean Hall in St. Paul until it "went on tour" in July to Minneapolis, St. Anthony, and Stillwater, staying about a week in each place. After that, the group returned to St. Paul for the rest of the summer.

Emmett spent most of 1859 in New York City, and it was there that his best-known song, "Dixie," was published. The fact that it appeared so soon after he left St. Paul gave rise to the legend that it had been written in Minnesota, but Emmett himself said that he composed the song in New York.

In 1888, after a long and active theatrical career, he retired to a farm at Mount Vernon, Ohio, where he died in 1904 at the age of eighty-nine. His home is now a museum.

Dan Emmett In Minneapolis

An amusing incident, which occurred during the tour of Dan Emmett's Melodean Troupe thru Minnesota in 1858, is preserved in the pages of the "St. Paul Daily Times" for July 4, 1858.

Emmett's players gave their first Minneapolis performance on July 1 in Woodman's Hall. According to the newspaper, on the second night of their engagement, about "seventy-five lumbermen, most of whom belonged in St. Anthony," forced their way into the hall without paying the admission fee. Emmett quieted them by reminding them that "gentlemen wait for ladies to be seated" before taking their places. He told them they could sit in the back if they would be attentive, but that no more free admissions would be allowed. The performance was given on schedule.

The next night as patrons were assembling for the show, about a hundred and fifty "rowdy" sawmill employees were seen advancing toward the hall. The doors were quickly barred and those within armed themselves for the onslaught. Even the musicians joined in the fray, and the lumberjacks did not gain admittance.

The newspaper called upon decent citizens to defend themselves against what it called "the ruffian element," for it seemed obvious to the editor that the police were powerless. He was afraid that "no entertainments will come here for fear of violence," and, even if they did come, "gentlemen dare not take the ladies, and they do not like to go without them."

Temperance Pledges

One of the most troublesome problems facing Indian agents in Minnesota's early days was alcoholism among the Indians. R. G. Murphy, agent for the Sioux along the Minnesota River, wrote to James M. Goodhue, editor of the "Minnesota Pioneer," that the adulterated "trader's whisky" had been largely responsible for the Indians' "family quarrels, destroying each other's property, fighting and murdering each other." In a letter, which Goodhue published in his paper on August 23, 1849, Murphy said that two hundred and fourteen of his Indians had taken temperance pledges.

A list of the names of some of the Indians from each band who took the pledge for various lengths of time is appended to the letter. In the list may be found the names of many Indians who were already well known and of others who were later to become notorious. Little Crow, famous as the leader in the bloody Sioux Uprising of 1862, took a temperance pledge for four years. Rattle, Medicine Bottle, and other members of Little Crow's band who figured prominently in the uprising, took the pledge for "as long as Major Murphy is agent." The well known chiefs, Shakopee, Good Road, and Cloud Man pledged themselves not to drink for eight months, as did many of their men.

Murphy explained in his letter that he had secured the cooperation of some of the missionaries and agency personnel, so the list also includes the name of "J. F. Alton, missionary with Wacouta's band," whose pledge was to last for life." John Bush, Indian farmer for Red-wing's band, also took the pledge "for life." Others were not so ambitious, and one citizen pledged himself not to drink strong liquor only until December 31, 1849.

Agent Murphy reported that the Indians had been "very faithful to their pledges and that "much good" had been done.

Traffic Mishap Rate Improved Last Month

The downward trend in traffic fatalities which gave Minnesota its lowest fatal accident rate in 20 years for the first six months of 1957 continued lower during July for an even lower rate at the end of seven months.

Traffic deaths were down 37 per cent from the July 1956 figure as the state chalked up 52 deaths compared to the 82 during July of last year. "This monthly figure was the lowest July since 1947 when there were only 41 deaths," Harry A. Sieben, state traffic safety director reported.

The heavy drop in fatalities caused the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles traveled to drop to 4.6 from the 4.8 figure made during the first six months of 1957. At the same time the fatal accident rate drop from 3.8 to 3.7, the lowest figure reached since World War II.

"The death rate for Minnesota was almost 20 per cent better than the national rate", Sieben pointed out. "The latest national figure shows that for all states there is a rate of 5.5 fatalities for each 100 million vehicle miles. Our figure of 4.6 is not only better than the average for the nation, but is also better than any other of the upper midwest states."

Sieben also pointed out that 42 of the 52 deaths during July occurred outside of incorporated areas; only10 were in villages or cities. The 42 were on rural trunk and county or township roads which invariably have the larger number of fatalities.

2 Optometrists from City to Serve at Minnesota Fair

Drs. Beich and Gilbert to Administer Free Vision Tests to Drivers Sept. 2

More than fifty optometrists—members of the Minnesota Optometric Association—will spend many hours each at the state fair next week so that motorists will have a better indication of their own visual capacities. Included will be Dr. O. D. Beich and Dr. E. L. Gilbert of Thief River Falls, who will be on duty Labor Day, Sept. 2.

With the idea in mind that it is important for every driver to know his own visual capacities before getting behind the wheel of his car, the optometrists will set up a booth at the state fair so that any holder of a drivers license can get a free visual screening. The special booth will be set up in the upper grandstand of the fair near the ramp leading to the seats. The booth will be open beginning August 24, and will be in operation throughout the duration of the fair. It will be staffed by optometrists from all over Minnesota on a rotating basis.

"Our reason for this project," points out Dr. A. F. Tillisch, Sr., Minneapolis, president of MOA, "is that countless drivers and riders are being killed on our highways again this summer. We know that faulty vision is directly responsible for many of these deaths, and we hope that our state fair program will point out these facts in some small way, help to dramatize them."

Discount Rates on VA Home Loans Set

To Vary in Minnesota from Four to 4½ Per Cent

Permissable discounts on GI home loans, ranging from 2½ to 5½ points according to locality and amount of down payment, were announced by Veterans Administration August 5. For Minnesota the discount rate has been set at 4½ per cent with down payments of less than ten per cent, and 4 per cent with larger down payments.

VA control of discount rates on GI-guaranteed home loans is directed in the recently enacted Housing Act of 1957.

VA said discounts cannot be charged to a veteran buying a home under VA guaranty, but must be absorbed by the builder under the GI Bill. No allowance for the discount rate paid by the builder will be made by VA in appraising GI homes, the agency said.

However, in accordance with the new law, VA said it will limit the fees and other charges payable by the builder in obtaining construction financing.

Both builders and lenders will be required to certify they have not and will not impose any charges, fees, or discounts in excess of those permitted by the agency, VA said.

The new controls will apply to all GI homes for which appraisal requests are received by VA on and after August 5, 1957.

Other highlights of VA's discount control regulations are:

1. To get interim conventional construction financing, builders may pay 6 percent interest, a service charge of 2½ percent, and certain technical and miscellaneous expenses.

2. Builders may pay a commitment fee of 1 percent of the GI Loan to the lender making a loan to the veteran, or to the investor who agrees to buy the loan from the originating lender.

3. VA will not authorize builders to pay service fees or charges for "standby" or warehousing" agreements in excess of the allowable discounts.

4. The seller of a used home may pay the allowable discount and commitment fee.

Plan Family Farm Hearing in Area

Session Set for Nov. 9, Perhaps at Fergus Falls

Rep. Coya Knutson, member of the House agriculture committee, announced last week that the family farm subcommittee would visit this District on Saturday, November 9, in its tour of hearings scheduled for this fall.

"The future of the family farm", she emphasized, "will depend largely upon the feelings and attitudes, plus the statistics, put into the record in these hearings by family farmers themselves. The hearings will be of the broadest scope."

Fergus Falls is tentatively being considered as the site of the hearings, although Moorhead and Crookston are also under consideration. Fergus Falls is receiving the greatest attention because of the extremely large number of family farms in the surrounding area. Otter Tail county has the largest number of family farms of any county in the State of Minnesota.

Names of all Women's Committee members will be announced in September after organizational details are completed.

Theme of Juvenile Delinquency Used in Booth at Fair

Albert Koop, president of St. John's Men's club in Thief River Falls, states that one of the booths at this year's Minnesota state fair takes up the topic of the church and juvenile delinquency. Under the banner of "The church's answer to juvenile delinquency" ways and means are set forth in which the church can and does provide outlets for the energy of the young people. This display is located in the grandstand and is sponsored by the Minnesota districts of the Luthern Layman's League, the Lutheran Women's Missionary League and the Walther League, along with the Minnesota district of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Go to Convention of Walther Group

The Minnesota district convention of the Walther League, youth organization of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, will be held at Trinity Church in Waconia from Friday to Sunday, August 23 to 25. Representing St. John's Walther League in Thief River Falls will be Vivian Spray and Carol St. Martin.

State to Receive Special Flood Aid

Senator H. H. Humphrey Sends Word to Wiseth

State Sen. Roy E. Wiseth stated last week that he had received word from Senator H. H. Humphrey that Congress has made $22.5 million dollars available for an emergency aid program in 10 flood stricken states.

Minnesota is among the states affected and has a larger than average number of counties involved in the flood problem. Senator Humphrey told Wiseth that Minnesota could expect to have between 2 and 5 million dollars available for flood aid this year.

The program will be primarily for such practises as summer fallow, deep tillage, green corn, and green manure, and should be open to all farmers afflicted with flood damage.

Telephone Exchange Manager Offers Tips on Use of Dial Phone

Heads Lions Club

STANLEY PLADSON

Who at a meeting of the board of directors of the local Lions club last Thursday was advanced from vice president to president of the club. He will serve out the term of Ward Nichols, who assumed the office early in July, but resigned this month following his transfer to Wahpeton, N. D.

A little care in dialing telephone numbers can save a lot of time and confusion, A. K. Bacon, Northwestern Bell Telephone manager, advises.

Starting early Sunday morning, September 8, Thief River Falls telephone users will no longer ask the operator to connect them with a desired number. They will dial the numbers themselves.

Bacon cautioned, however, that it is possible to get the wrong number under certain conditions. This is most likely to come about when the caller doesn't know the correct number. Or, a wrong number may ring when the dial isn't manipulated properly. For these reasons, Bacon suggests that Thief River Falls telephone users follow this procedure when dialing:

Consult the new telephone directory for the correct number. Because of the change to dial, all customers are getting new numbers.

Start dialing as soon as you hear the dial tone, a steady humming sound coming from the receiver when it is lifted from its resting position on the telephone instrument. Dial each figure of the number in the order it appears in the directory, letting the dial return to rest at its own speed before dialing the next figures of the number. It will take seven pulls on the dial to make a call.

"If you get the drug store instead of Aunt Minnie, don't be too hasty to blame our new switching equipment," Bacon said. He said the new central office equipment has been checked and tested thoroughly, and he's willing to bet that if wrong numbers are obtained, guesswork and hurry in dialing will be found to be the real culprits.

Here's another dialing tip from Bacon: If your finger slips while dialing, or if you think you've dialed incorrectly, hang up before dialing again. This is very important, because the dial apparatus goes back to "normal" only when you hang up. Likewise, it is important to hang up at the end of a call before dialing a new number.

Grain Harvest Nearing End as Rains Hold Off

75 Pct. or More of Harvest Completed, Says County Agent

Good weather during the past two weeks has enabled area farmers to bring the 1957 small grain harvest to within 25 per cent of completion or better, according to County Agent Stelmaschuk.

A combination of dry weather, plus early morning breezes last week allowed the harvesters to get early starts in the field most days, aiding in the harvest windup.

Stelmaschuk said reports indicate fair to good yields on oats in this vicinity, with fair weight on most yields. Barley is off considerably in yield and weight, however, he indicated.

The hot, dry weather in July also caused damage to the wheat in the Red River Valley and northeastern North Dakota. Some fair yields have been reported but the grain is low in protein and light in weight, compared with other years.

Stelmaschuk reported some farmers probably would be through with the small grain harvest by the end of the past week, with the larger farmers finishing shortly, depending on a continuation of the good harvest conditions.

He stated some flax may be harvested within the next few days.

St. Hilaire at Work on New Water System

St. Hilaire's new $90,000 water distribution system is now being installed, according to Winton Fellman, St. Hilaire village clerk.

Work on the 10,896 lineal feet of trenching, north to Sixth st., east to Water street, west to Dakota av., and south to Pine st. will begin sometime next week.

Fellman also said, the bid for the globe shaped 50,000 gallon water tank has been let. The tower, he said, will be completed sometime early next year. It will be constructed one block south and one block east of the St. Hilaire creamery, where Main and Water streets intersect. The 127-foot well for the system was completed last month.

Presently, the residents in the village obtain water from their own individual wells. The new system will serve all residents within the city limits and also provide 14 fire hydrants.

Although the system will not be fully completed until next year, the village board hopes to serve a limited number of patrons this fall by using a temporary pressure system.

Ten Feet High

A new switch to an old saying, knee high by the Fourth of July is ten feet high by Labor day. And it is. Well, Inar Mikkelson's stand of fodder corn is anyway. Mikkelson, who farms seven miles west of Thief River Falls reported his stand of 10 foot fodder to the Times office last Saturday. The amazing thing about the corn isn't really its size said Mikkelson, "It's the fact that when I planted it during the latter part of June, my friends told me it wouldn't grow."

In the consolation race, for all drivers who had not finished in the top three spots, Don Joppru, another local driver, won by a narrow lead.

The most exciting race of the day was the last event, the 15-lap feature race. The entire field of 16 cars got off to a fast start and roared into the east turn with all the drivers making an early bid for the lead position. When the cars pulled out of the west turn and down the straightway past the crowd-filled bleachers Dick Crooker, was in the Number one spot.

Early in the race one car spun off the track on the east turn into the infield and two other cars were waved off the track on the 10th lap into the pits for mechanical reasons. Young Spud Manning, driving No. 33, brought the crowd to their feet when he

Take Census of Past County Polio Cases

A countryside survey to discover the current rehabilitation needs of all post-polio patients will be conducted this month by the Pennington county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Charles Rodekuhr, chapter chairman, announced today.

The local survey is part of a nationwide project by the National Foundation to compile a roster of polio cases of all ages and degree of disability, regardless of date of onset. The canvass here is to be completed early in September.

After the census of all post polio patients has been completed, an intensive study of their current medical needs will be conducted. Both the census and evaluation programs are financed by the National Foundation.

In a message to 3,100 county chapters, the National Foundation has asked chapter polio fighters to compile facts concerning treatment, recovery and disability of every person who has ever had polio, whether diagnosed as paralytic or non-paralytic.

Mr. Rodekuhr asked that all persons who have ever had polio whether disabled or not to send their names and addresses directly to the Pennington county chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Thief River Falls.

The important thing, said Rodekuhr, is to send this information now. The local chapter must forward the complete census to the Nation headquarters by September 10th.

Boy Slightly Hurt When Hit by Car

David Dahlen, 5, Suffers Bruises Last Monday

An eastern Pennington county farm boy, David Dahlen, 5, suffered minor injuries about 4 p.m. Monday when he was hit by a neighbor's pickup truck as he rode a bicycle on County Aid Road 21. The accident occurred near the intersection of SAR 12 and the county road.

David was hit by the car of Mrs. Leonard Johnson, who was driving from her home to the west on CAR 21. About ¾ mile from the Johnson home she stopped momentarily to talk to her small son who was playing along the road.

As they talked David rode up from behind the pickup truck and around the left to the front of the vehicle. At this moment Mrs. Johnson started up again without seeing the small boy and bumped him lightly.

After the mishap she picked up the boy, went to get his mother and together they brought him to Northwestern Hospital where he was treated for bruises and released the following day, according to the Pennington county sheriff's office.

The Chief Greets The Seaman

NAVY
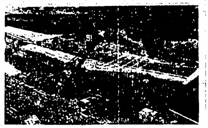
ENLIST TODAY

Last Friday Seaman Janice Carpenter, daughter of Henry Carpenter, city, dropped in to visit with Chief Tom Gilligan at the Thief River Falls Navy recruiting station. And what did they talk about? What else . . . the Navy. Janis is home on a 30-day leave after which she will leave for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Twenty-year old Seaman Carpenter, joined the Waves in January 1956 and plans to make the Navy her career. What does she have to say about life in the service . . . It's a good way to grow up, she said.



LAUNCH FLAT-TOP . . . Super aircraft carrier USS Ranger was commissioned at Norfolk, Va. The Ranger is 1,046 feet long.

T. R. Falls Girl Enjoys Life with the Waves

Home from the sea is the sailor . . . sailorette . . . seawoman Seaman, that's it. She has two white stripes on the left sleeve of her blue Wave uniform and her official title is seaman. Janis Carpenter. Home from the sea is seaman Carpenter with tales of far away places . . . New York, Atlantic City, Maine, Vermont, Maryland, Boston, Chicago.

Well, actually she's never been to sea, "I was," said the 20 year old-ster with a beautiful tan and a short Italian haircut, "on an LST once" (landing ship tanker).

She hopes to become a real "salt water" sailor soon when she makes a trip to Hawaii. Presently, seaman Carpenter, daughter of Henry Carpenter, city, is home on a 30 day leave. After her leave is up she will be transferred to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, where she will be a clerical worker at the Naval station.

The 1955 graduate of Lincoln high school joined the Waves in January 1956 and had her "boot" training at Bainbridge, Maryland. She then went to Atlantic City for OJT (on the job training.)

What does she think of the navy? She likes it very much and plans to make it a career. It is, she said, not only an opportunity to meet many new friends and to travel, but also a good way to grow up. When asked what she meant by growing up, she said, it's being away from home and traveling; seeing other parts of the country and meeting other people. It helps one to become independent; this is the added education in itself. She doesn't think she would have ever had the opportunity to see the eastern states if she hadn't joined the Waves.

After her two years in Hawaii she plans to return to the States and apply for training at a Naval technical school.

Over 40 Air Force Men Are Eligible for Training Here

Former Members Asked to Report at Meeting Monday Evening, Sept. 9

A total of 43 former Air Force airmen, all with the grades of A 1c and S Sgt. have been designated as eligible for the Air Force Reserve specialized training program planned to begin here at a later date, according to 1st Lt. V. M. Draper, commander of Flight E 9749th AR squadron in the city.

All the men eligible are located in the Thief River Falls trade area and if they enlist in the specialized training program would attend 24 meetings a year. They would receive one day's pay per meeting, the exact amount depending on the reserve airman's grade.

The course offered the reservists is highly recommended by the Air Force as being useful not only to the service but in civilian life. The course extends over a two-year period with the 24 annual meetings scheduled over a 10-month period.

In addition to pay, the Air Force will provide the trainees with uniforms, which are required to be worn at the meetings. The course will probably be taught by a member of the local Air Reserve flight here, Lt. Draper said, with the first meeting to be held in October, provided enough men enlist for the course.

The eligible airmen will be notified by mail this week and a preliminary meeting with those interested is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 9 in the downstairs room of the city auditorium, when Flight E resumes its training sessions for the new semester.

Potato Field Day at E. Grand Forks Sept. 14

The annual Potato Field Day at the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association's Potato Research Farm will be held September 4 at 2:00 p.m., daylight saving time, according to Lyle W. Currie, Executive Secretary of the Association.

The Field Day is planned to give growers and others interested an opportunity to view the field research projects on the farm and to discuss potato problems with research workers from the University of Minnesota, NDAC, and Potato Research Center. The farm is four miles south on Highway 81 and one mile west of Grand Forks, or one mile south of Shannahan's Corner on old Highway 81.

An innovation at this year's tour will be the use of tractor-drawn trailers to haul visitors through the plots. To give those attending a better opportunity to see and hear, they will be taken through in groups with each group starting at a different plot so that all will complete the tour of plots at about the same time.

At the Field Day's conclusion, refreshments will be served the group by Agsco.

A special tour of the plots has been arranged for County Agents and Vo-Ag Instructors of the area at 10:00 a.m., daylight saving time, the same day.

In charge of arrangements for the Field Day are: Carl Ash, Polk County Agent, Harold Holte, Grand Forks County Agent, George French, USDA Potato Research Center, Bob Johansen, NDAC, and Lyle W. Currie.

A POLL conducted among the listeners of AFN-Berlin reveals Frank Sinatra, Pat Boone and Elvis Presley to be the top male vocalists, while Doris Day, Ella Fitzgerald and Teresa Brewer are the audience's favorite female stars . . . The Platters, Four Aces and the Four Freshmen took the vocal group honors; Louis Armstrong and Stan Kenton copped the crown in the jazz field while Ray Anthony led the list of dance bands . . . Speaking of singers, Dinah Shore just seems to improve with age, like steak and wine . . . As each year flits by, Dinah just gets brighter, more bubbly and more personality-wise . . . Weekend Sees One Minor Accident

Bert Vigen Car Hit by Another East of City

A quiet week-end on the part of local motorists was reported by local law enforcement agencies, with only one minor mishap marring an otherwise perfect traffic record locally.

The one mishap occurred at 9:25 Saturday evening when Bert Vigen, rt. 3 city, was hit by Calvin Huset, Middle River, on Highway 59 near the A & W Drive-In.

According to police, the Vigen vehicle was hit by Huset when he started to make a left turn at the drive-in. Only $15 damage was caused to the Vigen car and none was reported to the Huset car.

Huset was tagged for failure to yield the right-of-way, according to police, who handled the call at the request of the highway patrol.

No accident reports in rural Pennington county over the weekend reported by the sheriff's office as both the sheriff and deputy were out on business Monday morning.

RRV Potato Growers to Vote on Marketing Pact Aug. 29-Sept. 5

Red River Valley growers to begin balloting on Federal Marketing Agreement for area, August 29 with balloting continuing to midnight September 5. The program, which authorizes grade, size, quality, maturity, pack and container regulations on the handling of potatoes grown in the area, is designed to bring greater grower return in years of surplus, and to improve the marketing of potatoes to gain greater consumer acceptance.

Ballots and voting instructions have been mailed to all growers of record. Any grower who failed to receive a ballot by mail may secure one from his County Agricultural Agent.

Voting is by mail and to be eligible for counting, ballots must be received by the Referendum Agent not later than midnight, September 4.

R. L. Powers of Washington, D.C., is the USDA Referendum Agent who is conducting the referendum.

The price disaster of the past potato marketing season started the request for a Federal Marketing Agreement for the Red River Valley area. A request for an agreement was made to the department of Agriculture in March and a hearing was held in May on a proposed marketing agreement. All testimony at the three-day hearing which was held in Grand Forks was favorable to a marketing agreement.

The Marketing Agreement Act, which was passed in 1937, has for its purpose, the establishing and returning of parity prices to growers, and general improvements of an industry's position by better marketing, through establishment of minimum standards of quality. Price improvement is attacked through a marketing agreement by adjusting supplies to market requirements, by means of quality standards that may be shipped from an area. After a crop is produced, if a surplus exists, then the supply available for market, may be whittled down through better grade standards. Marketing agreements cannot control acreage or production as this is not permitted under the Marketing Agreement Act.

Most growers do not believe that a marketing agreement will mean a profit for the potato grower every year, but they do believe that in years of surplus, such as last year, that a marketing agreement can help to prevent the disastrous losses that always accompany surplus situations. The theory of a marketing agreement is that in surplus years, supplies can be reduced by withholding the lower qualities from market, this will reduce the total quantity of potatoes being offered, which will tend to strengthen prices, and with only the better qualities going to market, better acceptance will also result.

A marketing agreement can be compared to enabling legislation. It permits an industry to regulate itself within the limitations provided in the agreement adopted by the area. However, although the authority for regulation is there, the industry uses it only whenever it feels it can benefit from doing so. Approval of a marketing agreement does not automatically impose regulations. The industry must request such regulation as it wants and such automatically terminates at the end of each market season. Any regulation may be changed or terminated during the season if conditions change. This flexibility is the one desirable feature that a federal marketing agreement has which the present State programs which the Valley industry has been operating under the past few years does not have.

The marketing agreement has been written so that it will work together with the present State programs in every respect possible. The committees will be the same, office personnel, cost of operation, will come out of present assessment, etc.

The Red River Valley Potato Growers Association, following meetings with growers last winter requested the USDA to hold a hearing and referendum on a proposed marketing agreement for the area.

A special committee appointed by the industry to work with USDA in arranging and developing the marketing agreement included: Obert Grover, past President of the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association, John P. Bushee, Chairman of the Red River Valley Potato Control Board, Art Nelson, Northwood, Montelle Boone, Grafton and Lyle W. Currie, Secretary of the Association.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

BEAMS FROM THE MOON

WE HAVE a green-and-gold parakeet that at intervals flies out of the room where he stays and lights at the foot of a large mirror in the livingroom. And there he spends some time with his image in the glass. Whether he is deceived or not by his image, who can tell?

When we look at the full moon on a glorious night, we may almost be deceived by the image, we may almost believe that there is light in the moon. But the moon has no light in herself. With no atmosphere and rough surface covered by the ashes and pock-marked with the yawning craters of burnt-out volcanoes, the moon is a dead world. But she lights with beauty the countryside as she rises in a silvery glow. And why and how is this? Because the moon is a faithful reflector of the sun. When he sinks in the west, his rays are reflected upon the earth by the rising moon.

Then, if you are true reflectors of the light that comes from afar, others will see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven. Jesus admonishes, "Let your light so shine." Can men see the image of Jesus in you?

Frost Forecast In Area Tonight

High Pressure Behind Front Topples Mercury

The weather forecast for today and tomorrow will really frost you local weather-watchers, despite fervent hopes the weatherman was gazing at a cloudy crystal ball when he made his cool prediction.

The forecast, in one word, is "frost" and it's supposed to arrive tonight so local gardeners would do well to take precautionary measures, just in case.

The weather since Thursday has been on the pleasant side with highs ranging from Sunday's high of 82 to a cool 70 Friday. Lows were in the 50's for the most part. The coolest temperature of the waning summer season was 41 registered here this morning, in the wake of a passing cold front.

No precipitation has been received in the city proper since Thursday, although some rain fell in parts of Pennington and east Marshall counties Thursday to delay late harvesting somewhat in those areas.

The weatherman is predicting much cooler weather today, tonight and continued cool Tuesday, according to KTRF. Frost is definitely forecast for Monday night. Highs today will be 55 to 60 and lows tonight will range from 32 to 40.

Answer to Puzzle No. 460

Police, Firemen Warn: 'Don't Be a Firebird'

Are you a "firebird?" Well, if you are one who flies after fire trucks or other emergency vehicles you are a "firebird." Police and fire department officials are presently concerned with the increasing number of "firebirds" in this city. In fact, it has been suggested by authorities to have an open season on "firebirds."

Do you qualify as a member of the flock? You do every time you break the following city ordinance,—Ordinance No. 202, section 10—which reads:

"When a fire alarm shall be sounded or when the warning device of an emergency vehicle shall be sounded, all vehicles upon the streets of the city shall draw to the right side of the street and permit such vehicles to pass. No vehicle of any kind shall precede fire apparatus to a fire using the same street that it is using. No vehicle shall follow fire apparatus at less than 500 feet nor be parked within the block where fire apparatus (or other emergency vehicles) has stopped in answer to an alarm."

What's the penalty for being a "firebird." Section 16 of the same ordinance states that,

"Any person convicted of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100 or by imprisionment in the city or county jail for a period of not more than three months."

The above ordinance does not apply to members of the volunteer fire department or to other persons authorized to assist in an emergency. There are times when the situation is such that neighbors in the block or in the vicinity are in a position to give immediate assistance, this however, is usually the exception.

Officials also realize that it is only natural that people will gather on the scene just out of curiosity. A recent example of this was the August 11 drowning at the 3rd street bridge, where on a Sunday afternoon hundreds of on-lookers gathered on the bridge and banks to watch the rescue procedures. They expect this type of reaction, what they do object to is the blocking of traffic and to people getting so close to the fire-fighting or rescue operations that they become a handicap. So if you want to be helpful don't be a "firebird."

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Signs of the times . . . blackbirds and starlings congregating in large flocks can mean only one thing—the end of summer is upon us. You don't hear robins chirruping nowadays, either. Fall is on the way. No more swimming, skiing or loafing in the sun for nine long months . . . woe, woe to us warm weather lovers!

Some slight consolation may be had from the fact the mallards are also flying in flocks nowadays (and so, we hope, are the grouse) which holds some promise of good sport between now and the Dark Ages of winter in northwest Minnesota.

Random thought . . . how can one grow old gracefully when he thinks of the awfully large percentage of his or her youth wasted in working to keep the winter fuel bill paid and the sidewalks shovelled?

It's no wonder good conscientious policemen have so much trouble from "cop-haters" when such uniformed bandits as those at Cohasset are allowed to work their speed-trap racket unmolested under the guise of "law enforcement" against a defenseless driving public.

The above statement was prompted by a recent George Grim column in the Tribune in which he told of a vacationing couple, among several, who had been "held up" by the Cohasset gang.

This one small spot is giving the whole state some bad publicity. Many of those "arrested" are out-of-staters and more than one, says Grim, not only have said they wouldn't cross the Minnesota border again but stated they would warn others coming to the state.

We don't have much sympathy for traffic law violators, especially the reckless kind who disregard stop signs and are otherwise discourteous toward their fellow-drivers.

But, to deliberately arrange speed limit signs and radar devices in such a way that every passing motorist almost automatically violates the law is too much for most citizens.

We've never been caught in a speed trap but on some of our automobile trips we've become so irritated at having to slow to a crawl through the many small roadside villages we've wished someone would take a bulldozer and push them right off the landscape.

Enough griping . . . did you hear of the fellow who told the shaggy dog story? His friends liked it so well and repeated it so often the dog tailed the wag everywhere he went!

Epitaph on a hypochondriac's gravestone: "I told you I was sick!"

They say a leisurely stroll is good for the health—but not across a busy intersection!

We wish we could use ALL the advice we've received from the better shots at the local trap club at the same time. It's pretty sad when one can't shoot a perfect score with our high handicap.

They say money won't buy happiness . . . but most of us would be willing to try if we had enough of the long green. SO LONG!

Final Rites Are Conducted For Elmer Helgeland

Elmer Helgeland was born May 11, 1909 in this city where he attended school and grew to manhood.

On February 19, 1935 he was united in marriage to Ethel Patten also of this city, where he made his home until the time of death. For the past 15 years he has been employed by Land O' Lakes.

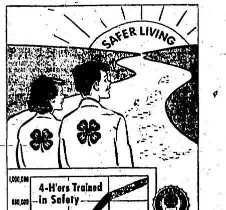
4-H'ers Lead the Way to Safety



The future looks brighter for more people because more 4-H Club members than ever before are being trained and educated in safety. Participation in the 1957 national 4-H safety program enables them to make their homes, farms and communities safer places in which to live and work.

Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 throughout the state are learning safe practices that will pay dividends later in life whether they reside on the farm or in the city. Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, the 4-H safety program has been supported continuously since 1948 by General Motors.

Incentive awards offered to 4-H'ers for superior achievement include distinctive medals, college scholarships, and educational trips to the national 4-H Club Congress held annually in Chicago.

Oen's Appliance, 90, vs. Johnson Bros., 85.

The schedule, Thursday, Aug. 29th:
Northern Chevrolet vs. Oen's Appliance.
Wilson Bros. vs. Johnson Bros.
The Times vs. The Pharmacy.

The Thief River trap shoot league will conclude its 1957 schedule on Thursday night, with the shoot being held under the flood lights. According to present plans, the shoot will get under way at 8:00 p.m.

Roy Jorgenson's Northern Chevrolet squad "wrapped" up the league championship last Thursday when they defeated The Pharmacy, 125 to 111. That "perfect" score, with Frank Rinkel having a 22-4, Jorgenson a 24-4, George Mackenroth a 20-7, Walt June a 21-4, and Henry Granum a 21-4, gave the Chevvies a season's record of eight wins and one loss, with one match remaining. The Wilson Bros. and the Oen's Appliance are deadlocked for second place, with each squad having five wins and four losses. In their loss to the Northern Chevrolet on Thursday, the Pharmacy had a pair of shooters that scored "25's" in Ole Ekeren, with a 23-5, and Russ Embury, with a 21-2.

The Times, with four shooters scoring "25's" defeated the Wilson Bros., 121 to 118. Clarence Mattson, with 23-3, Bob Mattson, with a 22-3, Bill Dahlquist, with a 23-3, and Don Olson, with a 21-5, were the "perfect" shooters for the printers. Cy Schanzlen was the only shooter to card a "25" for the defending champion Wilson, having a 21-4.

In a match which found both squads employing but four men, the Oen's Appliance, with Roy Oen having a 17-8, Orvis Olen a 20-5, and Dr. Paul Wendt a 22-4, defeated the Johnson Bros., 90 to 85. Walt Fisher scored a "25" for the losers, having a 22-3.

The Brooks Cheese team, sparked by the two-under-par 33 carded by Stan Larson, posted a four-man total of 131 strokes, and moved into a first place tie in the league standings with the Hardware Mutual quartet. Russ Embury's squad scored a 138.

Stan Larson's 33 was the evening's low gross score, and, with a handicap of four, his net of 29 was also the low individual net.

The Tunberg Motors earned the evening's low net honors for a team, with Roger Tunberg having a 41-35; Roy Lee, a 41-31; Bob Bredeson, a 43-33; and Jerry Tygeson and 37-33.

The league will conclude its season's schedule on Wednesday evening. As an added attraction to the season's wind up play, it was announced that a golf cart will be awarded to some paid-up member of the league. The award will be made on a names-drawn out of a-hat basis.

11 Year Old Catches A Big One

Last Friday morning two local boys Jeffrey Noel, 9, and Robert Manning, 11, left, went-a-fishing'. Did they catch anything? See for yourself. That fish the boys are proudly holding is a 9 pound 11-ounce Northern. They caught it just below the Red Lake River dam using a one foot steel rod and a red and white Bass-O-Reno. Manning hooked the whooper at 11 a. m. and it took him and Jeffrey 10 minutes to land it. How did they land it? Why, said Manning, we just grabbed hold of the line and lifted it out of the water. Both boys agreed it didn't put up much of a fight . . . well not too much.

Winning Lap In Feature Race

Dick Crooker, Grafton, N. D., picks up the checkered flag, for the winning lap in the feature race at the Thief River Speedway. Spud Manning, one of ten local drivers, brought the local fans to their feet when he made a 14th lap attempt to pass Crooker on the west turn. Crooker, however, pulled out of the scramble and into the straightaway in the number one spot to take the lead for the last lap.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Champions

The champions are dead! Long live the champions! Or words to that effect. Meaning, of course, that Roy Jorgenson's Northern Chevrolet trapshooting squad has won the league championship for 1957, succeeding the Wilson Bros. team that held the title for the past couple of years.

So that proper homage can be paid to the boys on the championship squad, we will recite the squad roster: Roy Jorgenson, Frank Rinkel, Howie Brandt, Erling Torgerson, George Mackenroth, Walt Jung, Henry Granum, and Walt Anderson.

The Chevvies nailed down the championship in fitting and proper manner last week when they posted a 125 as they defeated Tony Dorn's Pharmacy squad. That win clinched the title.

Local fans will get a last chance to watch this squad in action when, on Thursday night, they meet the Oen's Appliance squad in a schedule-ending match.

The league matches for Thursday are slated to be held under the lights at the trapshooting layout north of town. The light standards were erected last year, but at that time a wrong type reflector was installed. New reflectors were installed a short while ago, so the club officials do not expect any difficulties on Thursday night. It's probable that the scores will be somewhat lower than those posted during the daylight hours.

Thursday night's shooting will begin at about 8 or 8:30 p. m.

Oh yes, the shooting isn't limited to the league members, and they extend an invitation to all nimrods interested in trapshooting.

It's a Hard Life, Harold

About the most difficult task in athletics, and in high school athletics in particular, is for a youngster to follow in the footsteps of an older brother who has had an illustrious career. And that's the problem for the Prowlers' Harold Froehle Jr.

Harold, who will be a good player, has the ill fortune of being the younger brother of Pete Froehle, who was a great high school player for the Prowlers. Several seasons ago. Harold, or Junior as he is more commonly called, has been playing at an offensive guard position in the early season practice sessions, and, according to the Prowler coaches, he is coming along in fine style.

Previously, he had been running in the backfield as a reserve fullback, and in case of injuries to the present backfield, Junior may be shifted into the backfield again.

Junior, though, has his uncomfortable moments during the practice drills for whenever he makes a miscue he can be certain that the Prowler coaches will make comments like this, "What would Pete say if he saw you make a block like that?" or "What would Peter say if he saw you miss a tackle like that?". And Junior, knowing what Pete would say, looks and feels unhappy. It's a hard life, Harold.

The Finest

If you wish to enjoy the best there is in senior baseball in this area then be sure to attend one or more of the Region 2B tournament games being played at Ada this week.

The schedule for the tournament, which gets under way on Thursday night, will find the Bagley Merchants meeting the winner of the Noman-Polk league playoffs in the opening game. On Friday night, the Dakota-Red River league playwinner will meet the Red River Valley league representative.

And on Saturday night, and this could well be the best game of the tournament, the winner of the Thursday night game will play the winner of the Friday night game. It's a fact that the winner of this game on Saturday night will be the odds-on favorite to win the regional title.

Sandy at Vandalia

When the AP carried on its national wire the dispatch, datelined Vandalia, Ohio, that Stanley G. Wilson Jr. of Thief River Falls had, on Friday, broken 94 of 100 targets to win runner-up honors in the sub-junior division in the Grand American Trapshooting tournament, it marked the second time, in our recollection, that a local trapshooter had earned such mention.

Stanley G. Wilson Jr. is of course, Sandy Wilson. And with the tournament experience he has been getting this season, he will be a contender for state and national honors in a couple of years.

But to come back to the other trapshooter who gave Thief River Falls nation-wide publicity. We refer to A. F. (Jack) Jones, a specialty salesman who headquartered out of her for a number of years. Jack always attended the top-ranked trapshooting tournaments, and he was always a contender for top honors. One year he won the Grand American preliminary event, a 200-target event, in which nearly 2,000 shooters participated and for that feat he won several thousand dollars.

T. R. Falls Bums Lose in Regional Tourney Sunday

Local Team Handicapped by Absence of Pitcher Lynn Sluke from Lineup

Handicapped by the absence of their ace righthander, Lynn Sluke, the Thief River Falls Bums, representing the North Six league, dropped both of the games in which they participated in the Region 12B tournament at Warroad on Sunday.

In a championship round game on Sunday afternoon, the Bums lost to Hallock of the Northwest Border league, 18 to 8. And in a game to determine third place in the tourney, the Bums lost by a 13 to 8 score to Carpenter's Corners team of the Pennington County league.

In a tournament first round game played on Sunday morning, the powerful Warroad Lakers, perennial winners of the Region 12B tournament, defeated Carpenter's, 13 to 3.

In the regional championship game played late Sunday evening, the Warroad Lakers trounced the Hallock nine, 13 to 4. It marked the tenth successive regional win for the Lakers, and it will be the tenth time that Warroad will be making the trip to the state tournament.

State Health Board to Study Asian 'Flu'

A 15-man committee has been appointed to advise the state board of health and the Minnesota department of health in developing a state plan for prevention and control of Asian influenza, Dr. Robert N. Barr, secretary and executive officer of the board, announced today.

Chairman of the advisory committee is Dr. Horatio R. Sweetser, Minneapolis, who is president-elect of the Minnesota State Medical Association. The 14 other members of the committee have been selected because of their special medical, technical, and public health qualifications.

First meeting of the committee is scheduled for this morning (August 26) to review current information on the origin, characteristics, and spread of the new Asian strain of influenza in various parts of the world including the United States. The group will also discuss plans for use of vaccine now being manufactured specifically to combat Asian flu. In addition, state and local plans for meeting problems which might result from possible influenza outbreaks in Minnesota later this year will be prepared by the committee.

In announcing appointment of the committee, Dr. Barr stressed the importance of keeping all physicians and the public informed on current aspects of the influenza problem. "This is essential to prevent undue public alarm, and to facilitate the most efficient use of facilities to meet any problems that may arise," he added.

No community outbreaks of Asian influenza have been noted in Minnesota or in the midwest, Dr. Barr explained. The state health department is carrying on constant investigation of suspected cases reported. No spread of the disease has developed in locations where sick persons returned to their homes from meetings in other parts of the nation where influenza has occurred.

Two peculiar outbreaks of illness, neither of which has any relation to Asian flu, have confused the picture in Minnesota this summer. The first outbreak involved more than 70 persons in Austin who had attacks of pneumonia. A second outbreak involves hundreds, or possibly thousands, of persons throughout the state who experienced a sudden onset of headache, fever, nausea and vomiting. These persons frequently noted a stiff, sore neck and, especially in children, a skin rash similar to that of measles. This latter illness, which was at first believed to be non-paralytic polio, is self-limiting and has not caused paralysis or death. "Although this illness has swept through many families and neighborhoods, it is not Asian influenza, and the outbreak now seems to be subsiding," Dr. Barr pointed out.

State Taxpayers Group Says Year's Payment for Average Family Is $1,335

Uncle Sam's take from Minnesota taxpayers has soared to a new high, Norman A. Borgen, executive secretary of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, announced today.

"Figures from the office of the district director for the St. Paul District of the United States Internal Revenue Service (which district comprises the state of Minnesota) show that the total federal revenue receipts from Minnesota taxpayers for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1956, and ending June 30, 1957, jumped to $1,220,277,639.55", Mr. Borgen stated. "This is an increase of over $71 million over the 1956 receipts, which totaled $1,149,252,569.21".

"This $1,220,000,000 total receipts figure amounts to over $382.50 for each man, woman and child in the state", Mr. Borgen pointed out. "Applied to an average family of 3.5 individuals, this adds up to over $1,335 per family."

An analysis of the federal revenue receipts discloses that the three major sources of revenue are (1) the individual income and employment taxes—over $726 million, (2) the corporation income taxes—over $334 million, and (3) the excise taxes—over $104 million. Railroad retirement taxes—almost $35 million, estate and gift taxes—$14½ million, and unemployment taxes on employers of four or more employees—$5 million, account for most of the balance of the huge $1,220,000,000 take, according to Mr. Borgen.

Of the $104 million excise tax receipts, Mr. Borgen said, liquor taxes account for $36 million; admissions, telephone, transportation, etc., taxes—$20½ million; taxes on gasoline, tires, inner tubes, etc.—$18 million; manufacturers' excise taxes (automobile parts and accessories, refrigerators, etc.)—$10½ million; and luxury taxes (luggage, jewelry, furs, toilet preparations, etc.)—$6 million.

M. & O. Paper Co. Receives Award

A business and industrial award, for "outstanding public service", was presented to the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company in Minneapolis Saturday, August 17.

Robert Faegre, Mando's president, accepted the award on behalf of the company.

The unusual award, the first in Minnesota coming from an organization representing most of the state's conservation groups, was given in "appreciation of Mando's vigorous, wise and far-sighted forestry, water saving and pollution elimination programs."

VA Gives Warning to Pensioners

Says Income above Legal Limits Must Be Reported

Failure to report income above the legal limits will be costly to veterans or their survivors receiving pension from the Veterans Administration, W. B. Carroll, manager of the Fargo Veterans Administration Center, said today.

Not only will they be required to return all over-payments from the date their income exceeded the legal limits, but also all regular pension payments back to the first of the year, he said.

However, if the pensioner notifies VA promptly of an income increase above the statutory limits, VA will discontinue the pension as of the last payment and no over payment of any type will result, he said.

Mr. Carroll explained pensions are NOT payable under law if the income of a pensioner without dependents exceeds $1,400 a year or $2,700 with dependents.

Since VA has to check the annual income of pensioners every January under the law, any increase above the legal limits from any source other than VA will be discovered at that time, Mr. Carroll said.

"So, it's better to report excess income right away and avoid an overpayment," he said.

'Drive Carefully' Is Plea as Schools Open

"School's Open—Drive Carefully."

E. Ray Cory, Austin, AAA president in Minnesota, sounded this warning to motorists today in a special appeal to use caution while driving in school zones, as thousands of boys and girls return to classrooms after summer vacation.

Local police departments have joined forces with the Minnesota State Automobile Association (AAA) in the campaign. Special three-color signs displaying the "School Open" message are being posted throughout the state to remind motorists of need for extra caution in their driving at this time of the year.

"Many of the children going to and from school will be in traffic for the first time," Cory explained. "It is up to motorists to do everything possible to protect them from traffic hazards. While the School Safety Patrols and the police will be on the job at many intersections, all crossings cannot be protected in this way.

"We particularly want to remind drivers who have no children of their own," the AAA official stated. "These drivers are the ones most likely to forget that special speed zones and school crossings must be observed now that the summer vacation is over."

Specifically, Cory asked motorists to follow these driving rules:

1. Watch speed limits in school zones.
2. Be careful of children riding bicycles to school.
3. Obey school crossing guards and police officers.
4. Obey all school bus regulations.
5. Be extra alert on rainy days.
6. Watch for children crossing streets at unexpected places.
7. Promote courtesy by setting the example for other drivers.

"We especially want to protect our future citizens—the school children. Motorists should regard every child as a danger signal, and always drive at speeds which permit sudden stops.

"No motorist," Cory added, "wants to be responsible for a tragedy involving an enthusiastic child who overlooked traffic hazards. Don't let it happen to you or your child."

Plowing Matches Slated at Winona

Conservation Featured at State Meeting Sept. 13

How a rural community banded together 25 years ago to successfully solve a major soil conservation problem will be seen from ground and air by thousands of Minnesota farm families attending the Silver Soil Celebration Sept. 13 and 14 on the Renk Bros. farm in Winona county.

This event is similar to "Plowville" held in recent years. It will feature more than a dozen field demonstrations, the State Plowing Match, a 4-H and FFA land judging contest, a Queen of the Furrow contest and a tractor safety demonstration.

Visitors will see demonstrations on corn fertilization, pasture fertilizer and renovation, weed control, wheel track corn planting, woodlot management and contour fencing.

Bulldozers, graders and other equipment will shape terraces, detention dams, spillways, construct waterways and lay out contour strips on the Renk farm during the two-day event, so that visitors can see how these practices are accomplished.

There will be some 50 exhibits in the headquarters area on the farm.

Other speakers at the event will include Governor Orville Freeman and W. B. Kircher, managing editor of The Farmer magazine.

The State Plowing match will be held—Sept. 13. Two state winners will be named—one in level land and a second in contour plowing.

Four-H and FFA land judgers will compete in a state contest Sept. 14. A Queen of the Furrows will be selected the same day.

Truck Roadeo Is Set Sept. 14-15 in Minneapolis

September 14 and 15 have been chosen for the running of the 12th Annual Minnesota Truck Roadeo in Minneapolis. Professional drivers will put their driving skills on display and compete for the title of champion truck driver in each of five classes ranging from a straight two axle truck to an intercity highway semi-trailer truck. The Roadeo is a test in precision maneuvering.

This year's Roadeo, being held at the grounds of the Graco Company, 60 Eleventh Avenue N.E., is being jointly sponsored by the Minnesota Motor Transport Association and the Midwest Fleet Safety Supervisors' Association, Inc.

To be eligible to compete in this safety show, drivers must have maintained an accident-free record for a 12 month period prior to the Roadeo.

"It is of dangerous consequences to represent to man how he is the level of beasts without showing him at the same time his greatness. It is likewise dangerous to let hime see his greatness without his meanness. It is more dangerous yet to leave him ignorant of either; but very beneficial that he should be made sensible of both."

More Empire Liquidation

Another British colony will achieve independence Saturday when Malaya becomes a self-governing nation, and so the "liquidation" of the once great empire continues.

But Malaya will remain within the British Commonwealth, which becomes an increasingly interesting world-wide association of nations. This voluntary and loosely united organization is a stabilizing force that could become an important factor in adjusting international differences and making for world peace.

Future generations may agree that European colonialism, in spite of its obvious defects, nevertheless has provided an essential service in bringing a modern civilization into the backward regions of the world.

Potato Growers' Choice

Red River Valley potato growers will start balloting this week on a proposed federal marketing agreement that would permit them to adopt such surplus control measures as they might deem necessary from year to year, according to market conditions. The potato price disaster of the past marketing season should be convincing proof that a marketing control program should be available to them. A big majority of the growers must favor it.

Other important potato producing areas of the country are operating under such self-imposed marketing agreements. The purpose is to bring better cash returns to the growers, and where the program has been accepted it has produced good results.

Such a program is a step in the right direction mainly because under its provisions the growers retain control of their own marketing operations. It is a step away from bureaucracy and in the direction of local responsibility.

Lake Of The Woods

Sponsors of the Mississippi Parkway favor a road around Lake of The Woods as the north terminal of that great interstate highway, paralleling the river that flows south the full depth of the nation. Such an extension northward would add much to the highway's tourist appeal, and would, in effect, make it a highway of international significance.

Lake of The Woods has not yet received the recognition it deserves as a sportaman's paradise. This is due largely to the fact that its beautiful island areas are comparatively inaccessible from the south. Along its west shore, completely inaccessible by road, there has been no development.

Our present enthusiasm for the possible developments that unquestionably would come if roads were provided, is the result of a short excursion we made last week into the central area along the west coast; our first visit to Minnesota's Northwest Angle. A few miles of road would have brought that area nearly 100 miles closer to us than by the route we had to travel, and we are satisfied that those few miles of road, providing a connecting link between the state and its inaccessible outpost, would be very much worth while for the state as a whole.

This would be accomplished if the road-around-the-lake idea materializes. If that plan is not accepted then we think the state should proceed with the building of such a connecting link in cooperation with the Province of Manitoba. Manitoba officials have indicated that they are agreeable to the idea.

Home Rule in Education

(Art Suel in New Prague Times)

It is necessary to have standards of education and to have regulation of those standards by other than local school districts.

But to avoid regimentation in education—and to promote a wider range of diversification and academic freedom, it is essential that a reasonable measure of home rule be steadfastly maintained.

Under the incentive of ever-increasing state and federal aids, local district control over school matters is in danger of gradually being abdicated to bureaucratic control.

Even though only by interference, implied threats of loss of state or federal aids are usually sufficient to swing local districts into line with "recommendations" of appointive officials whom the people have only remote and indirect voice in placing into positions whose functions approach dictatorial authority.

Imperfect as it may be, the system has been working out quite satisfactorily and successfully for the general welfare of education.

Yet, the potentional peril of the possible abuse of this authority by the gradual centralization of power and usurpation of control over educational matters and the resultant enroachment upon the principle of home rule makes it ethically and patriotically incumbent upon those in appointive positions of authority to use the power conferred upon them by the people, sparingly and in wise moderation.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visitnig the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismack or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—In connection with my disability compensation, I requested the added amount allowed for dependents, and VA asked me to submit evidence of the birth of my child. What kind of evidence would VA want?

Q—Since I have been totally and permanently disabled for six months, I applied to VA for waiver of premiums of my GI insurance policy. May I stop paying premiums now?

A—No. You should continue to pay premiums regularly, until you receive notice from VA that your application for waiver has been granted. All premiums paid after the effective date of the waiver will be refunded to you.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran who died of a service-connected condition. I understand I am eligible for a GI loan. I live in an area where direct VA loans have been authorized. Could I get a direct loan, or are they limited only to veterans, and not to widows of veterans?

A—You would be eligible for a direct VA loan as long as you live in an area where direct loans have been authorized.

Q—I want to sell my GI house. Do I need VA's consent to sell, if the GI loan is not being paid off?

A—You do not need VA's consent to sell your property. However, if you wish to be released from liability, you must apply to VA.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

If you drive a car, you have it in your power to cripple or to kill. This is true all the time for everyone of us who drives a car. But the danger is particularly great on those holiday weekends when many vacationers take to the road. Such a time is the coming Labor day weekend.

A Record to Protect

This year Minnesota motorists have an added incentive for safe driving over the Labor day holiday period. They have a fine record to live up to—that set during July when they chalked up the lowest traffic fatality record for that month in the past 10 years. It was way back in July 1954 that motorists came up with the low figure. This makes the July record of this year all the more spectacular, since then there were fewer cars on the highways than there are these days. The figure of 50 fatalities last month is 40 per cent lower than the number of fatalities in July 1956, when 82 persons died in traffic accidents.

Human Errors

It is more often than not within the power of the motorist to prevent accidents. Accident reports have established that a significant share of traffic mishaps are caused solely by errors in judgement or by carelessness, rather than bad weather or unfavorable road conditions. Some leading causes of fatal accidents in July were reported as speed and failure to grant right of way. We can see a repetition of this pattern by just a brief glance at state highway department reports on accidents which caused deaths in Minnesota between August 5 and August 11 of this year. And what do we see listed as cause of accident? "Failed to make curve, ran into train, failed to stop, hit soft shoulder and overturned, failed to yield right of way." Causes such as these were responsible for at least five of 13 fatal accidents during that period.

A Labor Day Weekend Plea

In view of the crowded highways during Labor day weekend, I strongly urge each Minnesota motorist to make certain that it is not his carelessness or neglect or his poor judgement that adds another name to the list of Minnesota traffic fatalities. We have a July record of which to be proud—let's be able to say the same thing about August and September.

"Going Steady" has become a phrase with many meanings, particularly when related to young teenagers or even the eleven and twelve year olds. A social pattern which used to be reserved for couples seriously considering marriage, it has gradually extended downward to include college students with an "agreement," then to senior high school students with a slightly less binding "agreement," and now to the eleven to fourteen set.

As "going steady" has involved younger and younger boys and girls, the pattern has taken on new rituals and new behaviors. So much significance and concern would probably never have become attached to the practice if they had just coined a new phrase to describe what they mean, for indeed their going steady" merits a brand new name.

Highly ritualistic as befits the extremists, the idealists, and the sentimentalists that they are at these ages, they frighten parents out of their wits and let themselves in for ridicule from the older teenagers because the things they say and do mean something else to their seniors.

One need only to listen to some of the conversations of these young people and watch some of their behaviors "close up," however, to reduce alarm.

Anne, thirteen, asked her mother, "Mom, do you mind if I 'go steady' with Joe next week" There's just one more week left of school and he hasn't gone steady with anyone yet."

Mary, twelve, said to a friend "No, we're not going steady now because I'm taking two piano lessons a week, but we'll start again in January."

John, to Bill: "Say why don't you go steady with Barby until I get back from camp? If you want to keep her afterwards, we'll figure something else out."

Rapid shifts and safety in numbers help to make "going steady" less threatening for these young people, but parents need to supervise and keep receptive to the home parties which keep them in groups and discourage pairing off.

Who Represents Us?

In sharp contrast to the saddening spectacle of our new Ambassador to Ceylon—obviously chosen for his financial contributions to a political party—was a young Minnesotan, Richard Medalie, who magnificently represented us as a "grass roots ambassador" in Moscow at the World Youth Festival. On the one hand we see a political contributor who clearly knows nothing about the country in which he will serve as our ambassador. On the other hand, we see a young Minnesota law student who goes to Moscow despite State Department opposition, and demonstrates to the whole world what an impact a knowledgeable and personable young American can make in the very heart of Soviet Russia.

Ambassadorial Appointments

It is high time we stopped treating our ambassadorial appointments as though they were casual rewards for past political service or help. Presidents and Secretaries of State of both political parties have been under pressure for too long to fill these key posts with unqualified people. In my opinion we just cannot afford to give way any longer to such pressure, but must see to it that only first-rate, top-caliber ambassadors are sent out to be our officials eyes and ears and spokesmen.

Grass-Roots Ambassadors

For years I have been urging a program of Federal scholarships to seek out from among the many thousands of our brightest young boys and girls who cannot go on to college because of finnancial reasons, a group to be encouraged to go on to college to study languages and cultures of other nations, as well as technical and professional skills. What marvelous grass-roots ambassadors these young people would make, with their native vigor and freshness and unconventionality! Like Richard Medalie, the young Minnesotan who bowled over the Russians in Moscow with his knowledge of their language and his clear exposition of Western ideas, such keen, trained young people could represent us at the village and town and city level—among farmers, and factory workers of every nation.

Youth Festivals

Our State Department labelled the Moscow World Youth Festival as a propaganda device—which, of course, the Russians wanted it to be. But Richard Medalie and several others of the delegation of American students who went to Moscow turned the festival into an advantage to us. And they did it without the help of our government. How much more intelligent it would be to take an affirmative attitude toward these festivals, and to actively support a group of selected young Americans to visit them. Indeed, I can see a very great deal of good that could come from holding a world youth festival of our own here in the United States, and inviting students from every country—including those of the Soviet bloc—to come. Let them come and see us as we are, and not as the Soviet-controlled press and radio distort us.

The WORLD OUTDOORS

By [illegible]

ANOTHER hunting season is upon us and before it is over needless loss of lives will result from accidents involving guns somebody "didn't think was loaded."

It happens every year, in small towns and big ones, in the country and in tenement houses. Regretfully, the victim quite often is a child too young to understand the [illegible] with guns.

How [illegible] accidents happen? Only through carelessness. Despite the fact that it is a foolish practice, many people keep loaded pistols or shotguns in their homes. They hide them, lock them up, or otherwise put them "out of the children's reach." But children have the uncanny ability of getting into things and discovering places; and few things hold more fascination for them than firearms. The natural thing for a child to do when he discovers a pistol or gun is to imitate the action he sees on TV and in the movies: he points the weapon at someone and pulls the trigger. And somebody is hurt or killed.

But the "unloaded" gun is just as dangerous. The average hunter of experience is careful to unload his gun when he leaves the field to check it again before bringing it into the house. But once in a great while this routine is upset for some reason and a dangerous, loaded weapon is the result. This may happen only once in a lifetime—but that one time can be the occasion for a serious or fatal accident.

There is no such thing as being "too careful" with guns or pistols. If you own a case, keep the weapon in the case except when you are using it in the field. Store weapons in a safe place, preferably under lock and key, or as far out of the reach of children as possible. Check and double check your gun after each hunting trip.

Governor Proclaims State's Observance Of 'Make It Yourself With Wool Week'

WOOL takes the spotlight as Governor Freeman sets Minnesota's observance of "Make It Yourself with Wool Week." With the governor are, standing at left, Mr. J. L. Morton, Hancock, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, and Mrs. Lyle Richardson, Bloomington, Minnesota Wool Growers Association.

ST. PAUL — Governor Orville Freeman has joined the governors of 17 other wool producing states in a national salute to wool by proclaiming September 1 through 7 as "Make It Yourself With Wool Week."

In issuing the proclamation, Governor Freeman pointed to the growing importance of wool in the Minnesota economy and in the agricultural economy of the nation.

Urging the young women of his state to participate in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest, which is sponsored in Minnesota by the Minnesota Wool Growers Association, the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and the Wool Bureau, Inc., Governor Freeman pointed out that the efforts of the young women of today to make their own clothing have a substantial influence on the marketing of Minnesota's wool.

"Minnesota ranks 13th in the production of wool in the nation and has thousands of farmers engaged in the raising of wool," the Governor said. "I urge the people of Minnesota to join in the greater use and appreciation of wool," he added, in calling upon all civic leaders, educators and retailers throughout Minnesota to take part in the observance of "Make It Yourself With Wool Week."

Approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the contest provides the incentive for many young girls to learn valuable home sewing skills while at the same time discovering how easy it is to sew with wool. They learn also that wool is the most versatile of fabrics.

Valuable awards in the sewing event include: two trips to the National Finals to be held in Phoenix, Arizona, in January, courtesy of F. W. Woolworth Co.; portable Singer sewing machines; two-week trips to Europe via Pan American World Airways; scholarships and Savings Bonds.

Prize donors include: Coats & Clark, Inc.; John Dritz and Sons; Forstmann Woolen Co.; McCall's Patterns; Pendleton Woolen Mills; Sag-No-Mor Jersey; Simplicity Patterns; Singer Sewing Machine Co.; Standard Felt Co.; Strathmore Mills; S. Stroock & Co., Inc.; and the Woolite Co.

Information on the contest, open to girls between the ages of 13 and 22, may be obtained from The Wool Bureau, Inc., 16 West 46th Street, New York 36, N.Y.

HOME Gardens TIPS
C. GUSTAV HARD
ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA ST. PAUL 1, MINN.

Pruning Raspberries

Raspberry plantings in many gardens are allowed to grow to a dense tangle of old and new canes. In such patches the berries are not only hard to pick but they are usually small, crumbly and of poor quality. The dense growth often interferes with air circulation and as a result more disease problems arise.

* * *

To do a good job of pruning, you should know something about the growth habits of raspberry plants. The raspberry is a perennial and the roots or underground portion live for several years without replanting. The canes, or the above-ground portion, however, are biennial. They come up one year, produce vegetative growth and overwinter. The second year they produce lateral branches which flower and bear fruit. After fruiting, the canes die.

* * *

Pruning, therefore, should consist of cutting out all old canes that have borne fruit. Thinning out the new canes coming up for the first time should be another part of the pruning job. There are usually more of these new canes than you will want.

* * *

If you grow raspberries in a long row or hedge, thin the new plants to about three or four per root of row. If you grow raspberries in hills, thin out the hills to about six to eight strong canes per hill. Always save the sturdy, strong, straight canes.

* * *

The time to prune raspberries is immediately after harvest. Cut canes with small hand pruning shears right at the ground line. If your patch hasn't been pruned for some time, pruning will be difficult and you may find the canes very sharp and prickly. Once the canes are pruned and thinned out, though, the job will be fairly easy if you do it each summer after harvest.

Transplanting Perennials

Iris can still be transplanted early in August. Enrich the soil first by working in some well rotted manure or compost. A little commercial fertilizer added before spading the soil will also help. Two pounds of complete garden fertilizer per hundred square feet should be enough.

In planting iris, make a hole large enough so the roots can be spread out. The rhizomes (fleshy stems) should be covered with about an inch of soil. If you plant a single division, set it so the fan points in the direction you would like the clump to grow. If you plant several divisions in the same clump, set them so the fans point out from the center of the clump.

Divide old clumps with a spading fork, lift the plants carefully and shake out the soil. Divide the clumps into small divisions, each with a single growing point. Discard the divisions that show rot or borer damage. Trim the leaves back to within six inches of the crown. Also trim back straggly roots. Be sure to firm the soil over the root after it has been transplanted.

Many of our early spring-flowering perennials like peony, iris, tulip, hyacinth, crocus, lily of the valley and bleeding heart can be transplanted late summmer or in early fall when they are dormant. August is a good time to do this transplanting because other garden chores are not as pressing. As you transplant, label each plant as to its location and also the variety and color. This will give you a permanent clue to where you have planted. Then when you interplant later in the season or the following year, you can find the plants easily.

When you transplant peonies and bleeding heart, remember that each division should have a large fleshy root with three or more eyes. Plant the buds only two inches deep. Oriental poppies are similar but need only one or two eyes.

Minnesota ore docks used to handle nothing but direct-shipping ores. But not today. Last year 43% of all ores shipped had to be concentrated in expensive plants to make them economically useful. Our iron ore mining companies must turn more and more to processing low-grade ores to meet the requirements of the nation's steel mills.

They have already invested millions of dollars in scientific research and in new plants and facilities to upgrade and improve our remaining iron ores. Many millions more must still be invested in Minnesota if we are to maintain our place as one of the world's major iron ore producers. Every Minnesotan has a stake in this effort.

RESEARCH AND INVESTMENT CAN KEEP MINNESOTA'S IRON ORE FUTURE BRIGHT!

WASHINGTON quiz

A—The total amount, including installment and non-installment credit outstanding at the end of May, 1957, was $41,707,000,000, an increase of $2,768,000,000 over May, 1956.

Q—Is there a state in the Union where there are no private power or electric corporations?

A—Yes, Nebraska. There are no private electric utilities in Nebraska. All electric utilities, known as Consumers Public Power Districts, are divisions of the State Government, operating under a State law, but owned by the consumers. The consumers elect a board of directors, and the board is authorized by law to fix rates. The Districts are financed by revenue bonds sold on the open private bond market. Bonds are widely held by banks, insurance companies, individuals, trust funds and other investors. The Districts are free of federal regulation and no federal money is invested in them.

Q—What recommendations did the President's Commission on Increased Industrial Uses of Agricultural Products make?

A—The Commission's recommendations which have been included in a bill introduced in the House and Senate simultaneously, (S.2306 and H.R.8186) suggested: 1—that participation by private and public institutions in an effective research network be increased; 2—greatly expanded basic research on use of farm products; 3—Increased use of grants, fellowships and scholarships to increase nation's supply of scientists; 4—Place more emphasis on government-industry sharing of research costs; 5—Expand research and development of new crops; 6—Make wider use of commercial-scale trials of new products, and 7—Offer economic incentives to growers and processors to bridge the gap between research and established uses of crops. The Commission urged an increase in appropriation of money for industrial research in the Department of Agriculture.

The extent of coal industry automation is reflected by the fact that some 252 equipment manufacturers exhibited at the 1957 Cleveland Coal Show their contributions to coal mining mechanization.

Three leading steel companies, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, and Republic, produced in 1956 a total of 37,744,686 tons of coal in their own mines, or about 7 per cent of the national total of 500,000,000 tons.

Crops and Garden Show

We had a good crops and garden show last Friday. The exhibits shown were of high quality although the number was some what short of last year's record. The preparation of a garden exhibit is very important and some 4-H'ers win consistently because they have studied the technique of preparing an exhibit. This year the judge left comments with each exhibit so both 4-H'ers and parents can know how the exhibiting may be improved another year. The grain exhibits especially showed fine preparation. All 4-H'ers who exhibited can justly be proud of the fine products they grow in their fields and gardens.

Trefoil, A New Cattle Feed

Birdsfoot trefoil might be the answer for pasture lands that are too wet for alfalfa.

Trefoil is a legume similar to alfalfa, but it doesn't grow as tall as alfalfa and yields low as a hay crop.

But it makes a good pasture on steep lands and it even does well in hot, dry weather. Trefoil is longlived and reseeds itself. And it doesn't cause blat as often as alfalfa. It equals alfalfa in feed value and takes grazing well.

Land that's being renovated this fall can be seeded to trefoil next spring, if the sod is poor and thin. But it's usually necessary to plow for trefoil. Then seed it with a nurse crop about the same way that you'd seed alfalfa.

It can be seeded straight, without a companion crop. That way you could clip the trefoil once or twice in the seeding year to control weeds and still not injure the trefoil.

Where it's being raised with a companion crop, its' best to clip and remove the stubble right after grain harvest or remove the grain as silage. That will make a stronger fall growth of trefoil and increase chances for winter survival.

Trefoil could well prove to be a good pasture where bloat is a problem. Trial acreages are best for a starter to see what trefoil will do on your farm.

Blood and meat spots in eggs are really two completely different things, University of Minnesota poultry scientists have discovered. In the past, it was commonly thought that meat spots were simply blood spots that had darkened. Now that the difference is established, scientists have more to go on in helping farmers find ways to eliminate both conditions in eggs from their flocks.

Sheep

Sheep are the only livestock that will reach choice slaughter finish on pasture alone so give them good grazing. If sheep have been on bluegrass up to now, it'll pay you to fence off some second-growth legume-grass fields for them. Use fields that don't contain more than half legumes, though.

* * *

Eggs

In recent University of Minnesota experiments, spraying eggs with oil kept them much higher in grade after 12 days of storage. Sprayed eggs were 95 per cent grade A or better and untreated eggs were only 12 per cent grade A. The spraying can be done on the farm and is inexpensive.

Advise Students Who Study under GI Bill

Veterans planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill were urged to follow an eight-point check list to avoid unnecessary delays and to guarantee "clear sailing," W. B. Carroll, manager of the Veterans Administration office in Fargo, said today.

With some three-quarters of a million veterans expected in training this fall, VA regional offices will be operating at top speed to process their papers. Incorrect applications slow things up for everyone, VA and veteran alike, Mr. Carroll said.

Following is VA's check list:

1. Since veterans are allowed only one change of course, they should give plenty of thought to their goal and the training program leading to the goal.

2. Veterans not sure of their training goal may request VA vocational counseling.

3. Veterans should be certain their course has been GI-approved by the State in which the school is located. VA Regional Offices—not VA headquarters in Washington, D. C.—can furnish information about approved courses.

4. Veterans should complete arrangements for admittance to their school before filing applications with VA.

5. The application for GI training should be completely filled out and signed. It should be sent, along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper, to the VA Regional Office serving his area.

6. The application should go to VA as soon as possible. This will enable VA to iron out any snags before school starts.

7. Veterans with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when VA requests it. For a wife, this would be a photostat of the marriage certificate, for a child, a photostat of the birth certificate.

8. Veterans should take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long, ordinarily, for a veteran's first monthly GI check to reach him. The reason is that payments are made only after each month of training completed, and not before.

Further, before VA may make a payment, it must receive a certification signed by the veteran and his school, stating that he has been in class all month. The law allows VA 20 days after receipt of the certifications to get checks in the mail.

North Central Stewardess Wins Movie Film Role

The movie co-stars Gene Kelly and Natalie Wood, with Claire Trevor and Ed Wynn. Filming site is Schroon Lake in the Adirondacks.

A North Central Airlines stewardess for the past two years, Miss Borseth was named "Miss Spirit of St. Louis" from among 80 finalists chosen from some 1,200 stewardesses representing the world's major airlines.

Over a 25-year span the number of surface coal mines in the United States has risen from 226 to more than 1,500.

Savings and Loan Groups to Meet

Two-state Joint Meeting in Minneapolis Sept. 11

Plans for the first joint annual meeting of the Minnesota and Wisconsin savings and loan leagues have been set for Sept. 11-13 at Leamington hotel, Minneapolis, according to H. B. Borg, Duluth, and C. S. Breese, Waukesha, presidents respectively of the Minnesota and Wisconsin Leagues.

The combined meeting of the two leagues will represent over two billion dollars in savings association assets and will commemorate the sixty-first annual meeting of the Wisconsin league and the forty-third meeting for the Minnesota group, the officials said.

Highlighting the three-day session will be a major address Thursday morning, Sept. 12, by Albert J. Robertson, former Minneapolis resident and now chairman of the Federal Home Loan board in Washington, D. C.

Estimated Fire Loss $77 Million in U. S. in July

Estimated fire losses in the United States during July amounted to $77,814,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has reported.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, this $77,814,000 loss represents an increase of 13.2 percent from losses of $68,752,000 reported for July, 1956, and an increase of 11.6 per cent from losses of $80,710,000 for June, 1957.

Losses for the first seven months of 1957 now total $627,900,000, an increase of 7.1 per cent over the first seven months of 1956, when they amounted to $586,155,000.

Soo Line Earnings Rise During July

Gross income of the Soo Line rose sharply in July to $4,340,000, compared with $3,767,000 for July, 1956, G. A. MacNamara, president, announced this week. At the same time net income increased to $103,324, compared with a deficit of $49,402 for July last year. Net income for the first seven months of 1957 amounted to $1,071,000.

Rebels to invade Mid-west!

The Mid-west is due for a Texas and Oklahoma invasion from September 13 to 15 when hundreds of veterans—once proud members of the glorious 90th Division—gather in Minneapolis for the 39th National association reunion.

World War I saw most of the 90th personnel coming from Texas and Oklahoma, but in the second war, thousands joined the "Tough 'Ombres" from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa.

During those devasting 336 days the "Tough 'Ombres" spearheaded General Bradley's 1st Army when it encircled and defeated the veteran German 7th Army. As a part of General Patton's 3rd Army, they made two penetrations of the Siegfried line, helped relieve Bastogne in the "battle of the bulge", crossed the Rhine, and was the first division to enter Czechoslovakia!

General Patton considered the 90th one of his finest divisions. About their crossing of the Moselle River, he said, "It is one of the epic river crossings in history" and from there, they drove forward to capture Metz, a city never before captured in 2,000 years!

Many of the former Division, Regimental, and Battalion commanders will attend, as well as hundreds of rank and file "Tough 'Ombres" of two wars during the gala 3-day reunion at the Hotel Leamington in Minneapolis.

37-23-35 . . . Astrid Papamichael, 19, will represent New York city in Miss America beauty contest. Born in Greece, she came here at age of 6.

1957 Favorable for Oats Crop, Is 'U' of M. Opinion

This year has been a good one for oats—yield prospects are good and diseases have not been severe.

One reason for the light damage, Johnson explains, is that more farmers are raising disease resistant oat varieties. Black stem rust—one of the worst oat diseases—was prevalent in all parts of the state. But the most common strain of this disease is race 7, to which many recommended oat varieties have some resistance.

Crown rust was also present to some extent in oats around the state. But only in a few places was it found on Minhafer and Minland, which have the most resistance to that disease.

Milk Yield Per Acre

Twenty Rice county farmers this summer are checking to see how much milk they can get from each acre of pasture. In cooperation with Rice County Agent Warren Liebenstein, the Soil Conservation Service and vocational agriculture teachers, these farmers are keeping close record of pasture acreage, feed given to cows in the barn, and milk production per cow. That way, at the end of the summer, they will be able to figure just how much of the milk production can be attributed to the pastures.

Sweetclover Project

A new research project for developing sweetclover varieties that are resistant to the sweetclover weevil and aphid has been launched at the University of Minnesota's Northwest School and Experiment station. Some 70 different lines of sweetclover were seeded on experiment fields. From year to year, plant breeders and entomologists will select lines that best withstand attacks by weevils and aphids.

Contour Strips Pay Off

Arnold Steen, supervisor of the Big stone soil conservation district, has 60 acres of contour strips on his farm. During heavy June rains, Steen found that water "stood" on a sidehill. There was little erosion and fertilizer and soil stayed where it belonged, Steen said.

• • •

Terraces and Yields

High yields are easier to get on terraced fields, according to John Schwartau, farmer near Red Wing. He recently told Julius Kubler, Soil Conservation Service worker, "Ninety or more bushels of corn per acre has been the average for my farm since erosion has been checked by terraces." Saving the soil means that the field make better use of fertilizer.

Soil Saving

Highlighting Minnesota's annual soil conservation days and plowing matches near Winona, September 13-14 will be a 20 mile tour of changes made by soil conservation. Minnesota's "Silver" Soil Celebration" will show visitors how gullies have become wood hillsides and how grass has stopped the toll of rushing waters. Also scheduled as part of the celebration are the annual "Queen of the Furrows", Land Judging" and other contests.

Shoplifting Is Theme of FBI Agent Tuesday

Merchants Told How to Detect Offenders in Talk by Glewwe

Approximately 150 local merchants, employees and other interested persons were on hand Tuesday evening when a lecture on methods used by shoplifters was given by Wes Glewwe of the FBI in the auditorium.

Interest in the lecture was high and J. M. Roche, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary, and local law enforcement officials who cooperated in sponsoring the session were pleased at the good turnout.

A film on how shoplifters cost merchants huge monetary sums through stolen merchandise was shown in addition to talks by Glewwe, Roche, Police Chief Elton Cummings and County Attorney L. W. Rullen.

Glewwe advised merchants that the simplest "gimmicks" often serve as shoplifting deterrents. Such gimmicks, he said, as signs threatening prosecution, etc., ceiling mirrors and others either scare off shoplifters or aid in their detection.

Another means of curbing shoplifters is to avoid merchandising methods that provide the shoplifter a convenient alibi. Attentive clerks, especially can do much to prevent merchandise loss through shoplifting as this makes it difficult for the shoplifter to operate unseen, Glewwe said.

Rullen explained changes in the newly-enacted shoplifting law, outlining as the main feature the stated legality of apprehending the suspected shoplifter before he or she leaves store premises. The merchant or employee can now employ "reasonable" force in apprehending a shoplifter if he has "reasonable cause to believe an individual" is shoplifting.

Cummings said ~~that~~ while many merchants are unwilling to prosecute shoplifters because of possible adverse publicity, they should nevertheless report all such instances to the police or sheriff's office for reference.

By doing this, Cummings emphasized, the police are able to have a record of shopliftings and shoplifters. The seemingly petty offender, he said, could easily be an habitual offender with a long record of such thefts.

Jones Returns from Training Course on Victims of Disaster

What's it like to be a member of a rescue party entering a bombed city and to begin hunting through the debris of shattered, burning, smoke filled buildings for trapped, helpless victims? According to Quentin Jones, of the Lincoln high school faculty, who last weekend returned from the civil defense rescue school at Olney, Maryland, it is quite an experience.

"Why," said Jones, "they have constructed a bombed city right down to the smallest detail. If a person were suddenly dropped into the center of the training area unexpectedly he would never know it was a mock set-up."

The buildings of the "bombed city" and the surrounding streets were designed in every detail to simulate an actual section of any municipality that had been hit by a destructive force—man made or natural.

The buildings are characteristic of all types of construction—frame, concrete block, and steel construction, from one floor ranch type homes to five story apartment houses. All have been destroyed in such a way as to permit various types of rescue operations. Some have the walls leaning at a dangerous angle; some have the floors collapsed and others have their interiors gutted and charred by fire.

It was in this "bombed city" that Jones and 21 other men from states all over the nation received on-the-spot training in light rescue operations. For one week, from 8:30 in the morning till 5 at night, the 25 men went to school. And, said Jones, sometimes at night members of the group would get together to do some homework practicing various rescue operations or viewing movies on different rescue procedures.

During the first part of the week it was mostly theory, said Jones. Later in the week the men went into the field for actual training. The group was divided into teams of eight men each, under one instructor. Each day they had to go through different rescue operations. The instructors, said Jones, were all experts and experienced men at rescue operations.

The men were introduced to many different types of rescue operations, from getting a victim down from the roof of a five story building to cutting their way through a concrete slab to rescue a trapped victim.

The problem of getting the victim out of the building is secondary, said Jones; first they had to know where to look for victims.

Jones also received training in the use of rescue equipment.

Much of the equipment that he used for rescue work will be included on the light rescue truck this city will receive from the government in the near future. To qualify for the light rescue vehicle the city had to send one man to the rescue school.

Jones was selected for this training and was sponsored by

79 Teachers Are State Fair Guests

C. W. Pope Is Included in Group Honored Monday

Minnesota has a serious and growing teacher shortage, Gov. Freeman warned Monday night as 79 state's elementary and high school instructors were honored at the state fair.

The governor said that, instead of the 2,000 teachers now entering the profession yearly in Minnesota, the state will need 3,000 to take care of increasing enrollments.

Freeman reported that the shortage heretofore has been met by recruiting some teachers back into service. But he said even this thin backlog is now nearly exhausted.

Feted at the dinner and later introduced in front of the grandstand audience at the fair were 79 teachers, cited for their length of service to education. Included was C. W. Pope of Thief River Falls.

Top honors went to Miss Ida A. Koivisto, who has taught 49 of her 67 years. Runnersup at the fete were Miss Edna Glenn, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Nellie M. Cummings, St. Paul, each a teacher for 48 years.

Blanks for Korea Bonus Available at Legion Sept. 11

Typists Will Be on Hand to Assist Veterans in Making out Applications

Application blanks for the Korea veterans' bonus will be available starting Sept. 10 at the office of H. B. Rafteseth, Pennington county veterans service officer, in the court house here, Rafteseth stated this week.

He also announced that in cooperation with veterans' groups he has arranged for applications to be filled out in the American Legion club rooms Wednesday evening, September 11, when a staff of typists will be present to give assistance.

Rafteseth said that those qualifying for the bonus include men who have served 30 days or longer during the period from June 25, 1950, to July 27, 1953. It is necessary, he added, for applicants to supply a certified or photostat copy of their separation or discharge papers.

He cautioned against using ball point pen or a pencil in filling out the application blank, as they are not suitable for the microfilming process thru which the forms must go.

Payment of the bonus is not scheduled to be made until January, 1959.

School at Grygla to Open Tuesday

225 Elementary Pupils Expected to Register

Newly painted, waxed floors and bright varnished desks will greet 225 elementary school children Tuesday, September 3rd when the schools open in Grygla.

Mrs. C. Boyum, principal, reported that the 225 total is just a little bit under last years attendance. The small drop, she said, is due to a smaller number of children registered for the first grade. This, she added, is not unusual. The number of children beginning school varies from year to year.

Mrs. Boyum announced the appointment of three new teachers, all graduates of the Thief River Falls teachers training course. They are, Mr. Leslie Galland, Mentor, who will teach 5th and 6th grades; Miss Mary Erickson, Bagley, new 1st and 2nd grade teacher, and Mrs. Bernice Jelle, who will teach 4th and 5th grades and music.

New Washington Equipment Placed

Concert Assn. to Open Membership Campaign Sept. 11

Norman Peterson Heads Committee in Charge of Signing up Members

The Thief River Falls Community Concert association will officially launch its 1957 season with the opening of the annual membership drive on September 11th. The drive, which is under the direction of Norman Peterson, will continue until late September.

Although renewals were taken from former members last spring, during the above period season membership in the association will again be open to anyone in the area who wishes to join. The directors of the association emphasize that it is only through the season membership plan that artists of the caliber engaged for the local series can be presented here, and they urge everyone who is interested in maintaining an excellent artist series in this area to join the association during the drive. No single concert admissions will be available and the membership will be closed during the concert season.

The directors, of which Curtis Harris is chairman, met with the Allied Concert Services representative earlier this year to select talent for the coming season. Talent selections were made on several bases: to provide as much contrast and variety as possible from previous seasons, to present the type of attractions and program that is most enjoyed in this area, and to offer members an opportunity to hear artists of superb musicianship and national repute. Each artist's program will be varied to include many types of music so that each member of the audience will find something especially enjoyable.

Norman Peterson, membership chairman, will be assisted by five division captains and a staff of workers. There are three types of membership available: adult, student, and family.

Seek Advance in Date of Soil Bank Payment

Times Asks Speeding Up of Conservation Reserve Payments

In a telephone call from Washington to the Times Tuesday, Senator Edward J. Thye stated that the Department of Agriculture is giving further consideration to the possibility of advancing the annual payments on Conservation Reserve Soil Bank contracts. A recent announcement by the department said these payments would not be made until at the end of the contract period, December 31.

The Times had wired Senator Thye on Monday urging that these payments be speeded up; that the withholding of the payments until the end of the contract period would, in some instances, result in unnecessary hardship.

According to Pat Culkins, manager of the local office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, 70 percent of the contracts had already been checked and approved for payment.

In recommending a more prompt settlement, especially in the northern areas of the country, Senator Thye pointed out that the crop year would definitely end with the coming of frost and snow. In some of the southern areas where up to three crops are produced within the contract period, withholding payment until the end of the contract period probably was justified, he said.

That is not the case in Minnesota. He is asking that the final settlement on fully approved contracts be made in the latter part of October, in time to make the money available for November 1 tax settlements.

For Pennington county farmers the sum involved totals about $287,000, according to Culkins, and the total probably would be proportionately great in neighboring counties.

For taking wheat land out of production about $98,000 has already been paid to farmers in the county, and the first checks for the compliance with conservation practices requirements are being mailed this week. These checks will total $122,000 in Pennington county.

St. Hilaire Youth Wins Scholarship Given by Two T. R. Falls Banks

Larry Johnson, son of Lloyd Johnson, Route No. 1, St. Hilaire, a 1957 graduate of Lincoln high school, has been named winner of a two year, six months-each-year scholarship to the University of Minnesota school of agriculture, St. Paul, according to Elmer W. Bratsch, associate councilman for the Minnesota Bankers Association.

The scholarship, sponsored in conjunction with the bankers association, was given by the Northern State Bank and the Union State Bank of this city.

Larry Johnson will receive $100 to apply toward his expenses at the school of agriculture, $200 being allocated for each school year of two terms each.

Eligibility for the scholarship is determined on the following points: All young men must agree to make farming their vocation; candidates must show willingness to apply themselves to the fullest extent, both in gaining and in using the training provided; applicants must be high school graduates; all young men must be living or have lived on farms; preference will be given to young men who have not made definite plans to enroll in a four-year course pointed to a degree; past accomplishments and leadership ability.

A background of membership and participation in 4-H club work, Rural Youth, Future Farmers of America, farm organizations and community-betterment programs through the home, school, and church are also considered in determinating the eligibility of an applicant.

Larry has been active in 4-H work since 1947, having completed approximately thirty 4-H projects and has made five trips to the Minnesota State Fair. He also is a member of the Future Farmers of America and is active in his church.

The school of agriculture at St. Paul offers the two-year program especially for young people who do not intend to take a four-year course for a degree, but wish to get further vocational leadership training for the purpose of returning to the home community and continuing in the business of farming.

Complex Dial Phone System Explained by Bacon, TRF Manager

The electrical brain which will complete your calls when you start using the dial telephone early Sunday morning, September 8, is one of the most complex machines ever designed for general use.

A. K. Bacon, Northwestern Bell Telephone Company manager, said the equipment is actually operated entirely by telephone users whenever they dial a number. It sets up a connection between any two telephones—a total of about 4,867,000 possible combinations. It rings distant telephones and reports back to the calling party what it is doing—ringing a telephone, encountering a "busy" or "no such number."

The dial switching equipment is housed in a room with neat rows of apparatus extending from floor to ceilings. Power apparatus is in a separate room.

Heart of the equipment is the marker, of which there are four, each marker contains approximately 700 relays. All told, as many as 1,100 separate relay operations are made in completing a single call through the dial mechanism.

The power to ring the distant telephone, the dial tone, busy tone and other service signals, are all produced by a ringing machine introduced into the telephone line at the proper time by the dial mechanism.

The new dial switching equipment is engineered to handle far more calls than the present switchboards, and it can handle a full load 24 hours a day without relief. It's always ready to handle a sudden spurt of calls, such as might come during a storm, after a disaster or a local event of great interest.

"If experience gained elsewhere is any guide," Bacon said, "Thief River Falls exchange customers will make more calls than previously and we have engineered the dial equipment to handle a greater volume of calls."

Studies show that in the past, telephone users have made approximately 17,000 calls on a busy day. "We expect usage may jump as much as 10 per cent, and we have provided equipment to handle that kind of load without delay," he said.

To assist in maintaining telephone service at all times, a 50,000 watt portable generator is located here to provide power in case of emergency.

Work Started on '58 City Directory

John C. Terry, representative of R. L. Polk & Co., St. Paul directory publishers, announced here this week that the company is now engaged in preliminary work in connection with the publication of a new Thief River Falls city directory.

Terry stated that the last local compilation was made 12 years ago in 1945, and that there has been an extensive turnover in city residents in the intervening years. The new book, he added, will be available around the first of the year.

Eight or ten persons will be engaged shortly in making the tabulation, Terry said. He has his headquarters in the Pennington Hotel.

Schenkey Bid Accepted for Street Work

Middle River Man's Bid of $71,969.20 Is Lowest of Three

The city council at an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening awarded to Oscar Schenkey of Middle River the contract for an extensive street surfacing and curb and gutter project on the east side, the successful bid being in the amount of $71,969.20. Two other bids were received, ranging up to $77,348.10.

At the same time the council accepted the bid of $3,441.36 submitted by Ripley Plumbing & Heating Co., city, for installing necessary service connections.

Schenkey's bid set the completion date at July 15, 1958. City Engineer Douglas Stewart stated that in view of the lateness of the season, it is not probable, tho not impossible, that the actual surfacing work will get under way this fall, altho much of the preliminary work can be done.

Stewart said that the city's share of the cost of the project will be about $10,000, the remainder to be covered by assessments against benefited property owners. The engineer's estimate on the cost of the project had been $81,500.

County Auditor C. W. [illegible] was at the meeting to suggest that council members meet with the Pennington county board September 3 to consider the Centennial committee's proposal that a wayside park be set up at the east end of the Eighth st. bridge. The council agreed.

A letter from Ward [illegible] was read, in which he tendered his resignation as alderman from the second ward, resulting from his removal to Wahpeton, N. D. Action on the appointment of a successor was deferred.

State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman in a letter advised the council that Highway 59 is being surveyed for a new location west of the Soo Line tracks between Strandquist and Newfolden, with construction tentatively scheduled for 1958. He also stated that the routing of No. 59 between Newfolden and Thief River Falls has not yet been definitely determined. He added that there were no further developments on the proposed re-routing of Highway 1 into Thief River Falls from the west.

Mrs. Palma Heleren of the city clerk's office was designated by the council as cashier of the public utilities department, giving her the responsibility for all cash receipts of the water and light department.

Two representatives of the Burroughs Corp. were present to confer with the council on accounting equipment for the city clerk's office.

New Varieties of Rye Are Available to Local Growers

Adams and Caribou rye are now available to local seed growers, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Both varieties are on the recommended list, and both foundation and registered seed may be obtained. Both varieties are good yielders, and Caribou rye has very good winter hardiness which is important in Northwestern Minnesota.

Both varieties of rye are of medium maturity and are tall. The 1957 crop will be alloted to growers on a first come-first served basis.

Rain, Cloudy Weather Delays Harvest End

The week's weather, generally speaking, has not been conducive to harvesting; for that matter the weather hasn't been conducive to anything else because of the cloudy blanket over northwest Minnesota and parts of North Dakota.

A thumbnail aerial survey Wednesday disclosed that some area farmers are still engaged in harvesting what remains of the small grain crop, despite the gloomy weather.

A few farmers have also swathed early-maturing flax, as the survey disclosed. No accurate estimate of the small grain remaining to be combined was available today because County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk is at the Minnesota State Fair but the figure would probably be 20 per cent or less.

Very little, if any, flax has been combined to date.

Despite the heavy clouds that hung over the area this week, only .08 inch of rain has fallen, that coming as a drizzle Tuesday. Adverse drying conditions have prevailed, however, so little progress has been made in the harvest wind-up. Some plowing is in progress where the harvest is finished.

Temperatures during the week have ranged from a low of 41 Monday to a high of 63 Wednesday. Frost forecast for Tuesday didn't materialize, much to the relief of area gardeners.

The forecast, according to KTRF, is for more of the same weather we've been having. Cloudiness will slowly decrease today and temperatures will climb somewhat but skies will probably be very cloudy again tonight and Friday, with possible showers and warmer temperatures.

Highs today will be in the 60's and the lows in the 50's. Winds will be light, variable, becoming southeasterly Friday, with rising humidity.

Flying Club Piper Cruiser Now in Use

Major Overhaul of Plane Was Recently Completed

The Thief River Falls Flying club now is operating with its full complement of aircraft since the completion of major overhaul to the club's Piper Cruiser, club officers announced this week.

The Cruiser has been laid up most of the summer while new fabric covering was put on by Elwood Ehrenstrom. The engine was also overhauled and the plane, resplendent in an unusual white and light green finish, is practically new, both in looks and performance. It is now available for local and cross-country flying by club members.

All club members are urged to fly the two club planes as often as possible now that they are available. Members of the club here enjoy hourly rental rates that rank among the lowest of any flying club throughout the [illegible] the more the planes are flown the better, as regards the club's well-being.

Club Treasurer Allen Larson also reminded the members that Sept. 4 is the cut-off date for paying the special assessment levied early this summer. Those members who have not paid by Sept. 4 will be declared members not in good standing, Larson said.

Soil Tests

Fall is the time to consider taking a soil test. Your soil test is good for about two years. Why not pick up a box and sheet at the office and send a cup full of soil to the University.

You may be surprised what they find in the dab of soil. Besides your next year's crop profits may be higher if you knew what that soil was like on the west forty. It takes a certain amount of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash to give you a certain yield. How much have you got in your soil? If you want 100 bushels of oats it will take 83 pounds of nitrogen, 34 pounds of phosphate, and 70 pounds of potash. For 40 bushels of what you need 70 pounds of nitrogen, 28 pounds of phosphate and 47 pounds of potash.

If you haven't got that much in your soil then fertilization is needed. Since some fertilizers is "fixed" or tied up with minerals which the plant can't use, then we have to put more into the soil then just the difference between what we have and what we need.

If you find traces of milk stone in your milk cans, give them a good scrubbing with an acid dairy cleaner. Daily rinsing with a sanitizing agent is necessary, but that treatment alone won't remove milk stone and the bacteria in it. Remember that you are paid on the basis of quality.

• • •

Cows need good pasture in the fall for maximum production. Where the pasture starts drying up feed some hay or silage. About one half of the winter grain ration is needed to supplement pasture feeding. The heifers which will freshen this fall need to be fed grain for three months prior to calving and be in good condition. If the heifers are thin at calving they wouldn't produce what they could produce if they were in good condition. Some fall pastures are no more than gymnasiums. A good pasture program requires permanent and supplement forage and grain feeding at this time of the year. If you would like additional ideas on grain feeding on pasture, pick up Bulletin 218, "Feeding the Dairy Herd", at the Extension Office.

Ehrenstrom Gets Plane Inspector License Tuesday

Manager of Municipal Airport Passes Tests Conducted at Fargo

Elwood Ehrenstrom, manager of Thief River Falls municipal airport and operator of the local airport's aircraft and maintenance shop, took the CAA aircraft inspector examination in Fargo Tuesday and in passing the examination became a licensed aircraft inspector, he announced here today.

Prior to becoming an inspector, Ehrenstrom was not permitted to pass on aircraft periodic inspections and all local craft had to be flown to an airport which had an inspector in order to be relicensed.

All aircraft must be relicensed each 12 calendar months in a procedure which determines the airworthiness of the aircraft before the owner can legally fly it.

Because there is now an inspector at the Thief River Falls airport aircraft owners in the area will get faster service in relicensing in the future. The local airport handles a large number of transient aircraft brought here for repairs, maintenance and relicensing.

Lawn Renovation In The Fall

Late August or early September is the best time during the fall to begin a new lawn or renovate an old one. When the grass is thin or uneven or shows other signs of low fertility, a soil test might be beneficial. Contact your county agricultural agent about sending a soil sample to the Institute of Agriculture in St. Paul.

• • •

Start your lawn renovation by raking the bare spots or those containing weeds or moss. Use a steel rake. Then apply a top dressing of about two inches of black soil.

• • •

One or two pounds of soybean meal or 5-10-5 fertilizer per 100 feet will provide nutrients necessary for fall growth. Each 1,000 square feet of lawn should receive one pound of actual nitrogen. If you are using an 8-10-4 fertilizer, you should apply 12½ pounds to 1,000 square feet.

• • •

Spread the fertilizer evenly over the lawn either by hand or with the spreader. Apply it when the soil is moist, but when the blades of grass are dry. Rake the fertilizer in, and make it very smooth before seeding. Just after applying fertilizer and seed, water thoroughly to avoid burning the already established grass. Use a similar fertilizer application for starting a new lawn.

• • •

Kentucky bluegrass is a good grass for a sunny lawn and should be sowed at the rate of one to two pounds per 1,000 square feet. For a shady lawn, plant chewings or red fescue.

• • •

Be sure to keep the seeded areas moist with frequent sprinklings until the grass is thick and a good covering is visible. After this, it's best to water only about once or twice a week to encourage deep rooting of the grass. When grass is watered very shallowly the roots develop close to the surface and the grass seedlings will not withstand winter conditions or drought.

Only Few Cases of Malaria Treated at VA Hospitals

Malaria is a vanishing disease in Veterans Administration hospitals, the VA said today.

Of the hundred's of thousands of veterans who contracted malaria overseas during World War II and the Korean conflict, almost none now requires treatment by VA for the disease.

Only nine cases of malaria were treated in VA's 173 hospitals and 101 outpatients clinics during the first three months of 1957. Only two of the nine were hospitalized.

Use of the drugs primaquine and choroquine has given excellent results in treatment of malaria, VA said.

Advise Students Who Study under GI Bill

Veterans planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill were urged to follow an eight-point check list to avoid unnecessary delays and to guarantee "clear sailing," W. B. Carroll, manager of the Veterans Administration office in Fargo, said today.

With some three-quarters of a million veterans expected in training this fall, VA regional offices will be operating at top speed to process their papers. Incorrect applications slow things up for everyone, VA and veteran alike, Mr. Carroll said.

Following is VA's check list:

1. Since veterans are allowed only one change of course, they should give plenty of thought to their goal and the training program leading to the goal.

2. Veterans not sure of their training goal may request VA vocational counseling.

3. Veterans should be certain their course has been GI-approved by the State in which the school is located. VA Regional Offices—not VA headquarters in Washington, D. C.—can furnish information about approved courses.

4. Veterans should complete arrangements for admittance to their school before filing applications with VA.

5. The application for GI training should be completely filled out and signed. It should be sent, along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper, to the VA Regional Office serving his area.

6. The application should go to VA as soon as possible. This will enable VA to iron out any snags before school starts.

7. Veterans with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when VA requests it. For a wife, this would be a photostat of the marriage certificate, for a child, a photostat of the birth certificate.

8. Veterans should take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long, ordinarily, for a veteran's first monthly GI check to reach him. The reason is that payments are made only after each month of training completed, and not before.

Further, before VA may make a payment, it must receive a certification signed by the veteran and his school, stating that he has been in class all month. The law allows VA 20 days after receipt of the certifications to get checks in the mail.

North Central Stewardess Wins Movie Film Role

The 23-year-old Minneapolis beauty was awarded a part in the film as a result of her recent selection as "Miss Spirit of St. Louis—the world's ideal airline stewardess."

The movie co-stars Gene Kelly and Natalie Wood, with Claire Trevor and Ed Wynn. Filming site is Schroon Lake in the Adirondacks.

A North Central Airlines stewardess for the past two years, Miss Borseth was named "Miss Spirit of St. Louis" from among 89 finalists chosen from some 1,200 stewardesses representing the world's major airlines.

Savings and Loan Groups to Meet

Two-state Joint Meeting in Minneapolis Sept. 11

Plans for the first joint annual meeting of the Minnesota and Wisconsin savings and loan leagues have been set for Sept. 11-13 at Leamington hotel, Minneapolis, according to H. B. Borg, Duluth, and C. S. Breese, Waukesha, presidents respectively of the Minnesota and Wisconsin Leagues.

The combined meeting of the two leagues will represent over two billion dollars in savings association assets and will commemorate the sixty-first annual meeting of the Wisconsin league and the forty-third meeting for the Minnesota group, the officials said.

Highlighting the three-day session will be a major address Thursday morning, Sept. 12, by Albert J. Robertson, former Minneapolis resident and now chairman of the Federal Home Loan board in Washington, D. C.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman will open the convention with a greeting to the Wisconsin delegation, representing the 174 savings and loan associations in that state.

Estimated Fire Loss $77 Million in U. S. in July

Estimated fire losses in the United States during July amounted to $77,814,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has reported.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, this $77,814,000 loss represents an increase of 13.2 percent from losses of $68,752,000 reported for July, 1956, and an increase of 11.6 per cent from losses of $69,710,000 for June, 1957.

Losses for the first seven months of 1957 now total $627,960,000, an increase of 7.1 per cent over the first seven months of 1956, when they amounted to $586,155,000.

Soo Line Earnings Rise During July

Gross income of the Soo Line rose sharply in July to $4,340,000, compared with $3,767,000 for July, 1956, G. A. MacNamara, president, announced this week. At the same time net income increased to $103,324, compared with a deficit of $49,182 for July last year. Net income for the first seven months of 1957 amounted to $1,071,000.

Rebels to invade Mid-west!

The Mid-west is due for a Texas and Oklahoma invasion from September 13 to 15 when hundreds of veterans—once proud members of the glorious 90th Division—gather in Minneapolis for the 39th National association reunion.

World War I saw most of the 90th personnel coming from Texas and Oklahoma, but in the second war, thousands joined the "Tough 'Ombres" from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa.

The Division's record was second to none; it landed in France on D-day at Utah beach and fought 1,100 miles across Europe to Czechoslovakia.

During those devasting 336 days the "Tough 'Ombres" spearheaded General Bradley's 1st Army when it encircled and defeated the veteran German 7th Army. As a part of General Patton's 3rd Army, they made two penetrations of the Siegfried line, helped relieve Bastogne in the "battle of the bulge", crossed the Rhine, and was the first division to enter Czechoslovakia!

General Patton considered the 90th one of his finest divisions. About their crossing of the Moselle River, he said, "It is one of the epic river crossings in history" and from there, they drove forward to capture Metz, a city never before captured in 2,000 years!

The price was high, however, and the 90th left 3,871 dead and 21,000 as casualties, half from our own mid-west.

Many of the former Division, Regimental, and Battalion commanders will attend, as well as hundreds of rank and file "Tough 'Ombres" of two wars during the gala 3-day reunion at the Hotel Leamington in Minneapolis.

37-23-35 . . . Astrid Papamichael, 19, will represent New York city in Miss America beauty contest. Born in Greece, she came here at age of 8.

1957 Favorable for Oats Crop, Is 'U' of M. Opinion

This year has been a good one for oats—yield prospects are good and diseases have not been severe.

One reason for the light damage, Johnson explains, is that more farmers are raising disease resistant oat varieties. Black stem rust—one of the worst oat diseases—was prevalent in all parts of the state. But the most common strain of this disease is race 7, to which many recommended oat varieties have some resistance.

Varieties with resistance to a wide range of rust races were practically unscathed by rust, Johnson reports. These varieties include Garry, Rodney, Minhafer and Minland.

Crown rust was also present to some extent in oats around the state. But only in a few places was it found on Minhafer and Minland, which have the most resistance to that disease.

Milk Yield Per Acre

Twenty Rice county farmers this summer are checking to see how much milk they can get from each acre of pasture. In cooperation with Rice County Agent Warren Liebenstein, the Soil Conservation Service and vocational agriculture teachers, these farmers are keeping close record of pasture acreage, feed given to cows in the barn, and milk production per cow. That way, at the end of the summer, they will be able to figure just how much of the milk production can be attributed to the pastures.

Sweetclover Project

A new research project for developing sweetclover varieties that are resistant to the sweetclover weevil and aphid has been launched at the University of Minnesota's Northwest School and Experiment station. Some 70 different lines of sweetclover were seeded on experiment fields. From year to year, plant breeders and entomologists will select lines that best withstand attacks by weevils and aphids.

Contour Stripe Pay Off

Arnold Steen, supervisor of the Big stone soil conservation district, has 60 acres of contour stripe on his farm. During heavy June rains, Steen found that water "stood" on a sidehill. There was little erosion and fertilizer and soil stayed where it belonged, Steen said.

• • •

Terraces and Yields

High yields are easier to get on terraced fields, according to John Schwartau, farmer near Red Wing. He recently told Julius Kubler, Soil Conservation Service worker, "Ninety or more bushels of corn per acre has been the average for my farm since erosion has been checked by terraces." Saving the soil means that the field make better use of fertilizer.

Soil Saving

Highlighting Minnesota's annual soil conservation days and plowing matches near Winona, September 13-14 will be a 20 mile tour of changes made by soil conservation. Minnesota's "Silver Soil Celebration" will show visitors how gullies have become wood hillsides and how grass has stopped the toll of rushing waters. Also scheduled as part of the celebration are the annual "Queen of the Furrows", Land Judging" and other contests.
